CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department of Human Services, formerly known as the Family Independence Agency, pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq and MCL 400.105. Department polic ies are found in the Bridge's Administrative Manual ("BAM"), the Bridges Elig ibility Manual ("BEM"), and the Bridges Reference Tables ("RFT").

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental im pairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expect ed to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish it through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescri bed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-relate activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CRF 413.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CF R 416.908; 2 0 CFR 4 16.929(a) Similarly, conclusory statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, the federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applicant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The five-step analysis requires the trier of fact to cons ider an individual's current work activit y; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to det ermine whether an individual can perform past relev ant work; and residual functional capacity along with vocational factors (i .e. age, education, and work experienc e) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need to evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disable ed, or not disabled, at a particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4) If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an indi vidual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual f unctional capacity is the most an indiv idual can do d espite the limitations based on all relevant evidence. 20 CF R 945(a)(1). An individual's residua I functional capacity assessment is evaluat ed at both steps four and five. 20 CF 416.920(a)(4). In determining disability, an individual's functional capacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individ ual h as the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, disability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the indi vidual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 4 16.912(a). An impair ment or combinat ion of impairments is not severe if it does not signific antly limit an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a). The in dividual has the responsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the i ndividual's current work activity. In the record presented, the Claiman t is not involved in substantial gainful activity and, therefore, is not ineligible for disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impa irment(s) is considered under St ep 2. The Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purposes, the impairment must be seevere. 20 CFR 916. 920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it significantly limits an in dividual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 916.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 916.921(b). Examples include:

- 1. Physical f unctions s uch as walking, standing, s itting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
- 2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
- 3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
- 4. Use of judgment;
- 5. Responding appropriately to s upervision, co-workers and usua I work situations; and
- 6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

ld.

The second step allows for dismissal of a disability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowen, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an admin istrative convenience to screen out claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qualifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, the Claimant alleges disability due to leg pain, hand pain, shortness of breath, high blood pressure, congestive hearing failure, and abdominal pain.

On shortness of breath. The Claim ant presented to the hospi shortness of breath. The Cl aimant was discharged on sepsis, community-acquired pneumonia, pl eural ef fusion, acute kidney injury, and decompensated diastolic heart failure.

On _____, the Claimant a ttended a f ollow-up appointment where the Claimant was instructed to refrain from working for at least one month.

In February 2012, a Medical Examination Report was completed on behalf of the Claimant. The current diagnoses were pleural effusion and anemia. A history of breast cancer, congestive heart failure, and pneumoni a was noted. The Claimant's condition was deteriorating.

On the Claimant attended a follow-up appointment. The Claimant's shortness of breath was improved but not gone. The overall impression was improved.

On ______, a Medical Examinatio n Report was completed on behalf of the Claimant. The c urrent diagno ses were congestive heart fa ilure, pleur al effusion, pneumonia, anemia, and mitral valve leak age. The Claimant was in stable condition and found unable to lift/carry any weight; stand and/or walk less than 2 hours during an 8 hour work day; and able to perform simple grasping. The Claimant was found unable to work.

On the Claimant attended a consultative evaluation. The physical examination was unremarkable. A chest x-ray revealed increased densities of the bilateral lower lungs likely due to superimposed breast tissue along with minimal right-side effusion. The impressions were congestive heart failure, dyspnea with exertion, hypertension, and history of left femur fracture and left wrist fracture. The Clamant was found able to perform job duties.

As previously noted, the Claim ant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairment(s). As summarized above, the Claimant has present ed some medical evidence establishing that she does have some physical limitations on her ability to perform basic work activities. The medical evidence has established that the Claimant has an impairment, or combination thereof, that has more than a de minimus effect on the Claimant's basic work activities. Further, although the Claimant's impairment(s) have not lasted for a continuous period of 12 months or longer, it is reasonable to conclude that the impairments are expected to last for a continuous period of 12 months or longer. 20 CFR 416.909. Accordingly, the Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the seque ntial an alysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or co mbination of impairm ents, is listed in Appendix 1 of Sub part P of 20 CF R, Part 404. The evidenc e confirms treatment/diagnoses of seps is, pneumonia, pleural effusi on, acute k idney injury, decompensated diastolic heart failure, mitral valve leakage, hypertension, anemia, and a history of left femur fracture, breast cancer, and left wrist fracture.

Listing 1.00 (musculoskeletal system), Listing 3.00 (respiratory system), Listing 4.00 (cardiovascular system), Listing 5.00 (diges tive disorders), 7.00 (hematological), and Listing 13 (malignant neoplastic diseases) were considered in light of the objective evidence. There was no evidence of a severe musculoskeleta I impairment that results in the Claimant's inability to ambulate e ffectively or perform finne and gross motor functions. The Claimant's shortness of breath was related to the Claimant's congestive and severity requirement of a respiratory heart failure, thus does not meet the intent impairment. The evidence reveals that the Claimant was hospitalized in January wit h sepsis, pneumonia, pleural effusion, and congestive heart failure. By April, the Claimant was in stable condition. There was no evidence of systolic or diastolic failure; persistent symptoms of heart failure; thr ee or more episodes of SH F within a consecutive 12 month period; or evidence t hat shows the inability to perform on an exercis e tolerance test. There was no evidence to meet list ings 5.00, 7.00, and 13.00. consideration of the objective findings, t he evidence establis hes serious physical impairments; however, these records do not m eet the intent and se verity requirements of a listing, or its equivalent. Accordingly, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 3.

Before considering the fourth step in the sequential analysis, a determination of the individual's residual functional capacity ("Recording FC") is made. 20 CFR 416.945. An individual's RFC is the most he/she canestill do on a sustained base is despite the limitations from the impairment(s). Id. The total limiting effects of all the impairments, to include those that are not severe, are considered. 20 CFR 416.945(e).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are c lassified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 2 0 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are r equired occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it invo lves sit ting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities . Id. An individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of object is weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). A n individual capable of heavy work is also capable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands (exertional requirements, i.e. sitting, standing, walk ing, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are consider ed nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparis on of the individual's residual functional c apacity with the demands of past relevant work. an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's a ge, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tole rating some physical f eature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolera te dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i) – (vi). If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-e xertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendi x 2 do n ot direct factual conclusions o f 969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416. disability e xists is b ased upon the princi ples in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situations in Appendix 2. ld.

In this case, the evidence confirms treatment/diagnoses of sepsis, pneumonia, pleural effusion, acute kidney injury, decompensat ed dias tolic heart failure, mitral valve leakage, hypertension, anemia, and a hist ory of left femu r fracture, breast cancer, and left wrist fracture. The Claimant testified that she is able to walk s hort distances: grip/grasp without issue; sit for extended periods; lift/carry less than 10 pounds; stand for 10 minutes; and is able to bend but unable to squat. The objective medical findings place the Claimant in deteriorating condition in February 2012 and in stable condition by April 2012. The Claimant is restricted to standing and/or walking of less than 2 hours in an 8-hour workday and she is able to perform simple grasping. After review of the entire record to include the Claimant's testimony, it is found that the Claimant maintains the residual functional capacity to perform at least, unskilled, limited, sedentary work as defined by 20 CFR 416.967(a). Limitations being the alternation between sitting and standing at will.

The fourth step in analyzing a dis ability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual f unctional capacity ("RFC") and pas t relevant employment. 20 CF R 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to learn the position. 20 CF R 416.960(b)(1). Vocational factors of age, education, and work experience, and whether the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3).

The Claim ant's prior work histor y consists of work in a steel factory, as a machine operator, cashier, on an assembly line, and as an aircraft cleaner. In consideration of the Claimant's testimony and the Occupational Code, the Cl aimant's prior work in a steel factory and as a machine operator is classified as unskilled medium work while her employment as a cashier is considered semi-skilled light work. The emp loyment as an aircraft cleaner is semi-skilled medium work. If the impair ment or combination of impairments does not limit physical or mental ability to do basic work activities, it is not a severe impairment(s) and disab ility does not exist. 20 CFR 416.920. In light of the entire record and the Claimant's RFC (see abov e), it is found that the Claimant is unable to perform past relevant work.

In Step 5, an assessment of the individua I's residual functional capace ity and age, education, and work experience is consider ed to determine whet her an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). At the time of hearing, the Claimant was 53 years old thus consider ed to be closely approaching advanced age for MA-P purposes. The Claimant is a high school graduate. Disability is found if an individual is unable to adjust to other work. Id. At this point in the analysis, the burden shifts from the Claimant to the Department to present proof that the Claimant has the residu al capacity to substantial gainfu I employment. 20 CFR 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services, 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a vocational expert is not required, a finding supported by subs tantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specif ic jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services , 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983).

In this case, the objective findings confi rms treatment/diagnoses of seps is, pneumonia, pleural effusion, acute kidney injury, decom pensated diastolic heart failure, mitral valv e leakage, hypertension, anemia, and a hist ory of left femur fracture, breast cancer, and left wrist fracture. In February 2012, the Cla imant was found unable to work for at least one month. In April 2012, the Claimant was found unable to work by her treating physician. That being stated, there were no restrictions from the treating source or other evidence regarding sedentary activity . The Claimant's acquired skill set would readily transfer to other work. The consultative evaluation found the Claimant capable of work. After review of the entire record , and in consideration of the Claimant's age, education, work experience, and RFC, and using the Medical-Vocational Guidelines [20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix II] as a guide, specifically Rule 201.15, it is found that the Claimant is not disabled for purposes of the MA-P program at Step 5.

The State Disability Assist ance program, which pr ovides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. The Department administers the SDA program pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180. Department policie s are found in BAM, BEM, and RFT. A person is considered disabled for SDA purposes if the person has a phys ical or menta I impairment which m eets federal SSI dis ability standards for at least ninety days. Receipt of SSI or RSDI benefit s based on disability or blindness, or the receipt of MA benefits based on disability or blindness automatically qualifies an individual as disabled for purposes of the SDA program.

In this cas e, the Claimant is found not disabled for purposes of the MA-P program; therefore, she is found not disabled for purposes of SDA benefit program.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law finds the Claimant not disabled for purposes of the MA-P and SDA benefit programs.

Accordingly, It is ORDERED:

The Department's determination is AFFIRMED.
