CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

As a preliminary matter, as noted above, the SHRT approved the Claimant for benefits based on the December application. Accordingly, this decision addresses the period from May 2010 and August 2010, based on an August 31, 2010 application.

The Medical Assistance program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department of Human Services, formerly known as the Family Independence Agency, pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridge's Administrative Manual ("BAM"), the Bridges Elig ibility Manual ("BEM"), and the Bridges Reference Tables ("RFT").

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental im pairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expect ed to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to esta blish it through the use of competent medical evidence or her medical history, clinica l/laboratory from qualified medical sources such as his findings, diagnosis/prescri bed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related ac tivities o r ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CRF 413.913. An individual's subjective pain com plaints ar e not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disab ility. 20 CF R 416.908; 2 0 CFR 4 16.929(a). Similarly, conclusor y statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, the federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applicant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The five-step analysis requires the trier of fact to cons ider an individual's current work activit y; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to det ermine whether an individual can perform past relev ant work; and residual functional capacity along with vocational factors (i .e. age, education, and work experienc e) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disable ed, or not disabled, at particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an indi vidual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual f unctional capacity is the most an indiv idual can do d espite the limitations based on all relevant evidence. 20 CF R 945(a)(1). An individual's residua l functional capacity assessment is evaluat ed at both steps four and five. 20 CF 416.920(a)(4). In determining disability, an individual's functional capacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if f ound that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, disability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the i ndividual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 4 16.912(a). An impair ment or combi nation of impairments is not severe if it does not signific antly limit an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a ). The in dividual has the responsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

In the record presented, the Cla imant is not involved in substantial gainful act ivity. The Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impa irment(s) is considered under St ep 2. The Claimant bears the burden to pr esent sufficient objective medical evidenc et o substantiate the alleged disab ling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purpos es, the impairment must be se vere. 20 CFR 916. 920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it signific antly limits an in dividual's physical or mental ability to do basic wo rk activities regardless of age, education and work exper ience. 20 CFR 916.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 916.921(b). Examples include:

- 1. Physical functions such as walk ing, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- 2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- 3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- 4. Use of judgment;
- 5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- 6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

The second step allows for dismissal of a disability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowen, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an admin istrative convenience to screen out claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qualifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, the Cla imant alleges disability due to back and feet pain, bilater al knee pain, shortness of breath, high blood pressure, headaches, dizzines s, seizures, colloid brain cyst, and depression.

On the Claimant attended a mental status evaluation. The diagnoses were cognitive disorder (not otherwise specified) noting brain surgery, and adjustment disorder with depres sed and anxious mo od. The Global As sessment Functioning ("GAF") was 40-45 and the prognosis was guarded.

On this same date, the Claimant was exami ned by an internist. The diagnoses were hypertension, status post partial resector of a cerebral colloid cyst, reactive depression, and marked obesity.

Cognitive te sting was per formed. The Wec hsler Adult Intelligence Scales – III ("WAIS-III") was performed plac ing the Claimant in the borderline range of cognitive functioning. The Claimant reads at the equivalent of a 6 th grader with math at the 3rd grade level. The diagnoses were adjustment disorder with depressed mood and learning disorder in written expressive. The GAF was 65-75 and the prognosis was fair to guarded. The Claimant's ability to relate to others, including comoverse and supervisors, was mildly impaired as was his ability to understand, remember, and carry out tasks. The Claimant was found able to to perform simple, repetitive tasks. The Claimant's ability to maintain attention, concentration, persistence, pace and effort was mildly impaired and his ability to withstand stress and pressure associated with day-to-day work was moderately impaired.

As previously noted, the Claim ant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairment(s). As summarized above, the Claimant has presented objective medical evidence establishing that he does have physical and mental limitations on his ability to perform basic work activities. Accordingly, the Claimant has an impairment, or combination thereof, that has more than a deminimus effect on the Claimant's bas ic work activities. Further, the impairments have lasted continuously for twelve months; therefore, the Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the seque ntial an alysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or co mbination of impairm ents, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The Cla imant asserts disabling impairments due to back and feet pain, bilateral knee pain, shortness of breath, high blood pressure, headaches, dizziness, colloid brain cyst, and seizures.

Listing 1.00 (musculoskeletal system), Listing 3.00 (respiratory system), Listing 4.00 (cardiovascular system), and Listing 11.00 (neurological), and Listing 12.00 (mental disorders) were considered in light of the objective medical evidence. Ultimately, it is found that the Claimant suffers from serious medical conditions; however, the Claimant's impairments do not meet the intent and severity requirement of a listing; therefore, he cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 3. Accordingly, the Claimant's eligibility is considered under Step 4. 20 CFR 416.905(a).

The fourth step in analyzing a dis ability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual f unctional capacity ("RFC") and pas t relevant em ployment. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work.

Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). Past relevant wo rk is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to lear n the position. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(1). Vocational fact ors of age, education, and work experience, and whet her the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the natio nal economy is not consider ed. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(3). RFC is as sessed based on impairment(s), and any related symptoms, such as pain, which may cause physical and mental limitations that affect what can be done in a work setting. RFC is the most that can be done, despite the limitations.

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are c lassified as sedentary, light, medium, hea vy, and very heavy. 2 0 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are r equired occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves li fting no more than 20 pounds at a frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it invo lves sit ting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities. Id. A n individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fin dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of object is weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). A n individual capable of heavy work is also c apable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands (exertional requirements, i.e. sitting, standing, walk ing, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are consider ed nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparis on of the individual's residual functional c apacity with the demands of past relevant work. Id. If an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's a ge, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tole—rating some physical f—eature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolera te dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such—as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i) — (vi). If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-e xertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendi—x 2 do n—ot direct factual conclusions o—f disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416. 969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disability e xists is b—ased upon—the princi—ples in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules fo—r specific case situat ions in Appendix 2. Id.

The Claimant's prior work history consists of employment as a tractor/truck mechanic. In light of the Claimant's te stimony and in consideration of the Occupational Code, the Claimant's prior work is classified as semi-skilled heavy work.

The Claimant testified that he is able to walk short dist ances; lift/carry less than 10 pounds; stand and/or sit for short periods of time; and is unable to bend and/or squat. The objective medical evidence places the Claimant at a less than sedent ary activity level. If the impairment or combination of impairments does not limit physical or mental ability to do basic work activities, it is not a severe impairment(s) and disability does not exist. 20 CFR 416.920. In consideration of the Claimant's testimony, medical records, and current limitations, it is found that the Claimant is not able to return to past relevant work thus the fifth step in the sequential analysis is required.

In Step 5, an assessment of the individua I's residual functional capace ity and age, education, and work experience is consider ed to determine whet her an adjustment to other work can be m ade. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). The Clai mant is ve ars old and. thus, is considered to be of adv anced age for MA-P purposes. The Claimant has a limited education. Disability is found if an indiv idual is unable to adjust to other work. Id. At this point in the analys is, the burden shifts from the Claim ant to the Department to present proof that the Claimant has the residual capace ity to substantial gainful employment. 20 CF R 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a voca tional expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medi cal-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P. Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983 ). In order to find transferabilit y of skills to skille d sedentary work fo r individuals who are of advanced age (55 and over), there must be very little, if any. vocational adjustment required in terms of tools, work proc esses, work settings, or the industry. Individuals of advanced age found to be sign ificantly affected in their ability to adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.963(e).

In the rec ord presented, the total impact caused by the combination of medical problems suffered by the Claimant must be considered. In doing so, it is found that for the period from May 2010 through August 2010, the Claimant maintained the residual functional capacity to perform, at most, sedentary work as defined in 20 CF R 416.967(a). After review of the entire record using the Medical-Vo cational Guidelines [20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix II] as a guide, specifically Rule 201.02, it is found that the Claimant is disabled for purposes of the MA-P program at Step 5.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, finds the Claimant disabled for purposes of the MA-P benefit program.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED:

- 1. The Department's determination is REVERSED.
- 2. The Department shall initiate processing of the August 31, 2010 application to determine if all other non -medical criteria are met and inform the Claimant and his Authorized Hearing Represe ntative of the determination in accordance with Department policy.
- 3. The Department shall supplement for lo st benefits (if any) that the Claimant was entitled to receiv e if otherwise elig ible and qualified in acc ordance with Department policy.
- 4. The Department shall review the Claim ant's continued eligibility in December 2012 in accordance with Department policy.
