CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

When a client group receives more benefits than they are entitled to receive, DHS must attempt to recoup the OI. BAM 700.

Suspected IPV means an OI exists for which all three of the following conditions exist:

- The client intentionally failed to report information or intentionally gave incomplete or inaccurate information needed to make a correct benefit determination, and
- The client was clearly and correctly instructed regarding his or her reporting responsibilities, and
- The client has no apparent physical or mental impairment that limits his or her understanding or ability to fulfill their reporting responsibilities.

IPV is suspected when there is clear and convincing evidence that the client has intentionally withheld or misrepresented information for the purpose of establishing, maintaining, increasing or preventing reduction of program benefits or eligibility. BAM 720.

The Department's OIG requests IPV hearings for cases when:

- benefit overissuance are not forwarded to the prosecutor.
- prosecution of welfare fraud is declined by the prosecutor for a reason other than lack of evidence, and
- the total overissuance amount is $ or more, or
- the total overissuance amount is less than $ and
 - the group has a previous intentional program violation, or
 - the alleged IPV involves FAP trafficking, or
 - the alleged fraud involves concurrent receipt of assistance.
 - the alleged fraud is committed by a state/government employee.

A court or hearing decision that finds a client committed IPV disqualifies that client from receiving program benefits. A disqualified recipient remains a member of an active group as long as he lives with them. Other eligible group members may continue to receive benefits. BAM 720.

Clients who commit an IPV are disqualified for a standard disqualification period except when a court orders a different period, or except when the overissuance relates to MA. Refusal to repay will not cause denial of current or future MA if the client is otherwise eligible. BAM 710. Clients are disqualified for periods of one year for the first IPV, two years for the second IPV, lifetime disqualification for the third IPV, and ten years for a concurrent receipt of benefits. BAM 720.

Clear and convincing evidence presented by the Department at the administrative hearing shows that Respondent received benefits concurrently in the State of Michigan as well as the State of Tennessee. The Department further presented clear and convincing evidence that Respondent signed an application for assistance acknowledging that he was to report any changes in residence. The Department tracked the cashing of FAP benefits at every store for which Respondent utilized them and the evidence shows the exact cashing and amounts by Respondent over the alleged fraud period. Moreover, verification from the State of Tennessee indicates that Respondent received benefits beginning on 1/14/10 until "present." The verification was signed on 9/19/12. Respondent has committed a fraud.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above clear and convincing evidence, Findings of Facts, Conclusions of Law and for the reasons stated on the record, concludes that:

Respondent ⊠ did ☐ did not commit an IPV.
