After due notice, a telephone hearing was conducted from Detroit, Michigan, on March 24, 2010. Claimant appeared and testified. ISSUE

Whether DHS properly included child support income and gross Unemployment Insurance (UI) benefits in calculating Claimant's Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on competent, material and substantial evidence in the record and on the entire record as a whole, finds as fact:

1. Claimant received child support income of $2,893.32 for the three months of August-October, 2009.
2. Claimant received $946.44 gross UI benefits in October, 2009, based on a gross weekly rate of $208 and one $50 Federal stimulus supplement.
3. Based on Claimant's total amount of income, DHS reduced Claimant's FAP benefits from $668 to $126 per month beginning December 1, 2009.
4. Claimant requested a hearing by written Notice to DHS on November 25, 2009.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Food Assistance Program (FAP), formerly known as the Food Stamp program, was established by the Food Stamp Act of 1977 and is implemented by Federal regulations found in Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). DHS administers FAP pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and Michigan Administrative Code Rules 400.3001-3015. The DHS FAP policies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and the Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

In this case DHS reduced Claimant's FAP benefits based on her income.

BEM 500 states that income is a benefit or payment received by an individual which is measured in money. Earned income is income received from another person or organization or from self-employment for duties that were performed for remuneration or profit. Unearned income is all income that is not earned. Gross income is the amount of income before any deductions such as taxes or garnishments. Gross income may be more than the actual amount an individual receives. BEM 500, p. 3.

BEM 503 states that unearned income includes child support. Child support is income to the children for whom the support is paid. Unemployment Insurance (UI) benefits paid by the Michigan Unemployment Insurance Agency are also counted as unearned income for purposes of calculating whether and how much FAP benefits a group will receive. The gross UI benefit amount, not the net amount, is to be used in the calculation of counted income for purposes of receiving benefits. BEM 503, pp. 3, 24-25.

I find that DHS properly included Claimant's child support and UI income as countable income for the purpose of calculating the amount of FAP benefits Claimant was to receive. I find that DHS calculated Claimant's countable income correctly. I find that DHS followed its policies and procedures in this process. DHS' action in this case is, therefore, AFFIRMED.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decides that DHS is AFFIRMED. The Department need take no further action.
