CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department of Human Services, formerly known as the Family Independenc e Agency, pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq and MCL 400.105. Department polic ies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual ("BAM"), the Bridges Elig ibility Manual ("BEM"), and the Bridges Reference Tables ("RFT").

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental im pairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expect ed to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to esta blish it through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinica l/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescri bed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-relate activities o r ability to reason a nd make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 416.913. An individual's subjective pain com plaints ar e not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disab ility. 20 CF R 416.908; 2 0 CFR 4 16.929(a) Similarly, conclusory statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, t he federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/ duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effe ctiveness/side effects of any medication t he applic ant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the e ffect of the applic ant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The fivestep analysis requires the trier of fact to cons ider an individual's current work activit y; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to det ermine whether an individual can perform past relev ant work; and residual functiona I capacity along with vocational factors (i .e. age, education, and work experienc e) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need to evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at a particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4) If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an indi vidual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual f unctional capacity is the most an indiv idual can do d espite the limitations based on all rele vant evidence. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity ass essment is ev aluated at both steps four and five. 20 CFR 41 6.920(a)(4). In determinin g disa bility, an in dividual's functional c apacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, di sability will not be found. general, the individual has the responsibility to prove 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In disability. 20 CFR 4 16.912(a). An impair ment or combinat ion of impairments is n ot severe if it does not signific antly limit an i ndividual's physical or m ental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a ). The in dividual has the resp onsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

In addition to the above, when evaluating m ental impairments, a special technique is utilized. 20 CFR 41 6.920a(a). First, an indi vidual's pertinent symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings are evaluated to determine whether a medically determinable mental impairment exists. 20 CFR 416.920a(b)(1). When a medically determinable mental impairment is established, the symptoms, signs and laboratory findings that substantiate the impairment are documented to include the individual's s ignificant history, laboratory findings, and functional limitat ions. 20 CFR 416.920a(e)(2). Functional limitation(s) is assessed based upon the extent to whic h the impairment(s) interferes with an individual's ability to function independently, appropriately , effectively, and on a sustained basis. Id.; 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(2). Chronic m ental disorders, structured settings, medication, and other treatment and the effect on the overall degree of functionality is c onsidered. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(1). In addition, four broad functional areas (activities of daily living; social f unctioning; concentration, persistence or pace; and episodes of decompensat ion) are consider ed when deter mining an individual's degree of functional limitation. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(3). The degree of limitation for the first three functional areas is rated by a five point scale: none, mild, moderate, marked, and extreme. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(4). A four point scale (none, one or two, three, four or more) is used to rate the degree of limitation in the fourth functional area. Id. The last point on each scale repr esents a degree of limitation t hat is incompatible with the ability to do any gainful activity. Id.

After the degree of functional limitation is determined, the severity of the mental impairment is determined. 20 CFR 416.920a(d). If severe, a determination of whether the impairment meets or is the equivalent of a lis ted mental disorder is made. 20 CF R 416.920a(d)(2). If the severe mental impairment does not meet (or equal) a listed impairment, an individual's residual function on al capacity is assessed. 20 CF R 416.920a(d)(3).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the i ndividual's current work activity. In the record presented, the Claiman t is not involved in substantial gainful activity and, therefore, is not ineligible for disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impa irment(s) is considered under St ep 2. The Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence et o substantiate the alleged disa bling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purpos es, the impairment must be severe. 20 CFR 416. 920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it signific antly limits an in dividual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 416.921(b). Examples include:

- 1. Physical f unctions s uch as walking, standing, s itting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- 2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- 3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- 4. Use of judgment;

- 5. Responding appropriately to s upervision, co-workers and usua I work situations; and
- 6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.
- ld.

The second step allows for dismissal of a di sability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowe n, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an admin istrative convenience to screen o ut claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Se rvices, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qualif ies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, the Claima nt alleges disability due to back pain, h ip pain, ank le pain/swelling, asthma, headaches, and anxiety.

On A Medical Exam ination Report was completed on behalf of the Claimant. The current diagnos es were low back pain, osteoporosis, and degenerative joint disea se. The Cla imant was in sta ble condition but required ass istance wit h activities of daily living.

On Additional and a Medical Exam ination Report was completed on behalf of the Claimant. The current diagnosis was status post lef t ankle sur gery. The physical examination noted that the Claimant was to be light we ight-bearing on her ankle. The Claimant's condition was improving and she was found able to meet her needs in the home.

On the Claimant attended a consultative evaluation. The diagnoses were chronic anxiety and major depression (no recent treatment), history of GERD, and recurrent pain affecting the back , shoulders, hips, and left ankle without ev idence of severe arthritis or joint swelling.

As previously noted, the Claim ant bears t he burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to s ubstantiate the alleged disabling im pairment(s). As summarized above, the Claimant has present ed some medical evidence establishing that she does have some physical and mental limitations on her ability to perform basic work activities. Mentally, there was no evidence e of any marked restriction, as such the degree of functional limitation is mild wit hout repeat episodes of decom pensation. In light of the de minimus standard, the Claimant's eligibility at Step will continue.

In the third step of the seque ntial an alysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or co mbination of impairm ents, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The evidence confirms diagnoses of back pain, shoulder pain, hip pain, osteoporosis, degenerative joint disease, status post ankle surgery (stable), anxiety, and depression.

Listing 1.00 (musculoskeletal system) a nd Listing 12.00 (mental disor ders) wer e considered in light of the objective evi dence. There was no evidence of major dysfunction of joints; nerve root impingeme nt; ineffective ambulation; or the inab ility to perform fine and/or gross motor skills. Ment ally, there was no evidence of ongoing treatment or evidence e of any marked limita tion. Ultimately, t he objective medic al records establish physical and mental impairments; however, these records do not meet the intent and severit y requirements of a lis ting, or its equivalent. Accordingly, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 3.

Before considering the fourth step in t he sequential analys is, a determination of the individual's residual functional capacity ("RFC") is made. 20 CFR 416.945. An individual's RFC is the most he/she can still do o n a sustained bas is despite th e limitations from the impairment(s). Id. The total limiting effects of all the impairments, to include those that are not severe, are considered. 20 CFR 416.945(e).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are c lassified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 2 0 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary j ob is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are r equired occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it invo lves sit ting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities . Id. An individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fin е dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a tim e with frequent lifting or carrying of object s weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). A n individual capable of heavy work is also c apable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands (exertional requirements, i.e. sitting, standing, walk ing, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are consider ed nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparis on of the individual's residual functional c apacity with the demands of past relevant work. Id. If an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's a ge, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tole rating some physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolera te dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i) - (vi). If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-e xertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendi x 2 do n ot direct factual conclusions o f 969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416. disability e xists is b ased upon the princi ples in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situat ions in Appendix 2. ld.

In this cas e, the evidence confir ms diagno ses of bac k pain, shoulder pain, hip pain, osteoporosis, degenerative joint disease, stat us post ankle s urgery (stable), anxiety, and depression. The Claimant testified that she is able to stand and/or walk for 4 hours; grip/grasp with some difficulties after 3 hour s; sit for I ess than 2 hours; lift/carry less than 10 pounds; and is able to bend but is unable to squat. The objective medical evidence does not contain any physical and/or mental restrict ions. After review of the entire record to include the Cl aimant's testimony, it is found that the Claimant maintains the residual functional capac ity to perform at least unskilled, limited, light work as defined by 20 CFR 416.967(b). Limitations being the alternation between sitting and standing at will.

The fourth step in analyzing a dis ability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual f unctional capacity ("RFC") and pas t relevant em ployment. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to lear n the position. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(1). Vocational fact ors of age, education, and work experience, and whet her the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3).

The Claimant does not have a prior work hist ory; therefore a determination of whether the Claimant is capable of past relevant work is not possible. In light of the foregoing, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 4.

In Step 5, an assessment of the individua I's residual functional capac ity and age, education, and work experience is consider ed to determine whet her an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). At the time of hearing, the Claimant was 53 years old thus consider ed to be cl osely approaching advanced age for MA-P purposes. The Claimant has a limited education but is able to speak English. Disability is found if an individual is una ble to adjust to other work. Id. At this p oint in the analysis, the burden shifts from the Claimant to the Department to present proof that the Claimant has the residual ca pacity to substantial gainful employment. 20 CF R 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services, 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a voc ational expert is not r equired, a finding s upported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Healt h and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocationa I guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983).

In this case, the objective findings reveal that the Claimant su ffers from b ack pain, shoulder pain, hip pain, osteoporosis, degener ative joint disease, status post ankle surgery (stable), anxiety, and depression. There was li ttle ev idence to establish a severe impairment. After review of the entire record, and in consider ation of the Claimant's age, education, work experience, and RF C, finding no contradiction with the Claimant's non-exertional limitations, and using the Medi cal-Vocational Guidelines [20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix II] as a guide, specifically Rule 202.10, it is found that the Claimant is not disabled for purposes of the MA-P program at Step 5.

The State Disability Assist ance program, which pr ovides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. The Depa rtment administers the SDA program pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180. Department policie s are found in BAM, BEM, and RFT. A person is considered disabled for SDA purposes if the person has a ph ysical or menta I impairment which m eets federal SSI dis ability standards for at least ninety days. Receipt of SSI or RSDI benefit s based on disability or blindness, or the receipt of MA benefits based on disability or blindness automatically qualifies an individual as disabled for purposes of the SDA program.

In this cas e, the Claimant is found not di sabled for purposes of the MA-P program; therefore, she is found not disabled for purposes of SDA benefit program.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law finds the Claimant not disabled for purposes of the MA-P and SDA benefit programs.
