DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF: [REDACTED],
Claimant

Reg. No.: 2010-26668
Issue No.: 2009
Case No.: [REDACTED]
Load No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date:
April 22, 2010
Oakland County DHS (02)

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Linda Steadley Schwarb

HEARING DECISION

This matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and MCL 400.37 upon claimant's request for a hearing. After due notice, a hearing was held on April 22, 2010. Claimant appeared and testified. Claimant was represented by [REDACTED].

ISSUE

Did the Department of Human Services (DHS or department) properly determine that claimant is not "disabled" for purposes of the Medical Assistance (MA-P) program?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

- 1) On October 2, 2009, an application was filed on claimant's behalf for MA-P benefits. The application requested MA-P retroactive to September of 2009.

- 2) On December 15, 2009, the department denied claimant's application for benefits based upon the belief that claimant did not meet the requisite disability criteria.
- 3) On March 8, 2010, a hearing request was filed to protest the department's determination.
- 4) Claimant, age 53, has an eleventh-grade education.
- 5) Claimant last worked in September of 2007 as sales person (telephone work) for [REDACTED]. Claimant was laid off from her employment.
- 6) Claimant has a history of hypertension and obesity.
- 7) Claimant was hospitalized [REDACTED] for right eye pain which was diagnosed as right superior oblique tendinitis. While hospitalized, claimant was also diagnosed with a small (3.5 mm) aneurism of the basilar artery. This aneurism was thought to be unrelated to claimant's complaint of right eye pain.
- 8) Claimant was re-hospitalized [REDACTED]. She was diagnosed with binocular diplopia secondary to transient ischemic attack, trigeminal neuralgia, hypertension, and previously identified prepontine arteriovenous malformation.
- 9) On [REDACTED], claimant underwent gamma knife radiosurgery for the right cerebellopontine arteriovenous malformation.
- 10) Claimant currently suffers from trigeminal neuralgia, hypertension, small basilar artery brain aneurism, and obesity.

- 11) Claimant is capable of meeting the physical and mental demands associated with her past work as a telemarketer as well as other forms of light work on a regular and continuing basis.
- 12) Claimant has received Unemployment Compensation benefits from [REDACTED], as available, [REDACTED]. Claimant acknowledged that, in receiving Unemployment Compensation benefits, she certified that she was “able to, available for, and actively seeking full-time work.”

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (DHS or department) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

Federal regulations require that the department use the same operative definition for “disabled” as used for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) under Title XVI of the Social Security Act. 42 CFR 435.540(a).

“Disability” is:

...the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months
... 20 CFR 416.905

In general, claimant has the responsibility to prove that she is disabled. Claimant’s impairment must result from anatomical, physiological, or psychological abnormalities which can be shown by medically acceptable clinical and laboratory diagnostic techniques. A physical or mental impairment must be established by medical evidence consisting of signs, symptoms, and laboratory findings, not only claimant's statement of symptoms. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.927. Proof must be in the form of medical evidence showing that the claimant has an impairment and the nature and extent of its severity. 20 CFR 416.912. Information must be sufficient to enable a determination as to the nature and limiting effects of the impairment for the period in question, the probable duration of the impairment and the residual functional capacity to do work-related physical and mental activities. 20 CFR 416.913.

In determining whether an individual is disabled, 20 CFR 416.920 requires the trier of fact to follow a sequential evaluation process by which current work activity, the severity of the impairment(s), residual functional capacity, and vocational factors (i.e., age, education, and work experience) are assessed in that order. When a determination that an individual is or is not disabled can be made at any step in the sequential evaluation, evaluation under a subsequent step is not necessary.

First, the trier of fact must determine if the individual is working and if the work is substantial gainful activity. 20 CFR 416.920(b). In this case, at the time of the hearing, claimant was not working. Accordingly, claimant may not be disqualified for MA at this step in the sequential evaluation process.

Secondly, in order to be considered disabled for purposes of MA, a person must have a severe impairment. 20 CFR 416.920(c). A severe impairment is an impairment which significantly limits an individual's physical or mental ability to perform basic work activities. Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. Examples of these include:

- (1) Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying or handling;
- (2) Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- (3) Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- (4) Use of judgment;
- (5) Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- (6) Dealing with changes in a routine work setting. 20 CFR 416.921(b).

The purpose of the second step in the sequential evaluation process is to screen out claims lacking in medical merit. Higgs v. Bowen 880 F2d 860, 862 (6th Cir, 1988). As a result, the department may only screen out claims at this level which are “totally groundless” solely from a medical standpoint. The Higgs court used the severity requirement as a “de minimus hurdle” in the disability determination. The de minimus standard is a provision of a law that allows the court to disregard trifling matters.

In this case, claimant has presented the required medical data and evidence necessary to support a finding that she has significant physical limitations upon her ability to perform basic work activities such as lifting extremely heavy objects. Medical evidence has clearly established that claimant has an impairment (or combination of impairments) that has more than a minimal effect on claimant’s work activities. See Social Security Rulings 85-28, 88-13, and 82-63.

In the third step of the sequential consideration of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the claimant’s impairment (or combination of impairments) is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. This Administrative Law Judge finds that the claimant’s medical record will not support a finding that claimant’s impairment(s) is a “listed impairment” or equal to a listed impairment. See Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404, Part A. Accordingly, claimant cannot be found to be disabled based upon medical evidence alone. 20 CFR 416.920(d).

In the fourth step of the sequential consideration of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the claimant's impairment(s) prevents claimant from doing past relevant work. 20 CFR 416.920(e). It is the finding of this Administrative Law Judge, based upon the medical evidence and objective, physical findings, that claimant is capable of her past work as a telemarketer. Claimant has a history of hypertension and obesity. She was hospitalized in [REDACTED] for right eye pain and diagnosed with right superior oblique tendonitis. An MRI also discovered a small (3.5 mm) basilar artery aneurism which was thought to be unrelated to her eye pain. Claimant was re-hospitalized for several days in [REDACTED] for a transient ischemic attack. In [REDACTED], claimant underwent gamma knife radiosurgery to treat the right arteriovenous malformation. On [REDACTED], claimant's treating internist diagnosed claimant with trigeminal neuralgia, hypertension, brain aneurism, and obesity. The treating physician indicated that claimant was capable of occasionally lifting ten pounds as well as standing and walking at least two hours in an eight-hour work day. The physician indicated that claimant had no limitations with regard to repetitive activities with the upper and lower extremities. At the hearing, claimant acknowledged that she has been receiving Unemployment Compensation benefits, as available, since she was laid off from her job in [REDACTED]. Claimant further acknowledged that, in receiving Unemployment Compensation benefits, claimant was certifying that she was "able to, available for, and actively seeking full-time work." After careful review of the entire hearing record, the undersigned finds that claimant is capable of her past work activities as well as other forms of light work on a regular and continuing basis. Accordingly, the department's determination in this matter is hereby affirmed.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decides that the Department of Human Services properly determined that claimant is not "disabled" for purposes of the Medical Assistance program. Accordingly, the department's decision in this matter is hereby affirmed.
