

STATE OF MICHIGAN
MICHIGAN ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING SYSTEM
ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

Reg. No: 2012-2807
Issue No: 2009

[REDACTED]

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: [REDACTED]

HEARING DECISION

This matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9; and MCL 400.37 upon claimant's request for a hearing. After due notice, an in-person hearing was held on [REDACTED]. The claimant appeared and provided testimony along with [REDACTED]. The department witness was [REDACTED].

ISSUE

Did the Department of Human Services (DHS) properly deny claimant's Medical Assistance (MA) application?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On [REDACTED] claimant applied for MA with the Michigan Department of Human Services (DHS).
2. Claimant applied for retro MA.
3. On [REDACTED] the MRT denied.
4. On [REDACTED], the DHS issued notice.
5. On [REDACTED], claimant filed a hearing request.
6. Claimant testified at the administrative hearing that he has an SSI application pending with the Social Security Administration (SSA).

7. On [REDACTED], the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) denied claimant. Pursuant to the claimant's request to hold the record open for the submission of new and additional medical documentation, on [REDACTED] [REDACTED] SHRT once again denied claimant.
8. As of the date of hearing, claimant was a [REDACTED] male standing 5'8" tall and weighing 176 pounds. Claimant has a high school education.
9. Claimant testified that he smokes approximately one pack of cigarettes per day. Claimant testified that he does not drink alcohol or use any illicit or illegal drugs.
10. Claimant has a driver's license and can drive an automobile for short distances.
11. Claimant testified that he [REDACTED] [REDACTED] per hour. He works for a bowling alley performing light maintenance on the pin machines. Claimant has worked for the bowling alley since 1981.
12. Claimant alleges disability on the basis of depression, anxiety, obsessive compulsive disorder, fibromyalgia, breathing problems and heart problems.
13. On [REDACTED], the claimant had a left heart catheterization, left and right coronary angiogram, and left ventriculogram. Coronary artery disease in varying degrees was found.
14. On [REDACTED], the claimant underwent a cardiac catheterization and percutaneous coronary intervention. A stent was placed in the mid LAD lesion.
15. On [REDACTED], the claimant was given an exercise nuclear stress test. There were no ischemic changes with stress. There was also no evidence of infarct. Radionuclide activity of the left ventricle appeared uniform with stress and at rest.
16. An [REDACTED] chest x-ray found the heart was normal in size and unchanged. There was no congestive heart failure/acute infiltrate/pneumothorax/pleural effusion.
17. The claimant again underwent cardiac catheterization on [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. At this time it was found that there was a progression of disease to a critical stenosis in the mid-right coronary artery which would require stenting.

18. On [REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED] the claimant underwent an independent psychiatric/psychological medical examination. The claimant showed no pain behaviors and had a normal posture and gait. His effort on testing seemed adequate and the results are considered valid. He showed cooperative behavior and a serious minded attitude. He appeared in contact with reality and his self esteem was rated as rare. His motor activity was normal from what could be observed. The claimant was pleasant, fairly calm and autonomous in giving interview material. He appeared motivated for effort and did not seem too eager or minimize his symptoms. He was spontaneous, logical and organized and showed normal speech. No hallucinations, delusions or related thought pathology was observed, reported or suspected. The claimant seemed tense, anxious and somewhat depressed, but denies feeling so. He did not smile and his affect was constricted. The clinician opined that the claimant's ability to understand, remember and carryout instructions does not appear to be impacted. His ability to respond appropriately to others, including co-workers and supervisors and adapt to changes in a work setting appear to be moderately impaired. Abilities to perform work related activities with reliability, consistency and persistence in spite of the alleged impairments, appear to be moderately impaired. Claimant was diagnosed with a generalized anxiety disorder and panic disorder without agoraphobia. Claimant was assigned a GAF of 60.
19. On [REDACTED] the claimant underwent another exercise stress test. The claimant exercised up to 7 mets of exercise achieving 85% of predicted heart rate. There were no ST/T changes suggestive of myocardial ischemia. No chest pain, shortness of breath and no atrial or ventricular dysrhythmia. Blood pressure response to exercise was within normal limits.
20. A [REDACTED] progress note indicates that the claimant presented with a complaint of back pain that occurred after he was painting the outside of his house. The claimant did have muscle spasms and pain over his lumbar spine. The claimant did not have any gait limitations.
21. A physical examination in [REDACTED] reported his blood pressure was well controlled. His lungs were clear and his heart was within normal limits. There were no neurological deficits and no deformities. He walked with a normal gait.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act and is implemented by Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The Department of Human Services (DHS or department) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) and the Bridges Reference Manual (RFT).

In order to receive MA benefits based upon disability or blindness, claimant must be disabled or blind as defined in Title XVI of the Social Security Act (20 CFR 416.901). DHS, being authorized to make such disability determinations, utilizes the SSI definition of disability when making medical decisions on MA applications. MA-P (disability), also is known as Medicaid, which is a program designated to help public assistance claimants pay their medical expenses. Michigan administers the federal Medicaid program. In assessing eligibility, Michigan utilizes the federal regulations.

Relevant federal guidelines provide in pertinent part:

"Disability" is:

...the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months.... 20 CFR 416.905.

The federal regulations require that several considerations be analyzed in sequential order:

...We follow a set order to determine whether you are disabled. We review any current work activity, the severity of your impairment(s), your residual functional capacity, your past work, and your age, education and work experience. If we can find that you are disabled or not disabled at any point in the review, we do not review your claim further.... 20 CFR 416.920.

The regulations require that if disability can be ruled out at any step, analysis of the next step is not required. These steps are:

1. If you are working and the work you are doing is substantial gainful activity, we will find that you are not disabled regardless of your medical condition or your age, education, and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(b). If no, the analysis continues to Step 2.
2. Does the client have a severe impairment that has lasted or is expected to last 12 months or more or result in death? If no, the client is ineligible for MA. If yes, the analysis continues to Step 3. 20 CFR 416.909(c).

3. Does the impairment appear on a special Listing of Impairments or are the client's symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings at least equivalent in severity to the set of medical findings specified for the listed impairment that meets the duration requirement? If no, the analysis continues to Step 4. If yes, MA is approved. 20 CFR 416.920(d).
4. Can the client do the former work that he/she performed within the last 15 years? If yes, the client is ineligible for MA. If no, the analysis continues to Step 5. Sections 200.00-204.00(f)?
5. Does the client have the Residual Functional Capacity (RFC) to perform other work according to the guidelines set forth at 20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix 2, Sections 200.00-204.00? This step considers the residual functional capacity, age, education, and past work experience to see if the client can do other work. If yes, the analysis ends and the client is ineligible for MA. If no, MA is approved. 20 CFR 416.920(g).

At application claimant has the burden of proof pursuant to:

...You must provide medical evidence showing that you have an impairment(s) and how severe it is during the time you say that you are disabled. 20 CFR 416.912(c).

Federal regulations are very specific regarding the type of medical evidence required by claimant to establish statutory disability. The regulations essentially require laboratory or clinical medical reports that corroborate claimant's claims or claimant's physicians' statements regarding disability. These regulations state in part:

...Medical reports should include --

- (1) Medical history.
- (2) Clinical findings (such as the results of physical or mental status examinations);
- (3) Laboratory findings (such as sure, X-rays);
- (4) Diagnosis (statement of disease or injury based on its signs and symptoms).... 20 CFR 416.913(b).

...Statements about your pain or other symptoms will not alone establish that you are disabled; there must be medical signs and laboratory findings which show that you have a medical impairment.... 20 CFR 416.929(a).

...The medical evidence...must be complete and detailed enough to allow us to make a determination about whether you are disabled or blind. 20 CFR 416.913(d).

Medical findings consist of symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings:

- (a) Symptoms are your own description of your physical or mental impairment. Your statements alone are not enough to establish that there is a physical or mental impairment.
- (b) Signs are anatomical, physiological, or psychological abnormalities which can be observed, apart from your statements (symptoms). Signs must be shown by medically acceptable clinical diagnostic techniques. Psychiatric signs are medically demonstrable phenomena which indicate specific psychological abnormalities e.g., abnormalities of behavior, mood, thought, memory, orientation, development, or perception. They must also be shown by observable facts that can be medically described and evaluated.
- (c) Laboratory findings are anatomical, physiological, or psychological phenomena which can be shown by the use of a medically acceptable laboratory diagnostic techniques. Some of these diagnostic techniques include chemical tests, electrophysiological studies (electrocardiogram, electroencephalogram, etc.), roentgenological studies (X-rays), and psychological tests. 20 CFR 416.928.

It must allow us to determine --

- (1) The nature and limiting effects of your impairment(s) for any period in question;
- (2) The probable duration of your impairment; and
- (3) Your residual functional capacity to do work-related physical and mental activities. 20 CFR 416.913(d).

Information from other sources may also help us to understand how your impairment(s) affects your ability to work. 20 CFR 416.913(e).

...You can only be found disabled if you are unable to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death, or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. See 20 CFR 416.905. Your impairment must result from anatomical, physiological, or psychological abnormalities which are demonstrable by medically acceptable clinical and laboratory diagnostic techniques.... 20 CFR 416.927(a)(1).

Applying the sequential analysis herein, claimant is not ineligible at the first step as claimant is not currently working at a level that would be considered substantial gainful activity. 20 CFR 416.920(b). The analysis continues.

The second step of the analysis looks at a two-fold assessment of duration and severity. 20 CFR 416.920(c). This second step is a de minimus standard. Ruling any ambiguities in claimant's favor, this Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) finds that claimant meets both. The analysis continues.

The third step of the analysis looks at whether an individual meets or equals one of the Listings of Impairments. 20 CFR 416.920(d). Claimant does not. The analysis continues.

Before considering step four of the sequential evaluation process, the Administrative Law Judge must first determine the claimant's residual functional capacity. 20 CFR 404.1520(e) and 416.920(e). An individual's residual functional capacity is his/her ability to do physical and mental work activities on a sustained basis despite limitations from his/her impairments. In making this finding, all of the claimant's impairments, including impairments that are not severe, must be considered. 20 CFR 404.1520(e), 404.1545, 416.920(e), and 416.945; SSR 96-8. In reviewing the medical evidence of record, it is the opinion of this Administrative Law Judge that the claimant would be capable of performing at least light work despite the impairments that the claimant has. There is no completed residual functional capacity examination or specific position limitations provided in the medical evidence. The medical evidence is not consistent with the claimant not being able to lift up to [REDACTED], stand or walk 6 of 8 hours in a day and perform other duties of a light exertional level. There does not appear to be any diagnosis of obsessive compulsive disorder or fibromyalgia in the file. The claimant's diagnoses of depression and anxiety appear to be controlled through medication treatment. The claimant's breathing problems and his heart problems appear to be controlled through medication and also through surgical intervention.

Next, the Administrative Law Judge must determine at step four whether the claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform the requirements of his/her past relevant work. 20 CFR 404.1520(f) and 416.920(f). The term past relevant work means work performed (either as the claimant actually performed it or as it is generally performed in the national economy) within the last 15 years or 15 years prior to the date that disability must be established. In addition, the work must have lasted long enough for the claimant to learn to do the job and have been SGA. 20 CFR 404.1560(b), 404.1565, 416.960(b), and 416.965. If the claimant has the residual functional capacity to do his/her past relevant work, the claimant is not disabled. If the claimant is unable to do any past relevant work or does not have any past relevant work, the analysis proceeds to the fifth and last step.

In this case, this ALJ finds that it is possible that claimant cannot return to past relevant work on a full time basis on the basis of the medical evidence. Therefore, the analysis will continue to Step 5.

At the last step of the sequential evaluation process, the Administrative Law Judge must determine whether the claimant is able to do any other work considering his/her residual functional capacity, age, education, and work experience. 20 CFR 404.1520(g) and 416.920(g).

Claimant has submitted insufficient objective medical evidence that he lacked the residual functional capacity to perform at least light work if demanded of him. Therefore, this Administrative Law Judge finds that the objective medical evidence on the record does not establish that claimant had no residual functional capacity to perform other work. Claimant is disqualified from receiving disability at Step 5 based upon the fact that he has not established by objective medical evidence that he could not perform at least light work. Under the Medical-Vocational guidelines, a younger individual, with a high school or more education and a history of skilled or semi-skilled work history which is not transferrable, is considered not disabled pursuant to Medical-Vocational Rule 202.21.

The 6th Circuit has held that subjective complaints are inadequate to establish disability when the objective evidence fails to establish the existence of severity of the alleged pain. McCormick v Secretary of Health and Human Services, 861 F2d 998, 1003 (6th cir 1988).

As noted above, claimant has the burden of proof pursuant to 20 CFR 416.912(c). Federal and state law is quite specific with regards to the type of evidence sufficient to show statutory disability. 20 CFR 416.913. This authority requires sufficient medical evidence to substantiate and corroborate statutory disability as it is defined under federal and state law. 20 CFR 416.913(b), .913(d), and .913(e); BEM 260. These medical findings must be corroborated by medical tests, labs, and other corroborating medical evidence that substantiates disability. 20 CFR 416.927, .928. Moreover, complaints and symptoms of pain must be corroborated pursuant to 20 CFR 416.929(a), .929(c)(4), and .945(e). Claimant's medical evidence in this case, taken as a whole, simply does not rise to statutory disability by meeting these federal and state requirements. 20 CFR 416.920; BEM 260, 261.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, decides that the department's actions were correct.

Accordingly, the department's determination in this matter is UPHELD.
