ISSUE

Did the Department of Human Services (DHS) properly deny claimant's Medical Assistance (MA) application?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On March 23, 2010, claimant applied for MA with the Michigan Department of Human Services (DHS).
2. Claimant applied for 1 month of retro MA.
3. On April 23, 2010, the MRT denied.
4. On April 28, 2010, the DHS issued notice.
5. On July 28, 2010, claimant filed a hearing request.

6. Claimant testified at the administrative hearing that she has applied for SSI with SSA on approximately four different occasions. An SOLQ verification of September 28, 2011 indicates that claimant is again at hearing level pursuant to an appeals date of March 1, 2011 on a October 6, 2010 application. Jurisdiction is proper.
7. On January 13, 2011, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) denied claimant. Pursuant to the claimant's request to hold the record open for the submission of new and additional medical documentation, on August 3, 2011 SHRT once again denied claimant.
8. As of the date of application, claimant was a 48-year-old female standing 5'6" tall and weighing 170 pounds. Claimant has a ninth grade education.
9. Claimant testified at the administrative hearing that she does not have an alcohol or drug abuse problem or history. Contrary medical evidence indicates a drug abuse problem. Claimant's representative in part requests hearing based upon an opiate dependence. Claimant smokes approximately a pack of cigarettes per day. Claimant has a nicotine addiction.
10. Claimant has a driver's license but does not drive because of psychological problems.
11. Claimant is not currently working. Claimant last worked in 2005. Claimant has an unskilled work history.
12. Claimant alleges disability on the basis of bipolar disorder, severe depression, shortness of breath, back pain.
13. The January 3, 2011 SHRT findings and conclusions of its decision are adopted and incorporated by reference to the following extent:

...8/10 lumbar spine x-ray shows mild disc narrowing of the L2 to L3. 9/10 physical exam indicates clear lungs. Heart is within normal limits. Normal range of motion and gait. No sensory or motor deficits. Exhibits 30 to 31.

11/10 mental status exam notes thoughts were organized. Had little insight and practical judgment is questionable. Denied mood swings. Denied per Medical Vocational Grid Rule 203. 28 as a guide.
14. The subsequent August 3, 2011 SHRT decision is adopted and incorporated to the following extent:

...Returned with newly submitted medical evidence and correspondence...New information: 4/10 claimant had anemia and spasm of muscles. Right shoulder pain. Mild pain with motion and positive tenderness. Remainder of exam was within normal limits. Doctor indicates claimant can occasionally lift 25 pounds. Limitations in sustained concentration and memory.

Analysis: Claimant's respiratory findings have been within normal limits. Mild disc space narrowing of the lumbar spine on x-ray. Normal range of motion in gait on exam. No significant neurological deficits noted. Claimant's mental status showed she was feeling down but otherwise unremarkable. Denied per 203.25 as a guide.

15. Claimant testified at the administrative hearing that she can prepare a sandwich. With regards to doing housework claimant responded, "I guess," and "I try." With regards to how long she could sit claimant's response was, "Not very long."
16. An August 20, 2010 radiology report regarding the lumbosacral spine concludes early mild disc space narrowing at the L2-L3. Otherwise unremarkable.
17. An November 30, 2010 psychiatric med review states in part:

Thoughts were well organized and denied any mood swings. Speech regular. No circumstantiality or tangentiality noted. No integrated delusion or paranoid thinking noted.
18. An August 11, 2010 psychiatric med review states in part that claimant is stable and will continue her medications.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (DHS or department) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Program Administrative Manual (PAM), the Program Eligibility Manual (PEM) and the Program Reference Manual (PRM).

In order to receive MA benefits based upon disability or blindness, claimant must be disabled or blind as defined in Title XVI of the Social Security Act (20 CFR 416.901). DHS, being authorized to make such disability determinations, utilizes the SSI definition of disability when making medical decisions on MA applications. MA-P (disability), also is known as Medicaid, which is a program designated to help public assistance claimants pay their medical expenses. Michigan administers the federal Medicaid program. In assessing eligibility, Michigan utilizes the federal regulations.

Relevant federal guidelines provide in pertinent part:

"Disability" is:

...the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months.... 20 CFR 416.905.

The federal regulations require that several considerations be analyzed in sequential order:

...We follow a set order to determine whether you are disabled. We review any current work activity, the severity of your impairment(s), your residual functional capacity, your past work, and your age, education and work experience. If we can find that you are disabled or not disabled at any point in the review, we do not review your claim further.... 20 CFR 416.920.

The regulations require that if disability can be ruled out at any step, analysis of the next step is not required. These steps are:

1. If you are working and the work you are doing is substantial gainful activity, we will find that you are not disabled regardless of your medical condition or your age, education, and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(b). If no, the analysis continues to Step 2.
2. Does the client have a severe impairment that has lasted or is expected to last 12 months or more or result in death? If no, the client is ineligible for MA. If yes, the analysis continues to Step 3. 20 CFR 416.909(c).
3. Does the impairment appear on a special Listing of Impairments or are the client's symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings at least equivalent in severity to the set of medical findings specified for the listed impairment that meets the duration requirement? If no, the analysis continues to Step 4. If yes, MA is approved. 20 CFR 416.920(d).

4. Can the client do the former work that he/she performed within the last 15 years? If yes, the client is ineligible for MA. If no, the analysis continues to Step 5. Sections 200.00-204.00(f)?
5. Does the client have the Residual Functional Capacity (RFC) to perform other work according to the guidelines set forth at 20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix 2, Sections 200.00-204.00? This step considers the residual functional capacity, age, education, and past work experience to see if the client can do other work. If yes, the analysis ends and the client is ineligible for MA. If no, MA is approved. 20 CFR 416.920(g).

At application claimant has the burden of proof pursuant to:

...You must provide medical evidence showing that you have an impairment(s) and how severe it is during the time you say that you are disabled. 20 CFR 416.912(c).

Federal regulations are very specific regarding the type of medical evidence required by claimant to establish statutory disability. The regulations essentially require laboratory or clinical medical reports that corroborate claimant's claims or claimant's physicians' statements regarding disability. These regulations state in part:

...Medical reports should include --

- (1) Medical history.
- (2) Clinical findings (such as the results of physical or mental status examinations);
- (3) Laboratory findings (such as sure, X-rays);
- (4) Diagnosis (statement of disease or injury based on its signs and symptoms).... 20 CFR 416.913(b).

...Statements about your pain or other symptoms will not alone establish that you are disabled; there must be medical signs and laboratory findings which show that you have a medical impairment.... 20 CFR 416.929(a).

...The medical evidence...must be complete and detailed enough to allow us to make a determination about whether you are disabled or blind. 20 CFR 416.913(d).

Medical findings consist of symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings:

- (a) Symptoms are your own description of your physical or mental impairment. Your statements alone are not enough to establish that there is a physical or mental impairment.
- (b) Signs are anatomical, physiological, or psychological abnormalities which can be observed, apart from your statements (symptoms). Signs must be shown by medically acceptable clinical diagnostic techniques. Psychiatric signs are medically demonstrable phenomena which indicate specific psychological abnormalities e.g., abnormalities of behavior, mood, thought, memory, orientation, development, or perception. They must also be shown by observable facts that can be medically described and evaluated.
- (c) Laboratory findings are anatomical, physiological, or psychological phenomena which can be shown by the use of a medically acceptable laboratory diagnostic techniques. Some of these diagnostic techniques include chemical tests, electrophysiological studies (electrocardiogram, electroencephalogram, etc.), roentgenological studies (X-rays), and psychological tests. 20 CFR 416.928.

It must allow us to determine --

- (1) The nature and limiting effects of your impairment(s) for any period in question;
- (2) The probable duration of your impairment; and
- (3) Your residual functional capacity to do work-related physical and mental activities. 20 CFR 416.913(d).

Information from other sources may also help us to understand how your impairment(s) affects your ability to work. 20 CFR 416.913(e).

...You can only be found disabled if you are unable to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death, or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. See 20 CFR 416.905. Your impairment must result from anatomical, physiological, or psychological abnormalities which are demonstrable by medically acceptable clinical and laboratory diagnostic techniques.... 20 CFR 416.927(a)(1).

It is noted that Congress removed obesity from the Listing of Impairments shortly after the removal of drug addition and alcoholism. This removal reflects the view that there is a strong behavioral component to obesity. Thus, obesity in-and-of itself is not sufficient to show statutory disability.

Applying the sequential analysis herein, claimant is not ineligible at the first step as claimant is not currently working. 20 CFR 416.920(b). The analysis continues.

The second step of the analysis looks at a two-fold assessment of duration and severity. 20 CFR 416.920(c). This second step is a de minimus standard. Ruling any ambiguities in claimant's favor, this Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) finds that claimant meets both. The analysis continues.

The third step of the analysis looks at whether an individual meets or equals one of the Listings of Impairments. 20 CFR 416.920(d). Claimant does not. The analysis continues.

The fourth step of the analysis looks at the ability of the applicant to return to past relevant work. This step examines the physical and mental demands of the work done by claimant in the past. 20 CFR 416.920(f).

In this case, this ALJ finds that claimant cannot return to past relevant work on the basis of the medical evidence. The analysis continues.

The fifth and final step of the analysis applies the biographical data of the applicant to the Medical Vocational Grids to determine the residual functional capacity of the applicant to do other work. 20 CFR 416.920(g). After a careful review of the credible and substantial evidence on the whole record, this Administrative Law Judge concurs with the most recent SHRT decision finding statutory disability is not met pursuant to Medical Vocational Grid Rule 203.25 as a guide.

In reaching this conclusion, it is noted that the law classifies claimant as a young individual.

With regards to claimant's smoking and opiate dependence, these behaviors are in part behavioral driven. It is noted that claimant's smoking and/or obesity are the "individual responsibility" types of behaviors reflected in the SIAS v Secretary of Health and Human Services, 861 F2d 475 (6th cir 1988) decision. In SIAS, the claimant was an obese, heavy smoker who argued that he could not afford support hose prescribed by his doctor for acute thrombophlebitis. The doctor also advised claimant to reduce his body weight. The court said in part:

...The claimant's style of life is not consistent with that of a person who suffers from intractable pain or who believes his condition could develop into a very quick life-threatening situation. The claimant admitted to the ALJ he was at least 40 pounds overweight; ignoring the instructions of his physician, he has not lost weight.

...The Social Security Act did not repeal the principle of individual responsibility. Each of us faces myriads of choices in life, and the choices we make, whether we like it or not, have consequences. If the claimant in this case chooses to drive himself to an early grave, that is his privilege—but if he is not truly disabled, he has no right to require those who pay Social Security taxes to help underwrite the cost of his ride. SIAS, supra, p. 481.

In SIAS, the claimant was found not truly disabled because the secretary disregarded the consequences resulting from the claimant's unhealthy habits and lifestyles—including the failure to stop smoking. AWAD v Secretary of Health and Human Services, 734 F2d 288, 289-90 (6th cir 1984).

The 6th Circuit has held that subjective complaints are inadequate to establish disability when the objective evidence fails to establish the existence of severity of the alleged pain. McCormick v Secretary of Health and Human Services, 861 F2d 998, 1003 (6th cir 1988).

As noted above, claimant has the burden of proof pursuant to 20 CFR 416.912(c). Federal and state law is quite specific with regards to the type of evidence sufficient to show statutory disability. 20 CFR 416.913. This authority requires sufficient medical evidence to substantiate and corroborate statutory disability as it is defined under federal and state law. 20 CFR 416.913(b), .913(d), and .913(e); BEM 260. These medical findings must be corroborated by medical tests, labs, and other corroborating medical evidence that substantiates disability. 20 CFR 416.927, .928. Moreover, complaints and symptoms of pain must be corroborated pursuant to 20 CFR 416.929(a), .929(c)(4), and .945(e). Claimant's medical evidence in this case, taken as a whole, simply does not rise to statutory disability by meeting these federal and state requirements. 20 CFR 416.920; BEM 260, 261.

This Administrative Law Judge wishes to note that claimant's radiology report with regards to her lumbar spine does not indicate that claimant has a severe impairment that meets statutory disability; normal aging processes are not recognized as disabling where they are identified as degenerative.

It is also noted that claimant's complaints and description of symptoms are not consistent with the great weight of the objective medical evidence pursuant to the requirements found at 20 CFR 416.913.

For these reasons, and for the reasons stated above, statutory disability is not shown.

DECISION AND ORDER
