ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

Reg. No.: 2013-50702
Issue No.: 2009; 4031
Case No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: October 8, 2013
County: Shiawassee

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Vicki L. Armstrong

HEARING DECISION

Following Claimant's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; and 45 CFR 205.10. After due notice, an in-person hearing was held on October 8, 2013, at the Shiawassee County Department of Human Services (Department) office. Claimant, represented by [REDACTED] of [REDACTED] personally appeared and testified. Participants on behalf of the Department included Family Independence Manager [REDACTED] and Eligibility Specialist [REDACTED].

During the hearing, Claimant waived the time period for the issuance of this decision in order to allow for the submission of additional medical evidence. The new evidence was forwarded to the State Hearing Review Team ("SHRT") for consideration. On November 7, 2013, the SHRT found Claimant was not disabled. This matter is now before the undersigned for a final decision.

ISSUE

Whether the Department of Human Services (the department) properly denied Claimant's application for Medical Assistance (MA-P), Retro-MA and State Disability Assistance (SDA)?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

- (1) On July 20, 2012, Claimant filed an application for MA/Retro-MA and SDA benefits alleging disability.
- (2) On March 8, 2013, the Medical Review Team (MRT) denied Claimant's application for MA-P, indicating that Claimant is physically capable of performing other work, pursuant to 20 CFR 416.920(f). SDA was denied due to lack of duration. (Depart Ex. A, pp 1-2).

- (3) On March 13, 2013, the department sent out notice to Claimant that her application for Medicaid had been denied.
- (4) On May 30, 2013, Claimant filed a request for a hearing to contest the department's negative action.
- (5) On August 2, 2013, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) upheld the denial of MA-P benefits indicating Claimant retains the capacity to perform light work. SDA was denied due to lack of duration. (Depart Ex. B).
- (6) Claimant alleges disability on the basis of hypertension, diabetes, high cholesterol, arthritis and pain in his knees.
- (7) Claimant is a 50 year old man whose birthday is [REDACTED]. Claimant is 5'9" tall and weighs 300 lbs. Claimant completed a high school equivalent education. He last worked in 1989.
- (8) Claimant had applied for Social Security disability benefits at the time of the hearing.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Subchapter XIX of Chapter 7 of The Public Health & Welfare Act, 42 USC 1397, and is administered by the Department, (DHS or department), pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and MCL 400.105. Department policies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and the Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program which provides financial assistance for disabled persons is established by 2004 PA 344. The Department of Human Services (DHS or department) administers the SDA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151-400.3180. Department policies are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) and the Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

Current legislative amendments to the Act delineate eligibility criteria as implemented by department policy set forth in program manuals. 2004 PA 344, Sec. 604, establishes the State Disability Assistance program. It reads in part:

Sec. 604 (1). The department shall operate a state disability assistance program. Except as provided in subsection (3), persons eligible for this program shall include needy citizens of the United States or aliens exempt from the Supplemental Security Income citizenship requirement who are at least 18 years of age or emancipated minors meeting one or more of the following requirements:

(b) A person with a physical or mental impairment which meets federal SSI disability standards, except that the minimum duration of the disability shall be 90 days. Substance abuse alone is not defined as a basis for eligibility.

Specifically, this Act provides minimal cash assistance to individuals with some type of severe, temporary disability which prevents him or her from engaging in substantial gainful work activity for at least ninety (90) days.

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish it through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 413.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a). Similarly, conclusory statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, the federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applicant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and, (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The five-step analysis requires the trier of fact to consider an individual's current work activity; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to determine whether an individual can perform past relevant work; and residual functional capacity along with vocational factors (e.g., age, education, and work experience) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need to evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at a particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an individual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from Step 3 to Step 4. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual functional capacity is the most an individual can do despite the limitations based on all relevant evidence. 20 CFR 945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity assessment is evaluated at both Steps 4 and 5. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). In determining disability, an individual's functional capacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, disability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the individual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 416.912(a). An impairment or combination of impairments is not severe if it does not significantly limit an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a). The individual has the responsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the individual's current work activity. In the record presented, Claimant is not involved in substantial gainful activity and testified that he has not worked since 1989. Therefore, he is not disqualified from receiving disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the individual's alleged impairment(s) is considered under Step 2. The individual bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purposes, the impairment must be severe. 20 CFR 916.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it significantly limits an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 916.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 916.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 916.921(b). Examples include:

1. Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
4. Use of judgment;
5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting. Id.

The second step allows for dismissal of a disability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowen, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an administrative convenience to screen out claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qualifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, Claimant alleges disability due to hypertension, diabetes, high cholesterol, arthritis and pain in his knees.

In July, 2012, Claimant was admitted to the hospital with chest pain and beats of sinus rhythm with frequent ectopic ventricular beats. Cardiology was consulted due to Claimant's long history of tobacco abuse, as well as diabetes, hypertension and morbid obesity. A Lexiscan was performed which showed no evidence of cardiac ischemia or infarction and he was cleared by cardiology. Claimant had a laparoscopic cholecystectomy and tolerated the procedure well. He was discharged two days later with a diagnosis of symptomatic cholecystitis, ventricular bigeminy, right-sided chest pain, noncardiac in origin, most likely related to symptomatic cholecystitis, history of gallstone disease, hypertension, diabetes mellitus, morbid obesity, tobacco abuse and a history of alcohol abuse.

In September, 2012, Claimant went to the health center requesting refills on his Norco prescription for his knees. He reported chronic pain with an intensity level of 1. Claimant was well nourished and in no acute distress. He had an antalgic gait. His right knee had marked crepitus and mild effusion. He had no depression, anxiety or agitation. He was very pleasant. He was diagnosed with severe degenerative joint disease.

In January, 2013, Claimant underwent a medical evaluation on behalf of the department. Claimant's chief complaints were bilateral knee pain, benign essential hypertension, diabetes, edema, other cardiac dysrhythmias, lateral meniscus knee tear and chest pain. Claimant had surgery in 1992 for a tear in the lateral meniscus. He stated he has bilateral knee pain and that standing and bending increase the pain. He woke up with chest pain on the day of the evaluation, and reported he has had it off and on for over a year and thinks it is gas. He currently smokes a pack a day. He has bilateral edema of the feet, but no calf pain. No joint pain, redness or swelling. No back pain. He is morbidly obese. He ambulates without a cane. He has a broad based gait. His range of motion of all other joints is within normal limits. Diagnosis: Bilateral knee pain, benign essential hypertension, diabetes mellitus, edema, other cardiac dysrhythmias, status post tear lateral meniscus knee diagnostic arthroscopy, chest pain/angina and morbid obesity.

During an office visit in March, 2013, Claimant reported he had helped his brother move the previous week and had gotten very sore and ran out of his Norco prescription early. The physician noted Claimant's strength seemed adequate and his hand was healing well from finger lacerations and repair. Claimant reported that he was not in pain and did not experience chronic pain. Claimant indicated he had hypertension, hyperlipidemia and arthritis. His medical history included that he was a borderline diabetic. Claimant was in no acute distress and his breathing was unlabored. He had decreased range of motion in his left hand, but it was improving. The lacerations on his first three fingers were well healed. His grip strength was decreased due to his decreased range of motion in his fingers. He exhibited no depression, anxiety or agitation.

As previously noted, Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairment(s). In the present case, Claimant testified that he had hypertension, diabetes, high cholesterol, arthritis and pain in his knees. Based on the lack of objective medical evidence that the alleged impairment(s) are severe enough to reach the criteria and definition of disability, Claimant is denied at Step 2 for lack of a severe impairment and no further analysis is required.

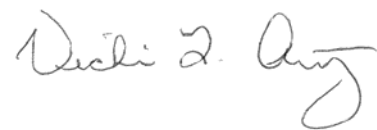

The department's Bridges Eligibility Manual contains the following policy statements and instructions for caseworkers regarding the State Disability Assistance program: to receive State Disability Assistance, a person must be disabled, caring for a disabled person or age 65 or older. BEM, Item 261, p 1. Because Claimant does not meet the definition of disabled under the MA-P program and because the evidence of record does not establish that Claimant is unable to work for a period exceeding 90 days, Claimant does not meet the disability criteria for State Disability Assistance benefits either.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, finds the Claimant not disabled for purposes of the MA/Retro-MA and SDA benefit programs.
