ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

Reg. No: 20125651
Issue No: 2009; 4031
Case No: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: January 10, 2012
St. Clair County DHS

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Corey A. Arendt

HEARING DECISION

This matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and MCL 400.37 upon Claimant's request for a hearing. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on December 7, 2011. Claimant and the Department appeared by telephone and provided testimony.

ISSUE

Whether the Department of Human Services (Department) properly denied Claimant's application for Medical Assistance (MA-P), Retro-Medicaid and State Disability Assistance (SDA)?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. Claimant is a 44 year-old woman whose birthday is [REDACTED]. Claimant is 5'3" tall and weighs 156 lbs. In 1984, the Claimant graduated from Port Huron High School. From 1990-1991 the Claimant attended St. Clair Community College where the Claimant obtained an Associates Degree in Legal Administration. From 1999 through approximately August 2005, the Claimant worked at [REDACTED] as a general office worker. The Claimant last worked in 2006 as a sales clerk at [REDACTED]. At some point in time between 1997 and 2011, the Claimant worked as a Solicitor. (Department Exhibit B, p. 77).
2. On April 15, 2011, the Claimant underwent a mental health assessment by a non-physician ([REDACTED]). During the assessment, the Claimant indicated a past diagnosis of major depression which was stabilized by psychotropic medication (Xanax). [REDACTED] found the Claimant to be unremarkable in her appearance, behavior, affect/mood, and perception. (Department Exhibit A, pp. 66-69).

3. On June 15, 2011, Claimant filed an application for MA, Retro-MA and SDA benefits alleging disability. Claimant alleges she is disabled due to bipolar disorder, anxiety, fibromyalgia, osteoporosis, arthritis, degenerative disc disease, and blood clots. (Department Exhibit B, pp. 73, 75).
4. On June 28, 2011, the Claimant participated in a psychiatric evaluation. [REDACTED] conducted the psychiatric evaluation. [REDACTED] found the Claimant's thought process to be well organized and goal-directed. [REDACTED] did not find any evidence of hallucinations or delusional thinking. Dr. Saeed concluded the Claimant's depression is very closely related to her financial issues and her pending application for Social Security Disability. During the evaluation, the Claimant reported prior marijuana use. (Department Exhibit A, pp. 70-72).
5. On July 2, 2011, the Claimant was admitted to [REDACTED] with complaints of pain and swelling in her left leg. An evaluation of the Claimant's left leg showed significant deep vein thrombosis. (Department Exhibit A, pp. 5, 6).
6. On July 2, 2011, a venous duplex scan was taken of the Claimant's lower left leg. The scan revealed extensive thrombus from the proximal calf vein through the external iliac vein. (Department Exhibit A, p. 7).
7. On July 2, 2011, a computed tomography (CT) scan was taken of the Claimant's chest. The scan was positive for pulmonary emboli. (Department Exhibit A, p. 8).
8. On July 5, 2011, [REDACTED] discharged the Claimant with a diagnosis of DVT of the left leg and acute pulmonary embolism. At the time of discharge the Claimant was in stable condition with a guarded prognosis. (Department Exhibit A, p. 9).
9. On July 12, 2011, [REDACTED] completed a Medical Examination Report on behalf of the Claimant. [REDACTED] noted in the report, the Claimant had decreased range of motion in her lumbar and cervical spine with decreased sensation and affect in her legs. (Department Exhibit A, pp. 3, 4).
10. On September 20, 2011, 2011, the Medical Review Team (MRT) denied Claimant's application for SDA stating Claimant's physical impairment will not prevent employment for 90 days or more. MRT denied Claimant's MA application stating Claimant is capable of performing past relevant work. (Department Exhibit B, pp. 47, 48).

11. On September 23, 2011, the Department sent Claimant notice that her disability application was denied. (Department Exhibit C, pp. 1-5).
12. On October 10, 2011, the Claimant filed a request for a hearing to contest the Department's denial of her disability application. (Department Exhibit C, pp. 6, 7).
13. On December 6, 2011, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) denied Claimant's application stating Claimant's impairments do not meet/equal the intent or severity of a Social Security Listing and the Claimant retains the residual functional capacity to perform a wide range of light, unskilled work. (Department Exhibit A, pp. 1, 2).
14. On February 13, 2012, the SHRT denied Claimant's application after reviewing new additional medical information submitted by the Claimant. SHRT found the Claimant's impairments did not meet/equal the intent or severity of a Social Security Listing and further found the Claimant to retain the residual functional capacity to perform a wide range of light unskilled work. (Department Exhibit D, pp. 1, 2).
15. Claimant has applied for Social Security disability and has been denied. At the time of the hearing, the Claimant was in the appeal process.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (DHS or department) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) and the Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

Pursuant to Federal Rule 42 CFR 435.540, the Department of Human Services uses the federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) policy in determining eligibility for disability under the Medical Assistance program. Under SSI, disability is defined as:

...the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905

A set order is used to determine disability, that being a five-step sequential evaluation process for determining whether an individual is disabled. (20 CFR 404.1520(a) and 416.920(a)). The steps are followed in order. Current work activity, severity of impairments, residual functional capacity, past work, age, or education and work experience is reviewed. If it is determined that the Claimant is or is not disabled at a step of the evaluation process, the evaluation will not go on to the next step.

At step one, the Administrative Law Judge must determine whether the Claimant is engaging in substantial gainful activity. (20 CFR 404.1520(b) and 416.920(b)). Substantial gainful activity (SGA) is defined as work activity that is both substantial and gainful. "Substantial work activity" is work activity that involves doing significant physical or mental activities. (20 CFR 404.1572(a) and 416.972(a)). "Gainful work activity" is work that is usually done for pay or profit, whether or not a profit is realized. (20 CFR 404.1572(b) and 416.972(b)). Generally, if an individual has earnings from employment or self-employment above a specific level set out in the regulations, it is presumed that he/she has demonstrated the ability to engage in SGA. (20 CFR 404.1574, 404.1575, 416.974, and 416.975). If an individual engages in SGA, he/she is not disabled regardless of how severe his/her physical or mental impairments are and regardless of his/her age, education, and work experience. If the individual is not engaging in SGA, the analysis proceeds to the second step.

At step two, the Administrative Law Judge must determine whether the claimant has a medically determinable impairment that is "severe" or a combination of impairments that is "severe" and that said impairment(s) have met the duration requirement (20 CFR 404.1520(c) and 416.920(a)(2)(ii) and (c)). An impairment or combination of impairments is "severe" within the meaning of the regulations if it significantly limits an individual's ability to perform basic work activities. An impairment or combination of impairments is "not severe" when medical and other evidence establish only a slight abnormality or a combination of slight abnormalities that would have no more than a minimal effect on an individual's ability to work (20 CFR 404.1521 and 416.921; Social Security Rulings (SSRs) 85-28, 96-3p, and 96-4p). In order for an impairment(s) to meet the duration requirement, the impairment(s) must have lasted or be expected to last for at least 12 months, unless the impairment(s) is expected to result in death (20 CFR 416.909). If the claimant does not have a severe medically determinable impairment or combination of impairments that have met the duration requirement, he/she is not disabled. If the claimant has a severe impairment or combination of impairments that have met the duration requirement, the analysis proceeds to the third step.

Statements about pain or other symptoms do not alone establish disability. There must be medical signs and laboratory findings which demonstrate a medical impairment. 20 CFR 416.929(a).

Medical reports should include –

- (1) Medical history.

- (2) Clinical findings (such as the results of physical or mental status examinations);
- (3) Laboratory findings (such as blood pressure, X-rays);
- (4) Diagnosis (statement of disease or injury based on its signs and symptoms). 20 CFR 416.913(b).

In determining disability under the law, the ability to work is measured. An individual's functional capacity for doing basic work activities is evaluated. If an individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitations, he or she is not considered disabled. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv).

Basic work activities are the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. Examples of these include –

- (1) Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- (2) Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- (3) Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- (4) Use of judgment;
- (5) Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
- (6) Dealing with changes in a routine work setting. 20 CFR 416.921(b).

Medical findings must allow a determination of (1) the nature and limiting effects of your impairment(s) for any period in question; (2) the probable duration of the impairment; and (3) the residual functional capacity to do work-related physical and mental activities. 20 CFR 416.913(d).

Medical evidence may contain medical opinions. Medical opinions are statements from physicians and psychologists or other acceptable medical sources that reflect judgments about the nature and severity of the impairment(s), including your symptoms, diagnosis and prognosis, what an individual can do despite impairment(s), and the physical or mental restrictions. 20 CFR 416.927(a)(2).

All of the evidence relevant to the claim, including medical opinions, is reviewed and findings are made. 20 CFR 416.927(c). A statement by a medical source finding that an individual is "disabled" or "unable to work" does not mean that disability exists for the purposes of the program. 20 CFR 416.927(e).

At step three, the Administrative Law Judge must determine whether the Claimant's impairment or combination of impairments meets or medically equals the criteria of an impairment listed in 20 CFR Part 404, Subpart P, Appendix 1. (20 CFR 404.1520(d), 404.1525, 404.1526, 416.920(d), 416.925, and 416.926). If the Claimant's impairment or combination of impairments meets or medically equals the criteria of a listing and meets the duration requirement, (20 CFR 404.1509 and 416.909), the Claimant is disabled. If it does not, the analysis proceeds to the next step.

Before considering step four of the sequential evaluation process, the Administrative Law Judge must first determine the Claimant's residual functional capacity. (20 CFR 404.1520(e) and 416.920(e)). An individual's residual functional capacity is his/her ability to do physical and mental work activities on a sustained basis despite limitations from his/her impairments. In making this finding, all of the Claimant's impairments, including impairments that are not severe, must be considered. (20 CFR 404.1520(e), 404.1545, 416.920(e), and 416.945; SSR 96-8p).

Next, the Administrative Law Judge must determine at step four whether the Claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform the requirements of his/her past relevant work. (20 CFR 404.1520(f) and 416.920(f)). The term past relevant work means work performed (either as the Claimant actually performed it or as it is generally performed in the national economy) within the last 15 years or 15 years prior to the date that disability must be established. In addition, the work must have lasted long enough for the Claimant to learn to do the job and have been SGA. (20 CFR 404.1560(b), 404.1565, 416.960(b), and 416.965). If the Claimant has the residual functional capacity to do his/her past relevant work, the Claimant is not disabled. If the Claimant is unable to do any past relevant work or does not have any past relevant work, the analysis proceeds to the fifth and last step.

At the last step of the sequential evaluation process (20 CFR 404.1520(g) and 416.920(g)), the Administrative Law Judge must determine whether the Claimant is able to do any other work considering his/her residual functional capacity, age, education, and work experience. If the Claimant is able to do other work, he/she is not disabled. If the Claimant is not able to do other work and meets the duration requirements, he/she is disabled.

The Administrative Law Judge is responsible for making the determination or decision about whether the statutory definition of disability is met. The Administrative Law Judge reviews all medical findings and other evidence that support a medical source's statement of disability. 20 CFR 416.927(e).

At Step 1, I find the Claimant is not engaged in substantial gainful activity. Therefore, Claimant is not disqualified from receiving disability at Step 1.

At Step 2, I find the medical records and the Claimant's testimony at the hearing establish the existence of depression and DVT. Furthermore, I find the Claimant's impairments are "severe" within the meaning of the Regulations, because they do significantly limit the Claimant's ability to perform basic work activities.

At Step 3, I find the Claimant's medical record will not support a finding that Claimant's impairment(s) is a "listed impairment" or equal to a listed impairment. Accordingly, Claimant cannot be found to be disabled based upon medical evidence alone. 20 CFR 416.920(d).

At Step 4, I find the objective medical evidence of record establishes the Claimant is capable of performing the duties required from her past relevant employment (Solicitor and general office worker). Accordingly, Claimant is not disqualified from receiving disability at Step 4.

Although I have found the Claimant disqualified from receiving disability at Step 3 and 4, I will continue to proceed through the sequential evaluation process to determine whether or not Claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform other jobs.

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, we classify jobs as sedentary, light, medium and heavy. These terms have the same meaning as they have in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, published by the Department of Labor. 20 CFR 416.967.

Sedentary work. Sedentary work involves lifting no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. 20 CFR 416.967(a).

Light work. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 pounds. Even though the weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. 20 CFR 416.967(b).

Medium work. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. If someone can do medium work, we determine that he or she can also do sedentary and light work. 20 CFR 416.967(c).

Heavy work. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. If someone can do heavy work, we determine that he or she can also do medium, light, and sedentary work. 20 CFR 416.967(d).

At Step 5, I find the Claimant has failed to present the required competent, material and substantial evidence which would support a finding that Claimant has an impairment or combination of impairments which would significantly limit the physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.920(c). Although Claimant has cited medical problems, the clinical documentation submitted by Claimant is not sufficient to establish a finding that Claimant is disabled. Based on the medical evidence of record, the Claimant is capable of performing a wide range of unskilled, light work. In addition, the Claimant has described daily activities which are not limited to the extent one would expect, given the complaints of disabling symptoms and limitations. There is no objective medical evidence to substantiate Claimant's claim that the alleged impairment(s) are severe enough to reach the criteria and definition of disabled. Furthermore, given the Claimant's age, education, and residual functional capacity, the medical –vocational guidelines would direct a finding of not disabled. Accordingly, Claimant is not disabled for the purposes of the Medical Assistance disability (MA-P) program.

The Department's Bridges Eligibility Manual contains the following policy statements and instructions for caseworkers regarding the State Disability Assistance program: to receive State Disability Assistance, a person must be disabled, caring for a disabled person or age 65 or older. BEM, Item 261, p. 1. Because Claimant does not meet the definition of disabled under the MA-P program and because the evidence of record does not establish that Claimant is unable to work for a period exceeding 90 days, the Claimant does not meet the disability criteria for State Disability Assistance benefits either.

The medical source opinion was not supported by the objective medical evidence. And furthermore, many of the conditions listed by the Claimant were not corroborated by medical documentation. In addition, I found the Claimant to be less than credible as the Claimant failed to identify all of her prior work history from the prior 15 years as well as her prior drug use. During the hearing, the Claimant failed to mention the fact she had prior work experience as a solicitor. On July 14, 2011, the Claimant identified to the Department, past work experience as a "solicitor". And on September 20, 2011, MRT found the Claimant capable of past prior work based on the Claimant's prior declaration of solicitor experience.

The Department has established by the necessary competent, material and substantial evidence on the record that it was acting in compliance with department policy when it determined that Claimant was not eligible to receive Medical Assistance and/or State Disability Assistance.

DECISION AND ORDER

I find, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decide the Department has appropriately established on the record that it was acting in compliance with Department policy when it denied Claimant's application for Medical Assistance and State Disability Assistance.

Accordingly, the department's decision is AFFIRMED.

It is SO ORDERED.
