CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department of Human Services, formerly known as the Family Independenc e Agency, pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridge s Administrative Manual ("BAM"), the Bridges Elig ibility Manual ("BEM"), and the Bridges Reference Tables ("RFT").

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental im pairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expect ed to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to esta blish it through the use of competent medical evidence or her medical history, clinica l/laboratory from qualified medical sources such as his findings, diagnosis/prescri bed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related ac tivities o r ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CRF 413.913. An individual's subjective pain com plaints ar e not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disab ility. 20 CF R 416.908; 2 0 CFR 4 16.929(a). Similarly, conclusor y statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, t he federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/ duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applica nt takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the ext ent of his or her functi onal limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The fivestep analysis requires the trier of fact to cons ider an individual's current work activit y; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to det ermine whether an individual can perform past relev ant work; and residual functiona I capacity along with vocational factors (i .e. age, education, and work experienc e) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at а particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an indi vidual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual f unctional capacity is the most an indiv idual can do d espite the limitations based on all relevant evidence. 20 CF R 945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity assessment is evaluat ed at both steps four and five. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4). In determining disability, an i ndividual's functional capacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individ ual h as the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, disability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the i ndividual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 4 16.912(a). An impair ment or combination of impairments is n ot severe if it does not signific antly limit an i ndividual's physical or m ental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a). The in dividual has the resp onsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

In addition to the above, when evaluating m ental impairments, a special technique is utilized. 2 0 CF R 41 6.920a(a). First, an i ndividual's pertinent sym ptoms, signs, a nd laboratory findings are evaluated to determine whether a medically determinable mental impairment exists. 20 CFR 416.920a(b)(1). When a medically determinable mental impairment is established, the symptoms, signs and laboratory findings that substantiate the impairment are documented to include the individual's significant history, laboratory findings, and functional limitations. 20 CFR 416.920a(e)(2). Functional limitation(s) is assessed based upon the extent to whic h the impairment(s) interferes with an individual's ability to func tion independently, appropriately, effectively, and on а Id.; 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(2). Chronic m ental disorders, structured sustained basis. settings, medication, and other treatment and the effect on the overall degree of functionality is considered. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(1). In addi tion, four broad functional areas (activities of daily living; social f unctioning; concentration, persistence or pace; and episodes of decompensat ion) are consider ed when deter mining an indiv idual's degree of functional limitation. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(3). The degree of limitation for the first three functional areas is rated by a five point scale: none, mild, moderate, marked, and extreme. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(4). A four point scale (none, one or two, three, four or more) is used to rate the degree of lim itation in the fourth functional area. Id. The last point on each scale repr esents a degree of limitation t hat is incompatible with the ability to do any gainful activity. Id.

After the degree of functional limitation is determined, the severity of the mental impairment is determined. 20 CFR 416.920a(d). If severe, a determination of whether the impairment meets or is the equivalent of a lis ted mental disorder is made. 20 CF R 416.920a(d)(2). If the severe mental impairment does not meet (or equal) a listed impairment, an individual's residual function on al capacity is assessed. 20 CF R 416.920a(d)(3).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the i ndividual's current work activity. In the record presented, the Claimant is not involved in substantial gainful activity; therefore is not ineligible for disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impa irment(s) is considered under St ep 2. The Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disa bling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purpos es, the impairment must be severe. 20 CFR 916. 920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it signific antly limits an in dividual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 916.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 916.921(b). Examples include:

- 1. Physical functions such as walk ing, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- 2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;

- 3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- 4. Use of judgment;
- 5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- 6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.
- ld.

The second step allows for dismissal of a di sability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowe n, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an admin istrative convenience to screen o ut claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qu alifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, the Claim ant allege s disab ility due to s evere bac k pain wit h radiculopathy, disc herniations, nerve impingement, anxiety, and depression.

On the Clai mant underwent a latera I L3- 4 discectomy without complication due to left-sided radiculopathy.

On percent an MRI of the lumbar sp ine revealed focal disc protrusion centrally left paracentrally- incr eased from prior study- compressing the anterior thecal sac and encroaching on the left first sacral nerve root and exiting foraminal canal; swelling of the exiting nerve root on the left; wit h possible slight bone impingem ent; and m ild bulging annulus at L4-5.

On the Claimant attended a consultative evaluation. The diagnoses were L5-S1 disc herniation with left lower radic ulopathy, progressive in nature, with failure with conservative treatment. A revision lumbar lam inectomy with partial discectom y was recommended.

On a revision of the lumbar laminectomy at L5-S1 on the left with left partial discectomy was performed without complication.

On another revision of t he lumbar laminectomy at left L5-S1 with partial discectomy was performed without complication.

On the Claimant underwent surgical dec ompression and evacuation of an epidural abscess with incision/drainage of back wound without complication.

On the Claimant atten ded a follow-up appoint ment status post surgery. The Claimant was recovering well.

On a MRI found pos sible scar tissue (prior surgery) extending more sing the left sacral nerve root and encroaching on the left 5th foraminal canal. Osteomyelit is/discitis was to be further considered. Mild bulging at the L4-5 level without impingement was also revealed.

On the Claimant was diagnosed with spondylosis lumbosacral.

On the Claimant was diag nosed with spondylos is lumbosacral and thoracic spine pain.

On the Cla imant sought treatment for poster ior lumbar pain and left leg pain. The MRI revealed bulging L4-5 and the diagnosis was sponsylosis lumbosacral.

On the Claimant attended a follow-up appointment where she was uggestion of foraminal stenos is at L5-S1 where three prior laminectomies/discemctomies were performed. The Claimant needed decompression/fusion/stabilization at L 5-S1. The Claimant was against instrumentation.

On the Claimant attended a follow-up appointment for her back pain. The physical examination found very limited r ange of motion in flexion, ex tension, and lateral bending noting tendernes s to even light touch. The Phy sician opined that the Claimant was unable to work.

On this same date, the Claimant's treating physic ian wrote a letter stating that the Claimant was unable to work noting the following restrictions: no lifting over 5 pounds, no repetitive bending, lifting, pushing, pulling, and sit/stand to tolerance.

On Characteristics a Medical Examination Report was completed on behalf of the Claimant. The current diagnos es were recu rrent lumbar disc her niation and chronic pain status post 4 surgeries. The condition was deteriorating and she was unable to meet the needs in her home. The Claimant was restricted from lifting over 10 pounds and was unable to do any repetitive bending, lifting, or twisting.

On Construction the Claimant was released from the Mi chigan Rehabilitative Services ("MRS") because she was unable to par ticipate in any pre-employment assessments or seminars due to the severity of her disabilities.

As previously noted, the Claim ant bears t he burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to s ubstantiate the alleged disabling im pairment(s). As summarized above, the Claimant has presen ted medical evidence establis hing that she does hav e some physical limitations on her ability to per form basic work activities. The medica I evidence has establis hed that the Claimant has an im pairment, or combination thereof, that has more than a de minimus effect on the Claimant's basic work activities. Further, the impairments have lasted cont inuously for twelve months; t herefore, the Claimant is not disgualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the seque ntial an alysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or co mbination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The Claimant has alleged physic al disabling impairments due to severe bac k pain with radiculopathy, disc herniations, nerve impingement, anxiety, and depression.

Listing 1.00 (musculoskeletal system) a nd Listing 12.00 (mental disor ders) wer e considered in light of the obj ective medical evidence. Ultimately, it is found that based on the medical evidence alone, the Claimant cannot be found di sabled, or not disabled, at Step 3. Accordingly, the Claimant's eligibility is considered under Step 4. 20 CFR 416.905(a).

The fourth step in analyzing a dis ability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual f unctional capacity ("RFC") and pas t relevant employment. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to lear n the position. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(1). Vocational fact ors of age, education, and work experience, and whet her the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the natio nal economy is not consider ed. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(3). RFC is as sessed based on impairment(s), and any related symptoms, such as pain, which may cause physical and mental limitations that affect what can be done in a work setting. RFC is the most that can be done, despite the limitations.

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are classified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 2 0 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary j ob is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are r equired occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it invo lves sit ting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of thes e activities . Id. A n individual capab le of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than carrying of object s weighing up to 50 100 pounds at a tim e with frequent lifting or pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). A n individual capable of heavy work is also c apable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands (exertional requirements, i.e. sitting, standing, walk ing, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are consider ed nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparis on of the individual's residual functional c apacity with the demands of past relevant work. ld. If an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's a ge, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tole rating some physical f eature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolera te dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i) - (vi). If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-e xertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendi x 2 do not direct factual conclusions o f disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416. 969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disability e xists is b ased upon the princi ples in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situat ions in Appendix 2. Id.

The Claimant's work history includes employment in a dentist office, as a pharmaceutical technician, and in a factory In light of the Claimant's testimony and in consideration of the Occupationa I Code, the Claimant's prior work in a dentist office is classified as semi-skilled sedentary while the pharmaceutical technician is considered semi-skilled light work. The Claimant's factory work is unskilled light work.

The Claim ant testified that she can li ft/carry approx imately 5 pounds; walk short distances; stand for less than 10 minutes; sit fo r short periods of time with constant adjustment; and is able to bend and/or squat but with some di fficulty. The Claimant's treating physician restricted the Claimant to less t han sedentary activity. If the impairment or combination of impairments does not limit an indi vidual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities, it is not a severe impairment(s) and disab ility does not exist. 20 CFR 416.920. In consideration of the Claimant is unable able t o return to past relevant employment; thus Step 5 of the sequential analysis is required.

In Step 5, an assessment of the individua I's residual functional capacity and age, education, and work experience is consider ed to determine whet her an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). At the time of hearing, the Claimant years old, thus considered to be a younger individual for MA-P pur poses. The was Claimant has a high school e ducation with some college and vocational training. Disability is found if an individual is unable to adjust to other work. Id. At this point in the analysis, the burden shifts from the Claimant to the Department to present proof that the Claimant has the residual c apacity to s ubstantial gainful employment. 20 CFR 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services, 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a voc ational expert is not r equired, a finding s upported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational gualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Healt h and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocationa I guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983).

In the record presented, t he total impact caused by the combination of physical problems suffered by the Claimant must be c onsidered. Despite 4 back surgeries, the Claimant's condition is deteriorating and she is restricted to less than sedentary activity. In light of the foregoing, and gi ving weight to the primary care physician, it is found that the combination of the Claimant's physical impairments have an affect on her ability to perform basic work activities such that the Claimant is unable to meet the physical and mental demands (at this time) necessary to perform sedentary work. After review of the entire record, it is found that the Claimant is disabled for purposes of the MA-P program at Step 5.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon t he above findings of fact and conclusion s of law, finds the Claimant disabled for pu rposes of t he Medical Assistance and State Disability Assistance programs.

IT IS ORDERED:

- 1. The Department's determination is REVERSED.
- 2. The Department shall initiate proc essing of the April 29, 2011 application to determine if all other non-medica I criteria are met and inform the Claimant and her Authorized Hearing Representative of the determination in accordance with Department policy.

- 4. The Department shall review the Claimant's continued eligibility in December 2012 in accordance with Department policy.
