ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

Claimant

Reg. No: 2010-17297

Issue No: 1003

Case No: [REDACTED]

Load No: [REDACTED]

Hearing Date:

March 10, 2010

Oakland County DHS

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Jonathan W. Owens

HEARING DECISION

This matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and MCL 400.37 upon Claimant's request for a hearing. After due notice, a hearing was held on March 10, 2010. Claimant appeared and testified.

ISSUE

Did the Department of Human Services (DHS) properly deny Claimant's Family Independence Program (FIP) application for failure to cooperate with the Office of Child Support (OCS)?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as a material fact:

1. On May 15, 2009, the Claimant applied for FIP. The Department discovered the Claimant was not in cooperation with Child Support. The Department requested verification from the Claimant that she was in cooperation. The Claimant was given until May 27, 2009 to provide such verification.

2. On May 27, 2009, the Claimant failed to return the verification as requested and the Department denied the application.
3. On July 23, 2009, the Claimant requested a hearing.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Family Independence Program (FIP) was established pursuant to the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996, Public Law 104-193, 8 USC 601, et seq. The Department of Human Services (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the FIP program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MAC R 400.3101-3131. The FIP program replaced the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program effective October 1, 1996. Department policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

The Food Assistance Program (FAP) (formerly known as the Food Stamp (FS) Program) is established by the Food Stamp Act of 1977, as amended, and is implemented by the federal regulations contained in Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the FAP program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MAC R 400.3001-3015. Department policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

Applicable policy to the present case is found in PEM Item 255. Under this policy, and federal law, the agency is required to engage in paternity actions in pursuit of paternity in order to collect monies on behalf of children on assistance. The Department manuals provide the following statements and instructions for Eligibility Specialist and Family Independence

Specialists:

Families are strengthened when children's needs are met. Parents have a responsibility to meet their children's needs by providing support and/or cooperating with the Department including the Office of Child Support (OCS), the Friend of the Court and the prosecuting attorney to establish paternity and/or obtain support from an absent parent.

Clients must comply with all requests for action or information needed to establish paternity and/or obtain child support on behalf of children for whom they receive assistance, unless a claim of good cause for not cooperating has been granted or is pending.

Absent parents are required to support their children. Support includes all of the following:

- Child support.
- Medical support.
- Payment for medical care from any third party.

Failure to cooperate without good cause results in disqualification. Disqualification includes member removal, denial of program benefits, and/ or case closure, depending on the program. PEM 255, p.1

Inform the client of the right to claim good cause by giving him/her a DHS-2168, Claim of Good Cause - Child Support at application, before adding a member or when requested by the client. The DHS-2168 explains the following:

- The Department's mandate to seek child support.
- Cooperation requirements.
- The positive benefits of establishing paternity and obtaining support.
- Procedures for claiming and documenting good cause.
- Good cause reasons.

- Penalties for non cooperation.
- The right to a hearing. PEM Item 255, p.2

Cooperation is a condition of eligibility. The following persons in the eligible group are required to cooperate in establishing paternity and obtaining support, unless good cause has been granted or is pending:

- Grantee and spouse.
- Specified relative/person acting as a parent and spouse.
- Parent of the child for whom paternity and/or support action is required.

Cooperation is required in all phases of the process to establish paternity and obtain support and includes all of the following:

- Contacting the SS when requested.
- Providing all known information about the absent parent.
- Appearing at the office of the prosecuting attorney when requested.
- Taking any actions needed to establish paternity and obtain child support (e.g., testifying at hearings or obtaining blood tests). PEM Item 255, p.8

Clients with no good cause granted or pending are required to complete a DHS-1201 unless:

- The child is active FIP or MA, or
- Court ordered child support is currently being paid for the child.

In addition to using this form to refer CDC and FAP recipients to Office of Child Support (OCS), specialists wishing to assist with the communication between the client and OCS, may use the DHS-1201. When a client is non-compliant with OCS due to their failure to contact the child support specialist (SS), or to provide information to the SS, a complete DHS-1201 may provide the information needed to rectify the non-compliance.

The client can mail the DHS 1201 directly to OCS using the address on the form. To expedite the process, a complete DHS-1201 clearly marked “Non-Cooperation” may be:

Faxed to the OCS, Central Functions Unit at 517-241-7234, or High priority e-mailed to the OCS lead worker listed in L-letter, L-06-002, Support Specialist Geo-Alpha Reassignment, dated January 10, 2006.

This use of the DHS-1201 is an option when the client or specialist has difficulty contacting the support specialist. PPB 2006-004, p.3

Federal regulations require as a condition of eligibility for public assistance benefits, that a FIP and FAP recipient or applicant shall be required to cooperate in establishing support unless good cause for refusing to do so is established. 45 CFR 232.40-232.49, PEM Item 255, and Child Support Policy Item 160. Cooperation is defined as: Identify and locate the parents; establishing paternity of a child born out of wedlock for whom aid is claimed; obtaining support payments for the recipient and for the deprived child; and obtaining other payments or property due the applicant or the minor child. 45 CFR 232.12. The recipient may be required to appear at the office of the state agency, as necessary, to provide verbal or written information or documentary evidence known to be possessed by or reasonably obtainable by the recipient.

Failure to cooperate can result in a sanction against the recipient. The sanction is the removal of the person's needs from the grant while the remaining eligible group members continue to receive full benefits.

The purpose of the disqualification sanction is to encourage cooperation, not penalize. The underlying idea is to establish the support obligation and not to "punish" the client. A non-cooperation finding is not a permanent sanction. A disqualified client may indicate willingness to cooperate at any time the case is active. PEM Item 255.

In Black v Dept of Social Services, 195 Mich App 27 (1992), the court of appeals addressed the issue of burden of proof in a non-cooperation finding. Specifically, the court in Black ruled that to support a finding of non-cooperation, the agency has the burden of proof to establish that the mother (1) failed to provide the requested verification and that (2) the mother knew the requested information. The Black court also emphasized the fact that the mother testified under oath that she had no further information and the agency failed to offer any evidence that the mother knew more than she was disclosing. Black, page 32-34.

In the present case, the Claimant applied for FIP and was told she was in non-cooperation with child support. The Department requested the Claimant contact the Office of Child Support and get the non-cooperation taken care of and provide documentation that she was no longer in non-cooperation. The Claimant was given time to provide documentation. The Claimant was unable to get the non-cooperation removed. The Office of Child Support worker participated via teleconference and indicated they had found the Claimant had not fully cooperated and had failed to give the father's full name.

The Claimant testified she and her partner had sought out an individual to impregnate the Claimant. The Claimant testified she only knew his first name and where he was employed. The Claimant testified they knew this male from the local gas station where he worked. They approached him and asked if he would assist them in becoming parents. The Claimant testified the gentleman's first name was "Ali". The Claimant testified she and her partner had asked "Ali" information regarding both his personal health and his family's health conditions. The Claimant then waited until she was ovulating and met up with the Claimant for a week to have sexual relations with "Ali" in an effort to get pregnant. The Claimant's partner also in a written statement indicated they knew that "Ali" went to high school at [REDACTED] in [REDACTED] and had graduated in 2005. Further her partner indicated "Ali" was engaged and his fiancé was also expecting a baby.

The Claimant continued to deny, during the hearing, any additional knowledge regarding "Ali" and his full name or whereabouts. The Claimant testified she had given all information she had regarding her child's father. The Office of Child Support worker testified numerous attempts were made to identify the father based upon the information provided by the Claimant. The worker had contacted the gas station and checked legal documents to determine ownership of the gas station. The worker testified he was told no “Ali” had worked at this gas station and nobody named “Ali” had owned the station either.

This Administrative Law Judge finds the testimony given by the Claimant questionable at best. The Claimant went through efforts, according to her testimony, to ensure the father was disease free and his family didn’t have a predisposition to any certain medical conditions. The Claimant also met with the alleged father several times in order to get pregnant. The Claimant’s partner indicated they even knew what high school he graduated from and what year.

Considering all of the testimony and documents presented, this Administrative Law Judge finds the Claimant is failing to cooperate with the Office of Child Support in their efforts to establish paternity. This Administrative Law Judge finds the Claimant is not being truthful and does indeed know the identity of the father of her child and has failed to provide it to the Department.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decides that the Department of Human Services was acting in compliance with Department policy.

Accordingly, the Department’s decision is AFFIRMED.
