CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance Program is established pursuant to Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). It is administered in accordance with state statute, the Administrative Code, and the State Plan under Title XIX of the Social Security Act Medical Assistance Program.

Home Help Services (HHS) are provided to enable functionally limited individuals to live independently and receive care in the least restrictive, preferred settings. These activities must be certified by a physician and may be provided by individuals or by private or public agencies.

Adult Services Manual (ASM 363) 9-1-2008, pages 2-5 of 24 addresses the issue of assessment:

COMPREHENSIVE ASSESSMENT

The Adult Services Comprehensive Assessment (FIA-324) is the primary tool for determining need for services. The comprehensive assessment will be completed on all open cases, whether a home help payment will be made or not. ASCAP, the automated workload management system provides the format for the comprehensive assessment and all information will be entered on the computer program.

Requirements for the comprehensive assessment include, but are not limited to:

- A comprehensive assessment will be completed on all new cases.
- A face-to-face contact is required with the client in his/her place of residence.
- An interview must be conducted with the caregiver, if applicable.
- Observe a copy of the client's social security card.

- Observe a picture I.D. of the caregiver, if applicable.
- The assessment must be updated as often as necessary, but minimally at the six-month review and annual redetermination.
- A release of information must be obtained when requesting documentation from confidential sources and/or sharing information from the department record.
- Follow specialized rules of confidentiality when ILS cases have companion APS cases.

Functional Assessment

The Functional Assessment module of the ASCAP comprehensive assessment is the basis for service planning and for the HHS payment.

Conduct a functional assessment to determine the client's ability to perform the following activities:

Activities of Daily Living (ADL)

- Eating
- Toileting
- Bathing
- Grooming
- Dressing
- Transferring
- Mobility

Instrumental Activities of Daily Living (IADL)

- Taking Medication
- Meal Preparation and Cleanup
- Shopping
- Laundry
- Light Housework

Functional Scale ADL's and IADL's are assessed according to the following five-point scale:

1. Independent
Performs the activity safely with no human assistance.
2. Verbal Assistance
Performs the activity with verbal assistance such as reminding, guiding or encouraging.

3. Some Human Assistance
Performs the activity with some direct physical assistance and/or assistive technology.
4. Much Human Assistance
Performs the activity with a great deal of human assistance and/or assistive technology.
5. Dependent
Does not perform the activity even with human assistance and/or assistive technology.

Note: HHS payments may only be authorized for needs assessed at the 3 level or greater.

Time and Task

The worker will allocate time for each task assessed a rank of 3 or higher, based on interviews with the client and provider, observation of the client's abilities and use of the reasonable time schedule (RTS) as a guide. The RTS can be found in ASCAP under the Payment module, Time and Task screen.

IADL Maximum Allowable Hours

There are monthly maximum hour limits on all IADLs except medication. The limits are as follows:

- 5 hours/month for shopping
- 6 hours/month for light housework
- 7 hours/month for laundry
- 25 hours/month for meal preparation

These are maximums; as always, if the client needs fewer hours, that is what must be authorized. Hours should continue to be prorated in shared living arrangements.

Service Plan Development

Address the following factors in the development of the service plan:

- The specific services to be provided, by whom and at what cost.
- The extent to which the client does not perform activities essential to caring for self. The intent of the Home Help program is to assist individuals to function as independently as possible. It is important to work with the recipient and the provider in developing a plan to achieve this goal.

- The kinds and amounts of activities required for the client's maintenance and functioning in the living environment.
- The availability or ability of a responsible relative or legal dependent of the client to perform the tasks the client does not perform. Authorize HHS only for those services or times which the responsible relative/legal dependent is unavailable or unable to provide.
- Do not authorize HHS payments to a responsible relative or legal dependent of the client.
- The extent to which others in the home are able and available to provide the needed services. Authorize HHS only for the benefit of the client and not for others in the home. If others are living in the home, prorate the IADL's by at least 1/2, more if appropriate.
- The availability of services currently provided free of charge. A written statement by the provider that he is no longer able to furnish the service at no cost is sufficient for payment to be authorized as long as the provider is not a responsible relative of the client.
- HHS may be authorized when the client is receiving other home care services if the services are not duplicative (same service for same time period).

Adult Services Manual (ASM 363) 9-1-2008,
Pages 2-5 of 24

The Appellant had been receiving Home Help Services hours once a week for the tasks of shopping and laundry, and seven days per week for the tasks of housework and meal preparation. (Exhibit 1, page 9) On ██████████, the Adult Services Worker (worker) conducted a home visit for the Home Help Services (HHS) comprehensive assessment for redetermination in accordance with Department policy. The worker testified that the Appellant, his wife, and the chore provider were present for the home visit. (See also Exhibit 1, page 7) The worker stated that the Appellant reported he drives on a regular basis, goes shopping, can use both hands to do laundry and is able to perform activities of daily living and instrumental activities of daily living for himself and his wife. (Exhibit 1, page 7) The worker testified that she observed the Appellant walking within the apartment with no problems. The worker also testified that the chore provider was not able to state what services she provides, but did report it was mostly supervision and that she only stops by about three days per week. The worker noted that the Appellant stated he is able to do everything himself when the provider is not there. Accordingly, the worker determined that the Appellant no longer qualified for Home Help Services payments.

The Appellant's representative disagrees with the determination and testified that the Appellant is not able to perform these tasks on his own. The Appellant's representative stated that the Appellant only drives on an emergency basis and that she does the shopping. The Appellant's representative explained that the Appellant can microwave meals she has already prepared when she is not present, but that he can not do laundry as the facilities are on another floor of the apartment building. The Appellant's representative testified that she stops by every other day to assist the Appellant and his wife.

The testimony of the worker must be given greater weight when reviewing the determination made by the Department based upon the information available at the time of the assessment. The Appellant's representative testified that she could not remember the assessment with the worker and what was discussed. The worker recalled the home visit and was able to provide detailed testimony in addition to the case notes regarding the information reported by the Appellant and his representative at the home visit. The worker credibly testified that the Appellant's representative did not give the above details and information regarding how she assists the Appellant at the [REDACTED], home visit.

Based on the information available to the Department at the time of the re-determination, eligibility for continuing Home Help Services not supported. The Appellant was not receiving the daily assistance with housework and meal preparation previously authorized by the Department. (Testimony and Exhibit 1, pages 8-9) The Appellant reported to the worker that he is able to perform all the activities of daily living and instrumental activities of daily living. Accordingly, he is not be eligible for Home Help Services.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, finds the Department has properly terminated home help assistance payments for the Appellant based on the information available at the time of the re-determination.
