CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department of Human Services, formerly known as the Family Independenc e Agency, pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridge s Administrative Manual ("BAM"), the Bridges Elig ibility Manual ("BEM"), and the Bridges Reference Tables ("RFT").

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental im pairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expect ed to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claimi ng a physical or mental disability has the burden to esta blish it through the use of competent medical evidenc e from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinica l/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescri bed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related ac tivities o r ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disab ility is alleged. 20 CFR 416 .913. An individual's subjective pain com plaints ar e not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disab ility. 20 CF R 416.908; 2 0 CFR 4 16.929(a). Similarly, conclusor y statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, t he federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/ duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applica nt takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determi ne the ext ent of his or her functi onal limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The fivestep analysis requires the trier of fact to cons ider an individual's current work activit y; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to det ermine whether an individual can perform past relev ant work; and residual functional I capacity along with vocational factors (i .e. age, education, and work experienc e) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at а particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an indi vidual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual f unctional capacity is the most an indiv idual can do d espite the limitations based on all rele vant evidence. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity ass essment is ev aluated at both steps four and five. 20 CFR 41 6.920(a)(4). In determinin g disa bility, an in dividual's functional c apacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, di sability will not be found. general, the indiv idual has t he responsibility to prove 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In disability. 20 CFR 4 16.912(a). An impair ment or combination of impairments is n ot severe if it does not signific antly limit an i ndividual's physical or m ental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a). The in dividual has the resp onsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

In general, the individual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 416.912(a). An impairment or combination of impairments is not severe if it does not signific antly limit an in dividual's physica I or mental ability to do basic wor k activities . 20 CFR 416.921(a). As outlined above, the first step looks at the individual's current work activity. An indiv idual is not disabled regardless of the medical condition, age, education, and work experience, if the i ndividual is working and the work is a substantial, gainful activity. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(i). The individual has the responsibility to provide evidence of priore work experience; efforts to work; and an v other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CF R 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

In the record presented, the Cla imant is not involved in substantial gainful act ivity. The Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impa irment(s) is considered under St ep 2. The Claimant bears the burden to pr esent sufficient objective medical evidenc et o substantiate the alleged disa bling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purpos es, the impairment must be se vere. 20 CFR 416. 920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it signific antly limits an in dividual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 416.921(b). Examples include:

- 1. Physical functions such as wa lking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- 2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- 3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- 4. Use of judgment;
- 5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- 6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

The second step allows for dismissal of a di sability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowe n, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an admin istrative convenience to screen o ut claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qu alifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, the Claiman t alleges disability due to back pain with radiculopathy, neck pain, shoulder pain, chest pain, diabetes, vertigo, depression, and anxiety.

On the Claimant was admitted to the hospital with complaints of left side pain, numbress, tingling, and weakne ss, along with a headache. The Claimant was discharged on weakne with the diagnoses of left-sided chest and arm pain with headaches (likely musculosk eletal ver sus possible migraine), hyperglycemia, hypertension, and hypercholesterolemia.

On or about Construction the Claimant's primar y care physician completed a Medical Examination Report on behalf of t he Claimant. The current diagnoses wer e cervical radiculopathy of the neck and left arm. An MRI showed herniated discs at C5-6 and C6-7. The Claim ant was found able to o ccasionally lift/carry less than 10 pounds; stand and/or walk less than 2 hours in an 8- hour workday; sit about 6 hours during this same time frame, and able to perform repetit ive motions with her upper extremities with the exception of pushing/pulling which was limited to her right arm only. Mentally, the Claimant was limited in her memory and comprehension.

On Constant and the Claimant attended a consultative evaluation. The diagnosis was diabetes mellitus type II. The diabetes was fairly well contro lled and the range of motion testing was normal.

As previously noted, the Claim ant bears t he burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to s ubstantiate the alleged disabling im pairment(s). As summarized above, the Claimant has presen ted objective medical eviden ce establishing that she does have physical and mental limitations on her ability to perform basic work activities. Accordingly, the Claimant has an impair ment, or combination thereof, that has more than a de m inimus effect on the Claimant's bas ic work activities. Further, the impairments have last ed continuously for t welve months therefore, the Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the seque ntial analysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or co mbination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The Cla imant asserts disabling impairments due to back pain with radiculopathy, neck pain, sho ulder pain, chest pain, diabetes, vertigo, depression, and anxiety.

Listing 1.00 (musculoskeletal system), Listing 4.00 (cardiovascular system), and Listing 9.00 (endocrine system), Listing 11.00 ( neurological), and Listing 12.00 were considered in light of the obj ective medical evidence. Ultim ately, it is found that the Claimant's impairments do not meet the intent and severity requirement of a listing and, as such, she cannot be found dis abled, or not disabled at St ep 3. Accordingly, the Claimant's eligibility is considered under Step 4. 20 CFR 416.905(a)

The fourth step in analyzing a dis ability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual f unctional capacity ("RFC") and pas t relevant em ployment. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3) Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to lear n the position. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(1). Vocational fact ors of age, education, and work experience, and whet her the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national econom y is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3) RFC is as sessed based on impairment(s), and any related symptoms, such as pain, which may cause physical and mental limitations that affect what can be done in a work setting. RFC is the most that can be done, despite the limitations.

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are c lassified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 2 0 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary j ob is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are r equired occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it invo lves sit ting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of thes e activities . Id. A n individual capab le of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a tim e with frequent lifting or carrying of object s weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). A n individual capable of heavy work is also c apable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands (exertional requirements, i.e. sitting, standing, walk ing, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are consider ed nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparis on of the individual's residual functional c apacity with the demands of past relevant work. ld. If an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's a ge, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty to function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating so me physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. ca n't tolerate dust or fumes); or di fficulty performing the manipulative or postur al functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 4 16.969a(c)(1)(i) - (vi). If the imp airment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendix 2 do not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CF R 416.969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disability exists is bas ed upon the principles in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situat ions in Appendix 2. ld.

The Claim ant testified that she is able to walk less than one block; lift/carry about 2 pounds; stand and/or sit for short periods of time; and is unable to bend and/or squat. The objective medical evidence places that Claimant at less than sedentary activity. If the impairment or combination of impairments does not limit physical or mental ability to do basic work activities, it is not a severe impairment(s) and disability does not exist. 20 CFR 416.920. The Claimant do es not have a prior work history, thus she can not be found disabled, or not disable ed, at Step 4 and, thus, the fifth step in the sequential analysis is required.

In Step 5, an assessment of the individu al's residual functional capac ity and age , education, and work experience is consider ed to determine whet her an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v ) The Claimant is grant years old and is considered to be of advanced age for MA-P purposes. The Claimant does not have a prior work history and is unable to sp eak Englis h. The Cla imant has a 5 th grade education. Disab ility is found if an in dividual is unable to adjust to other work. Id. At this point in the analysis, the burden shifts from the Claimant to the Department to present proof that the Clai mant has the residual capacit y to substantial gainful employment. 20 CF R 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a vocati onal expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational gualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medi cal-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific j obs in the national ec onomy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983). In order to find transferabilit v of skills to skille d sedentary work fo r individuals who are of advanced age (55 and ov er), there must be very little, if any, vocational adjustment required in terms of tools, work proc esses, work settings, or the industry. Individuals of advanced age found to be sign ificantly affected in their ability to adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.963(e)

In this case, the evidence reveals that t he Claimant suffers from hypertension, high cholesterol, diab etes mellitus, C5-6/C6-7 d isc herniation, and c ervical rad iculopathy. Mentally, the Claimant's memory and comp rehension are impacted. T he objective findings place the Claimant at the equivalent of sedentary activity. In consideration of the foregoing and giving deference to the treating physician's restrictions, it is found that the Claimant retains the residual functional c apacity for work activities on a regular and continuing to meet at the physic al and me ntal demands required to perform sedentary work as defined in 20 CFR 416.967(a). After review of the entire and using the Medical-Vocational Guidelines [20 CFR 404, Subpar t P, Appendix II] as a gu ide, specifically Rule 201.01, it is found that the Claimant is disabled for purposes of the MA-P program at Step 5.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law finds the Claimant disabled for purposes of the MA-P benefit programs.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED:

- 1. The Department's determination is REVERSED.
- 2. The Department shall initia te processing of the Marc h 3, 2011 application to determine if all other non -medical criteria are met and inform the Claimant and her Authorized Hearing Represen tative of the determination in accordance with department policy.

- 3. The Department shall supplement fo r any lost benefits (if any) that the Claimant was entitled to receive if accordance with department policy.
- 4. The Department shall review the Claimant's continued eligibility in June 2013 in accordance with department policy.
