ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

Reg. No.: 2011-52219
Issue No.: 2009
Case No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: January 5, 2012
County: Macomb (50-36)

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Robert J. Chavez

HEARING DECISION

This matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and MCL 400.37 upon claimant's request for a hearing. After due notice, an in-person hearing was held on January 5, 2012, at the Department of Human Services office in Macomb County, Michigan, District 36. Claimant was represented at hearing by [REDACTED].

ISSUE

Was the denial of claimant's application for Medical Assistance Program (MA-P) and retroactive MA-P for lack of disability correct?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. Claimant applied for MA-P on May 9, 2011.
2. Claimant is 23 years old.
3. Claimant has a 12th grade education with some college.
4. Claimant has an unskilled work history.
5. Claimant is not currently engaged in Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA).

6. In [REDACTED], claimant was hospitalized due to an exacerbation of ulcerative colitis from Crohn's disease; tests showed severe colitis.
7. Claimant required an ileostomy, and had an ileostomy bag for the next five months.
8. Claimant had lost bowel control, was necrotic, had internal bleeding, severe abdominal pain, was unable to stand for any length of time, and was on severe lifting restrictions.
9. In [REDACTED], claimant had his ileostomy closed with an ileorectal anastomosis.
10. Claimant was found at that time to have a diverticulum, which was resected.
11. Claimant continued to improve and in [REDACTED], claimant's treating source noted that claimant had no physical limitations.
12. Prior to the admission to the hospital in [REDACTED], claimant was working with no limitations.
13. Treating sources noted that claimant's injuries were repaired and post surgery progressed as expected.
14. No further medical intervention was required after the ileostomy removal.
15. Claimant testified that his stomach still bothers him occasionally and requires a special diet.
16. Claimant has had no hospitalizations or complications since his initial admission.
17. On July 11, 2011, the Medical Review Team denied MA-P, stating that claimant's impairment did not meet durational requirements.
18. On August 31, 2011, claimant filed for hearing.
19. On November 3, 2011, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) denied MA-P, stating that claimant's impairment did not meet durational requirements.
20. On January 5, 2012, a hearing was held before the Administrative Law Judge.
21. Claimant submitted additional evidence at the hearing; this was resubmitted to SHRT.
22. On February 16, 2012, SHRT again denied MA-P, stating that claimant's impairments did not meet durational requirements.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) and the Bridges Reference Manual (BRM).

Federal regulations require that the Department use the same operative definition of the term "disabled" as is used by the Social Security Administration for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) under Title XVI of the Social Security Act. 42 CFR 435.540(a).

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity (SGA) by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905.

This is determined by a five-step sequential evaluation process where current work activity, the severity and duration of the impairment(s), statutory listings of medical impairments, residual functional capacity, and vocational factors (i.e., age, education, and work experience) are considered. These factors are always considered in order according to the five-step sequential evaluation, and when a determination can be made at any step as to the claimant's disability status, no analysis of subsequent steps is necessary. 20 CFR 416.920.

The first step that must be considered is whether the claimant is still partaking in SGA. 20 CFR 416.920(b). To be considered disabled, a person must be unable to engage in SGA. A person who is earning more than a certain monthly amount (net of impairment-related work expenses) is ordinarily considered to be engaging in SGA. The amount of monthly earnings considered as SGA depends on the nature of a person's disability; the Social Security Act specifies a higher SGA amount for statutorily blind individuals and a lower SGA amount for non-blind individuals. Both SGA amounts increase with increases in the national average wage index. The monthly SGA amount for statutorily blind individuals for 2011 is $1,640. For non-blind individuals, the monthly SGA amount for 2011 is $1,000.

In the current case, claimant testified that he is not working and the Department has presented no evidence or allegations that claimant is engaging in SGA. Therefore, the undersigned holds that claimant is not performing SGA and passes step one of the five-step process.

The second step that must be considered is whether or not the claimant has a severe impairment. 20 CFR 416.920(c). A severe impairment is an impairment expected to last 12 months or more (or result in death), which significantly limits an individual's physical or mental ability to perform basic work activities. The term “basic work activities” means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. Examples of these include:

- (1) Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying or handling;
- (2) Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- (3) Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- (4) Use of judgment;
- (5) Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- (6) Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

20 CFR 416.921(b).

The purpose of the second step in the sequential evaluation process is to screen out claims lacking in medical merit. Higgs v. Bowen 880 F2d 860, 862 (6th Cir, 1988). As a result, the Department may only screen out claims at this level which are “totally groundless” solely from a medical standpoint. This is a de minimus standard in the disability determination that the court may use only to disregard trifling matters. As a rule, any impairment that can reasonably be expected to significantly impair basic activities is enough to meet this standard.

In the current case, claimant has not presented evidence of a severe impairment that has lasted or is expected to last the durational requirement of 12 months.

Claimant has alleged an impairment stemming from an exacerbation of ulcerative colitis from Crohn’s disease that prevents participation in work-related activities. Claimant also had surgery and an ileostomy bag for five months, severe bleeding, and abdominal pain. However, claimant’s medical records show that claimant had no complications from surgery and was progressing as expected. There are no records that show claimant’s injuries are expected to last one year or more. Claimant has had no admissions or treatment since the surgery to repair the ileostomy in [REDACTED]. Claimant has no devices or other attachments that are permanent and affect work-related activity. Claimant testified that he suffers occasional stomach pain and is restricted to a special diet, but there is no evidence that these conditions affect work-related activities. A treating source report in [REDACTED] noted that claimant had no physical restrictions. Claimant was a college student at the time of the illness; claimant expects to return to college next semester. While claimant still has Crohn’s disease, there is no medical evidence that the conditions resulting from his Crohn’s disease which impact work-related activities lasted, or are expected to last; claimant is currently following the regimen of prescribed treatment. Therefore, the undersigned holds that claimant's condition does not appear likely to last for the 12-month duration required by the regulations.

Claimant has not presented the required competent, material, and substantial evidence which would support a finding that he has an impairment or combination of impairments which would significantly limit the physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.920(c).

The medical record as a whole does not establish any impairment that would impact claimant's basic work activities for a period of 12 months. There are no current medical records in the case that establish that claimant continues to have a serious medical impairment. There is no objective medical evidence to substantiate claimant's claim that the impairment or impairments are severe enough to reach the criteria and definition of disabled. Accordingly, after careful review of claimant's medical records, this Administrative Law Judge finds that claimant is not disabled for the purposes of MA-P.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decides that claimant is not disabled for the purposes of MA-P. Therefore, the decision to deny claimant's MA-P application was correct.

Accordingly, the Department's decision in the above-stated matter is, hereby, AFFIRMED.
