CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department of Human Services, formerly known as the Family Independenc e Agency, pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridge s Administrative Manual ("BAM"), the Bridges Elig ibility Manual ("BEM"), and the Bridges Reference Tables ("RFT").

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental im pairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to esta blish it through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescri bed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related ac tivities o r ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 416.913. An individual's subjective pain com plaints ar e not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disab ility. 20 CF R 416.908; 2 0 CFR 4 16.929(a). Similarly, conclusor y statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, t he federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/ duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applicant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the ext ent of his or her function on al limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The fivestep analysis requires the trier of fact to cons ider an individual's current work activit y; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to det ermine whether an individual can perform past relev ant work; and residual functiona I capacity along with vocational factors (i .e. age, education, and work experienc e) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at а particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an indi vidual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual f unctional capacity is the most an indiv idual can do despite the limitations based on all rele vant evidence. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity ass essment is ev aluated at both steps four and five. 20 CFR 41 6.920(a)(4). In determinin g disa bility, an in dividual's functional c apacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, di sability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the indiv idual has t he responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 4 16.912(a). An impair ment or combination of impairments is n ot severe if it does not signific antly limit an i ndividual's physical or m ental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a ). The in dividual has the resp onsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the i ndividual's current work activity. In the record presented, the Claimant is not involved in substantial gainful activity; therefore, is not ineligible for disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impa irment(s) is considered under St ep 2. The Claimant bears the burden to pr esent sufficient objective medical evidenc e t o substantiate the alleged disa bling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purpos es, the impairment must be se vere. 20 CFR 416. 920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it signific antly limits an in dividual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work exper ience. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 416.921(b). Examples include:

- 1. Physical functions such as wa lking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- 2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- 3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- 4. Use of judgment;
- 5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- 6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

The second step allows for dismissal of a di sability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowe n, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an admin istrative convenience to screen out claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qu alifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, the Claim ant alle ges disability due to ba ck pain, s hortness of breath, chest pain, unstable angina, and high blood pressure.

On presented, the Claim ant presented to the hospital with complaints of chest pain noting she had not taken her blood pressure remedications as prescribed. The Claimant was treated and discharged on the presented with the diagnoses of chest pain, nonobstructive coronary artery disease, and hypertension.

On Constitution the Claimant presented to the hospital with complaints of chest pain. The Claimant was treated and discharged with the diagnosis of non-cardiac chest pain.

On Control of the Claimant attended a follow-up appointment with complaints of chronic back pain. The impressions were hypertension, coronary artery disease, dyslipidemia and chronic back pain. The Claimant was to continue prescribed treatment.

On the Clai mant was presented to the hospital via EMS from her physician's office after no improvement from ni troglycerin both at the doctor's office and in transit. Pulmonar y embolis m was ruled out. The Claim ant was treated and discharged with the diagnosis of chest pain.

As previously noted, the Claim ant bears t he burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to s ubstantiate the alleged disabling im pairment(s). As summarized above, the Claimant has presen ted medical evidence establis hing that she does hav e some physical limitations on her ability to per form basic work activities. The medica I evidence has establis hed that the Claimant has an im pairment, or combination thereof, that has more than a de minimus effect on the Claimant's basic work activities. Further, the impairments have lasted cont inuously for twelve months; t herefore, the Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the seque ntial an alysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or co mbination of impairm ents, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The evide nce confirms diagnoses chronic back pain, chest pain, non-obstru ctive coronary artery disease, and hypertension.

Listing 1.00 (musculoskeletal impairment), Listing 3.00 (respiratory system), and Listing 4.00 (cardiovascular system) were considered in light of the objective findings. There was no evidence of major joint dysfunction or nerve root impingement; treatment for any respiratory impairment; or persistent, recurrent, and/or uncontrolled (while on prescribed treatment) cardiovascular impairment. In consideration of the evidence presented, the Claimant's impairments do not meet or equal the intent and severity requirement of a listed impairment. Accordingly, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 3; therefore, the Claimant's eligib ility is considered under Step 4 . 20 CFR 416.905(a).

Before considering the fourth step in t individual's residual functional capacity ("RFC") is made. 20 CFR 416.945. An individual's RFC is the most he/she can still do o n a sustained bas is despite th e limitations from the impairment(s). Id. The total limiting effects of all the impairments, to include those that are not severe, are considered. 20 CFR 416.945(e).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are c lassified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 2 0 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary j ob is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are r equired occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it invo lves sit ting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of thes e activities . Id. A n individual capab le of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fin е dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent li fting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a tim e with frequent lifting or carrying of object s weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). A n individual capable of heavy work is also c apable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than requirements, i.e. sitting, strength demands (exertional standing, walk ing, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are consider ed nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparis on of the individual's residual functional c apacity with the demands of past relevant work. Id. If an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's a ge, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty to function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating so me physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. ca n't tolerate dust or fumes); or di fficulty performing the manipulative or postur al functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 4 16.969a(c)(1)(i) - (vi). If the imp airment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional rules in Appendix 2 do aspects of work-related activities, the not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CF R 416.969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disability exists is bas ed upon the pr inciples in the appr opriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situat ions in Appendix 2. Id.

In this case, the evidence confirms diagno ses of chronic back pain, non- obstructive coronary artery disease, hypertension, and ches t pain. The Claim ant testified that she is able to walk short distances; grip/grasp without some difficulties; sit for less than 2 hours; lift/carry approx imately 10 pounds with the right upper ex tremity only; stand for one hour; and is able to bend and squat. The objective medical evidence does not contain any restrictions. After review of the entire record and considering the Claimant's testimony, it is found, at this point, that the Claimant maintains t he residual functional capacity to perform at least unskilled, limit ed, sedentary work as defined by 20 CFR 416.967(a). Limitations being the alternation between sitting and standing at will.

The fourth step in analyzing a dis ability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual f unctional capacity ("RFC") and pas t relevant employment. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to lear n the position. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(1). Vocational fact ors of age, education, and work experience, and whet her the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3).

The Claimant's prior employment was as a housekeeper, in commercial cleaning, as a barista/cashier, and as a professional dancer. In consideration of the Claimant's testimony and Occupational Code, the prior employment in housekeeping and commercial cleaning is considered unskilled light work, while her employment as a barista/cashier and professional dancer is classified as semi-skilled light work. As noted above, the objective evidence does not contain any physical restrictions that would preclude employment. In light of the entire record and the Claimant's RFC (see above), it is found that the Claimant is unable to perform past relevant work. Accordingly, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 4.

In Step 5, an asses sment of the Claimant's residual functional capacity and age, education, and work experience is consider ed to determine whet her an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). At the time of hearing, the Claimant vears old and, thus, considered to be a younger individual for MA-P purposes. was The Claim ant is a high schoo I graduate with some vocational training. Disability is found if an individual is unable to adjust to other work. Id. At this point in the analysis, the burden shifts from the Claimant to the Department to present proof that the Claimant has the residual capacity to substantia I gainful employment. 20 CFR 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services , 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a vocational expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vo cational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed t o meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Heal th and Hum an Services, 587 F 2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocational guide lines found at 20 CF R Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of provi ng that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983). The age for younger in dividuals (under 50) gener ally will not seriously affect the ability to adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.963(c).

In this case, the objective findings reveal that the Claimant suffers with low back pain, hypertension, and non-obstructive coronary artery disease. The Claimant testified that she was able to perform activity comparable e to less than sedentary activity. The evidence does not support this position. In Ii ght of the foregoing, it is found that the Claimant maintains the residual functional capacity for work activities on a regular and continuing basis to m eet the physical and mental demands re quired to perform at least sedentary work as defined in 20 CFR 416.967(a). After review of the entire record and in consideration of the Claimant's age, education, work experience, RFC, and using the Medical-Vocational G uidelines [ 20 CFR 4 04, Subpart P, Appendix II] as a guide, specifically Rules 201.27, 201.28, and 201.29, t he Claimant is found not disabled at Step 5.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law finds the Claimant not disabled for purposes of the MA-P benefit program.
