CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and the Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The Child Development and Care (CDC) program is established by Titles IVA, IVE and XX of the Social Security Act, the Child Care and Development Block Grant of 1990, and the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996. The program is implemented by Title 45 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 98 and 99. The Department provides services to adults and children pursuant to MCL 400.14(1) and 1999 AC, Rule 400.5001 through Rule 400.5015.

Clients must comply with all requests for action or information needed to establish paternity and/or obtain child support on behalf of children for whom they receive assistance, unless a claim of good cause for not cooperating has been granted or is pending. Failure to cooperate without good cause results in disqualification. Disqualification includes member removal, denial of program benefits, and/or case closure, depending on the program. BEM 255.

In the present case, the Department denied Claimant's CDC application on February 19, 2013 due to failure to cooperate with child support requirements.

At the hearing, Claimant testified that she had given all the information she knew about the father of her child, [REDACTED], to the Office of Child Support. Claimant testified that the child's father's name is Demitrius Anderson, who, to the best of her knowledge, lives in [REDACTED]. However, the Office of Child Support representative stated that the Office of Child Support investigated Claimant's proffered name and location, and was not able to locate a man by that name in the location Claimant gave. In addition, the representative testified credibly that using a private locate source, the Office of Child Support determined that a [REDACTED], was living at Claimant's address. Furthermore, a locator for employment history showed a person by the name of [REDACTED], with the same social security number as that person living at Claimant's address, had been working as late as July of 2012. Claimant was less than credible when she testified that the only person living at her address, which is a townhome, with the name containing the first name [REDACTED] the last [REDACTED]. I am satisfied that the Office of Child Support performed a thorough investigation based on information given to them by Claimant, and I am satisfied that Claimant was less than forthcoming with respect to information regarding the father of her child. The Department was therefore correct in denying Claimant's CDC application for failing to cooperate with child support requirements.

Based upon the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, the Administrative Law Judge concludes that the Department

DECISION AND ORDER

- did act properly.  did not act properly.
