3. On September 7, 2012, Claimant or Claimant's AHR filed a hearing request, protesting the amount of benefits.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Additionally, in an August 21, 2012 Notice of Case Action, the Department notified Claimant that his monthly benefits would decrease to $76 beginning October 1, 2012. At the hearing, the Department testified that the decrease was due to a reduction in Claimant's medical expense deduction. The Department further testified that Claimant advised the Department on September 20, 2012 that he had moved, and because he had not verified his housing expenses, the Department removed his shelter expenses from his FAP budget, reducing his monthly FAP benefits to $16 effective October 1, 2012.

The Department produced Claimant's FAP budget for October 2012. The budget showed that Claimant received gross Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance (RSDI) benefits of $1146. Claimant contended that he received less than $1146 in RSDI benefits. The Department testified that it relied on a June 21, 2012, award letter from the SSA that showed that, beginning December 2011, Claimant received gross monthly RSDI benefits of $1146 with $0 deducted for medical premiums. During the course of the hearing, the Department also testified that it had (i) a March 29, 2012, Single On-Line Query (SOLQ) report showing that Claimant received $1146 in gross monthly RSDI benefits but the $99.90 Part B Medicare premium was no longer paid by the State beginning March 1, 2012, and (ii) an April 15, 2012, SSA award letter indicating that Claimant was issued an overpayment totaling over $1000 and his gross RSDI benefits would continue to be $1146 until the SSA began collecting the overpayment.

The Department is required to verify income when program policy requires a change to be budgeted. See BEM 503 (October 1, 2012), pp 29-30. In this case, the Department testified that it relied on the information in the June 21, 2012, SSA letter, which was the most recent it had. However, in light of the inconsistencies present in the Department's file concerning Claimant's gross monthly RSDI income, the Department should have run a current SOLQ when rebudgeting his October 2012 FAP benefits. See BEM 503, p 30 (requiring that the Department use available electronic methods such as consolidated inquiry or SOLQ to verify unearned income). If the SOLQ shows that the SSA has been deducting a previous overpayment or ineligible payment from RSDI benefits Claimant has been receiving since October 1, 2012, the amounts being recovered are excluded as income. BEM 500 (October 1, 2012), p 4.

Because Claimant is a Senior/Disabled/Veteran (SDV) member, he is eligible for a deduction for verified medical expenses he incurred in excess of $35. BEM 554 (October 1, 2012), p 1. While Claimant did not verify any medical expenses for October 2012 ongoing, if the SOLQ shows that the SSA deducted Medicare Part B premiums from Claimant's RSDI benefits, such expenses over $35 should be included in Claimant's medical expense deduction.

The Department also testified that Claimant's shelter expenses were excluded from his October 2012 ongoing FAP budget because Claimant did not timely verify shelter expenses when he reported a change of address on September 20, 2012. While these changes to Claimant's FAP budget occurred after Claimant filed his request for hearing on September 17, 2012, and the hearing generally addresses only those Department actions taken prior to the filing of the hearing request, it is noted that the Department testified on the record in this case that because it received the shelter verification on October 10, 2012, Claimant's shelter expenses should have been included in the calculation of Claimant's FAP budget for November 1, 2012, ongoing.

Based upon the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, the Administrative Law Judge concludes that the Department properly simproperly calculated Claimant's benefits for: AMP FIP FAP MA SDA CDC.
