Case No: [REDACTED]
Load No: [REDACTED]

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Jana A. Bachman

HEARING DECISION

This matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9; and MCL 400.37 upon claimant's request for a hearing. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held October 18, 2007.

ISSUE

Whether the Department of Human Services (department) properly determined that claimant is not disabled for purposes of Medical Assistance (MA) and State Disability Assistance (SDA).

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

(1) During April 2007, claimant was a recipient of MA and SDA. Claimant's assistance was due for medical review. Claimant submitted updated medical records for department consideration.

(2) April 27, 2007, the Medical Review Team denied claimant's medical review. Department Exhibit (department) A.

(3) April 30, 2007, the department sent claimant written notice that MA and SDA would terminate.

(4) May 23, 2007, the department received claimant's timely request for hearing. Department's negative action was deleted pending hearing.

(5) September 20, 2007, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) denied claimant's medical review. Department B.

(6) October 18, 2007, the telephone hearing was held. Prior to the close of the hearing, claimant submitted additional medical evidence. Claimant waived the right to a timely hearing decision. March 20, 2008, after review of all medical evidence, the SHRT again denied claimant's application. SHRT Decision, March 20, 2008.

(7) Claimant asserts disability based on impairments caused by migraine headaches, leg spasms, and depression.

(8) Claimant testified at hearing. Claimant is 42 years old, 5' 7" tall, and weighs 140 pounds. Claimant completed high school and was enrolled in special education classes. Claimant is able to read, write and perform basic math. Claimant cares for her needs at home. Claimant has a driver's license but does not drive.

(9) Claimant's past relevant employment has been doing factory labor, child care, and hotel food service.

(10) At last positive decision in April 2006, claimant was pending a hearing decision regarding her social security disability denial. At initial psychological assessment in March 2005, AXIS I diagnoses were rule out bipolar disorder and rule out dissociative disorder. Claimant reported visual and auditory hallucinations. She was prone to violence when angry. Claimant was reported to be hyper-verbal with excess energy. Claimant was observed to behave in a childish manner. Department A, pages 178-182. In November 2005, claimant was observed to be pleasant and cooperative. She was oriented X3. Claimant denied auditory and visual hallucinations. Claimant denied suicidal or homicidal thoughts or plans. She continued to have periods of lost time. She has increased sweating and muscle tension due to generalized anxiety. Speech is audible and goal directed, but there is some blocking. Judgment seemed appropriate and reality based. GAF was at 55-60. Department A, page 203.

(11) At review, the record does not contain a hearing decision from SSA. Treatment notes indicate that a CMH worker assisted her with reapplication for SSA benefits. Department A, page 51. The record contains a letter dated March 7, 2007 from SSA disapproving claimant's claim. Department A, page 89. In January 2007, claimant was noted to be smiling and well dressed. She complained of the light in the room and the noise of the clock. She denied paranoid thoughts, auditory or visual hallucinations, or any angry outbursts. Judgment seemed reality based, speech was soft but normal tenor, not pressured, goal directed, reality based. Insight was gaining. AXIS I diagnoses were bipolar disorder NOS, rule out bipolar disorder type II, dissociative identity disorder by history. GAF was assessed at 55-60. Department A, pages 93-95. In April 2007, claimant reported to have periods of depression and sometimes lacked self-confidence, but reported doing well most of the time and presents as same. Claimant is doing all own cooking, laundry, cleaning, and shopping. She reported no issues with money management. She is restless at night, but walks every day. Department A, pages 300-305. In May 2007, claimant reported that she was suicidal, but later that day reported feeling better. Department A, page 337. In June 2007, claimant denied depression and was sleeping well. Department A, page 307. During 2005 and 2006, claimant visited her physician a number of times for treatment of lumbago and hypertension. June 18, 2007, claimant made a return visit to her physician for treatment of headaches. Physical and neuro exam on June 19, 2007, revealed exams within normal limits. Claimant was prescribed medications for her migraine headaches. Department A, pages 284-295.

(12) When comparing the objective medical evidence at review with the objective medical evidence provided at last positive decision, it appears that medical improvement of claimant's physical condition has occurred or that claimant was not disabled. At last positive decision, claimant was pending SSI hearing decision and was in the very early stages of recovery from severe mental problems. At review, claimant reapplied and was again denied SSA disability benefits and she appears to be in sustained improvement with her mental illness. Claimant reports having migraine headaches. They are being treated with medication. Claimant's physical exams are within normal limits.

(13) Claimant's medical improvement is related to the ability to work.

(14) Claimant is capable of performing work activities.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (DHS or department) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105; MSA 16.490(15). Department policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

Pursuant to Federal Rule 42 CFR 435.540, the Department of Human Services uses the federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) policy in determining eligibility for disability under the Medical Assistance program. Under SSI, disability is defined as:

...the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months.... 20 CFR 416.905

A set order is used to determine disability. Current work activity, severity of impairments, residual functional capacity, past work, age, or education and work experience is reviewed. If there is a finding that an individual is disabled or not disabled at any point in the review, there will be no further evaluation. 20 CFR 416.920.

If an individual is working and the work is substantial gainful activity, the individual is not disabled regardless of the medical condition, education and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(c).

If the impairment or combination of impairments do not significantly limit physical or mental ability to do basic work activities, it is not a severe impairment(s) and disability does not exist. Age, education and work experience will not be considered. 20 CFR 416.920.

Statements about pain or other symptoms do not alone establish disability. There must be medical signs and laboratory findings which demonstrate a medical impairment.... 20 CFR 416.929(a).

...Medical reports should include –

- (1) Medical history.
- (2) Clinical findings (such as the results of physical or mental status examinations);
- (3) Laboratory findings (such as blood pressure, X-rays);
- (4) Diagnosis (statement of disease or injury based on its signs and symptoms).... 20 CFR 416.913(b).

In determining disability under the law, the ability to work is measured. An individual's functional capacity for doing basic work activities is evaluated. If an individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitations, he or she is not considered disabled. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv).

Basic work activities are the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs.

Examples of these include --

- (1) Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- (2) Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- (3) Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- (4) Use of judgment;

- (5) Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- (6) Dealing with changes in a routine work setting. 20 CFR 416.921(b).

Medical findings must allow a determination of (1) the nature and limiting effects of your impairment(s) for any period in question; (2) the probable duration of the impairment; and (3) the residual functional capacity to do work-related physical and mental activities. 20 CFR 416.913(d).

Medical evidence may contain medical opinions. Medical opinions are statements from physicians and psychologists or other acceptable medical sources that reflect judgments about the nature and severity of the impairment(s), including your symptoms, diagnosis and prognosis, what an individual can do despite impairment(s), and the physical or mental restrictions. 20 CFR 416.927(a)(2).

All of the evidence relevant to the claim, including medical opinions, is reviewed and findings are made. 20 CFR 416.927(c).

For mental disorders, severity is assessed in terms of the functional limitations imposed by the impairment. Functional limitations are assessed using the criteria in paragraph (B) of the listings for mental disorders (descriptions of restrictions of activities of daily living, social functioning; concentration, persistence, or pace; and ability to tolerate increased mental demands associated with competitive work)... 20 CFR, Part 404, Subpart P, App. 1, 12.00(C).

If an individual fails to cooperate by appearing for a physical or mental examination by a certain date without good cause, there will not be a finding of disability. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(4)(ii).

The Administrative Law Judge is responsible for making the determination or decision about whether the statutory definition of disability is met. The Administrative Law Judge reviews all medical findings and other evidence that support a medical source's statement of disability.... 20 CFR 416.927(e).

Medical improvement. Medical improvement is any decrease in the medical severity of your impairment(s) which was present at the time of the most recent favorable medical decision that you were disabled or continued to be disabled. A determination that there has been a decrease in medical severity must be based on changes (improvement) in the symptoms, signs and/or laboratory findings associated with your impairment(s).... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(i).

Medical improvement not related to ability to do work. Medical improvement is not related to your ability to work if there has been a decrease in the severity of the impairment(s) as defined in paragraph (b)(1)(i) of this section, present at the time of the most recent favorable medical decision, but no increase in your functional capacity to do basic work activities as defined in paragraph (b)(1)(iv) of this section. If there has been any medical improvement in your impairment(s), but it is not related to your ability to do work and none of the exceptions applies, your benefits will be continued.... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(ii).

Medical improvement that is related to ability to do work. Medical improvement is related to your ability to work if there has been a decrease in the severity, as defined in paragraph (b)(1)(i) of this section, of the impairment(s) present at the time of the most recent favorable medical decision and an increase in your functional capacity to do basic work activities as discussed in paragraph (b)(1)(iv) of this section. A determination that medical improvement related to your ability to do work has occurred does not, necessarily, mean that your disability will be found to have ended unless it is also shown that you are currently able to engage in substantial gainful activity as discussed in paragraph (b)(1)(v) of this section.... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iii).

Functional capacity to do basic work activities. Under the law, disability is defined, in part, as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment(s).... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv).

...A decrease in the severity of an impairment as measured by changes (improvement) in symptoms, signs or laboratory findings can, if great enough, result in an increase in the functional capacity to do work activities.... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv)(A).

When new evidence showing a change in signs, symptoms and laboratory findings establishes that both medical improvement has occurred and your functional capacity to perform basic work activities, or residual functional capacity, has increased, we say that medical improvement which is related to your ability to do work has occurred. A residual functional capacity assessment is also used to determine whether you can engage in substantial gainful activity and, thus, whether you continue to be disabled.... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv)(A).

...Point of comparison. For purposes of determining whether medical improvement has occurred, we will compare the current medical severity of that impairment(s) which was present at the time of the most recent favorable medical decision that you were disabled or continued to be disabled to the medical severity of that impairment(s) at that time.... 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(vii).

...If medical improvement has occurred, we will compare your current functional capacity to do basic work activities (i.e., your residual functional capacity) based on the previously existing impairments with your prior residual functional capacity in order to determine whether the medical improvement is related to your ability to do work. The most recent favorable medical decision is the latest decision involving a consideration of the medical evidence and the issue of whether you were disabled or continued to be disabled which became final. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(vi).

...Medical improvement. Medical improvement is any decrease in the medical severity of impairment(s) present at the time of the most recent favorable medical decision that you were disabled or continued to be disabled and is determined by a comparison of prior and current medical evidence which must show that there have been changes (improvement) in the symptoms, signs or laboratory findings associated with that impairment(s). 20 CFR 416.994(b)(2)(i).

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program which provides financial assistance for disabled persons is established by 2001 PA 82. The Family Independence Agency (FIA or agency) administers the SDA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MAC R 400.3151-400.3180. Agency policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

2004 PA 344, Sec. 604, establishes the State Disability Assistance program. It reads in part:

Sec. 604 (1) The department shall operate a state disability assistance program. Except as provided in subsection (3), persons eligible for this program shall include needy citizens of the United States or aliens exempted from the Supplemental Security Income citizenship requirement who are at least 18 years of age or emancipated minors meeting 1 or more of the following requirements:

- (a) A recipient of supplemental security income, social security or medical assistance due to disability or 65 years of age or older.
- (b) A person with a physical or mental impairment which meets federal SSI disability standards, except that the minimum duration of the disability shall be 90 days. Substance abuse alone is not defined as a basis for eligibility.

- (c) A resident of an adult foster care facility, a home for the aged, a county infirmary, or a substance abuse treatment center.
 - (d) A person receiving 30-day post-residential substance abuse treatment.
 - (e) A person diagnosed as having acquired immunodeficiency syndrome.
 - (f) A person receiving special education services through the local intermediate school district.
 - (g) A caretaker of a disabled person as defined in subdivision (a), (b), (e), or (f) above.
- (2) Applicants for and recipients of the state disability assistance program shall be considered needy if they:
- (a) Meet the same asset test as is applied to applicants for the family independence program.
 - (b) Have a monthly budgetable income that is less than the payment standard.
- (3) Except for a person described in subsection (1)(c) or (d), a person is not disabled for purposes of this section if his or her drug addiction or alcoholism is a contributing factor material to the determination of disability. 'Material to the determination of disability' means that, if the person stopped using drugs or alcohol, his or her remaining physical or mental limitations would not be disabling. If his or her remaining physical or mental limitations would be disabling, then the drug addiction or alcoholism is not material to the determination of disability and the person may receive state disability assistance. Such a person must actively participate in a substance abuse treatment program, and the assistance must be paid to a third party or through vendor payments. For purposes of this section, substance abuse treatment includes receipt of inpatient or outpatient services or participation in alcoholics anonymous or a similar program. 1995 PA 156, Sec. 605.

- (4) A refugee or asylee who loses his or her eligibility for the federal supplemental security income program by virtue of exceeding the maximum time limit for eligibility as delineated in Section 402 of Title IV of the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996, Public Law 104-193, 8 U.S.C. 1612, and who otherwise meets the eligibility criteria under this section shall be eligible to receive benefits under the state disability assistance program.

At step 1, claimant's impairments do not meet or equal any Social Security Listing. Finding of Fact 11-12.

At step 2, the objective medical evidence of record is sufficient to establish that claimant has medically improved at medical review. At last positive decision, claimant had severe mental illness, but was in the early stages of recovery. At medical review, claimant appeared to be in sustained improvement in her mental illness. She was denied SSA disability benefits a second time. Finding of Fact 10-12.

At step 3, claimant's medical improvement is related to her ability to perform work. Her migraine headaches are being treated with medication. Her physical and neuro exams are within normal limits. Claimant appears in sustained improvement of her mental illness. Finding of Fact 10-12. Improved mental functioning enables claimant to perform work activities. The record does not establish that claimant has severe physical impairments. Department A.

At step 4, claimant's medical improvement is related to the ability to perform work. See Step 3, above.

At step 5, does not have current severe impairments. Claimant has occasional periods of depression and suicidal ideation, but reports and presents to being fine most of the time. Migraine headaches are being treated with medication. See Step 2 and 3 above. Finding of Fact 12.

At step 6, claimant's past relevant employment has been doing child care, factory labor, and hotel food service. Finding of Fact 9. The record does not appear to establish that claimant is incapable of performing the tasks required by these jobs. See discussion at Steps 1-4 above. Finding of Fact 10-14.

The residual functional capacity is what an individual can do despite limitations. All impairments will be considered in addition to ability to meet certain demands of jobs in the national economy. Physical demands, mental demands, sensory requirements and other functions will be evaluated.... 20 CFR 416.945(a).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, we classify jobs as sedentary, light, medium and heavy. These terms have the same meaning as they have in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, published by the Department of Labor.... 20 CFR 416.967.

Sedentary work. Sedentary work involves lifting no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. 20 CFR 416.967(a).

Light work. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 pounds. Even though the weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls.... 20 CFR 416.967(b).

Medium work. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. If someone can do medium work, we determine that he or she can also do sedentary and light work. 20 CFR 416.967(c).

Heavy work. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. If someone can do heavy work, we determine that he or she can also do medium, light, and sedentary work. 20 CFR 416.967(d).

At step 7, the medical evidence of record establishes that claimant has a nonexertional impairment: mental illness. The record does not indicate claimant has severe physical limitations. Finding of Fact 10-14.

After careful examination of the record and for the reasons discussed at Steps 1 through 7 above, the Administrative Law Judge decides that claimant does not meet the federal statutory requirements for disability. Therefore, claimant does not meet the disability requirement for MA based on disability. For reasons discussed at Steps 1-7 above, claimant does not have severe impairments that prevent all work for 90 days or more. Therefore, claimant does not meet the disability requirements for SDA based on disability.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decides that claimant has not established disability for purposes of Medical Assistance and State Disability Assistance.

Accordingly, the department's action is HEREBY UPHELD.
