[REDACTED]

Reg. No.: 2013-65607
Issue No(s): 2009, 4009
Case No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: January 16, 2014
County: Macomb County DHS #20

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Colleen Lack

HEARING DECISION

Following Claimant's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; and 45 CFR 205.10. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on January 16, 2014, from Lansing, Michigan. Participants on behalf of Claimant included [REDACTED], the Claimant. Participants on behalf of the Department of Human Services (Department) included [REDACTED], Eligibility Specialist.

During the hearing, Claimant waived the time period for the issuance of this decision, in order to allow for the submission of additional medical evidence. The evidence was received, reviewed, and forwarded to the State Hearing Review Team ("SHRT") for consideration. The SHRT found Claimant not disabled. This matter is now before the undersigned for a final determination.

ISSUE

Whether the Department properly determined that Claimant was not disabled for purposes of the Medical Assistance (MA) and State Disability Assistance (SDA) benefit programs?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On April 23, 2013, Claimant applied for Medicaid (MA-P), retroactive MA-P, and SDA.
2. On July 18, 2013, the Medical Review Team (MRT) found Claimant not disabled.
3. On July 22, 2013, the Department notified Claimant of the MRT determination.
4. On July 30, 2013, the Department received Claimant's timely written request for hearing.

5. On October 23, 2013, and May 2, 2014, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) found Claimant not disabled.
6. Claimant alleged physical disabling impairments due to hepatitis C, cirrhosis of the liver, gallstones, hiatal hernia, spinal disc injury, arthritis, headaches, trouble hearing and chronic pain.
7. Claimant alleged mental disabling impairments of anxiety and depression.
8. At the time of hearing, Claimant was 57 years old with a [REDACTED], birth date; was 5'9" in height; and weighed 175 pounds.
9. Claimant attended one year of college and history of working as a furnace operator, titanium plating, mold making, and car sales.
10. Claimant's impairments have lasted, or are expected to last, continuously for a period of 12 months or longer.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), Department of Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and Department of Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act, 42 USC 1396-1396w-5; 42 USC 1315; the Affordable Care Act of 2010, the collective term for the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, Pub. L. No. 111-148, as amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010, Pub. L. No. 111-152; and 42 CFR 430.10-.25. The Department (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the MA program pursuant to 42 CFR 435, MCL 400.10, and MCL 400.105-.112k.

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program, which provides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. The Department administers the SDA program pursuant to 42 CFR 435, MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180. A person is considered disabled for SDA purposes if the person has a physical or mental impairment which meets federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability standards for at least ninety days. Receipt of SSI benefits based on disability or blindness, or the receipt of MA benefits based on disability or blindness, automatically qualifies an individual as disabled for purposes of the SDA program.

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish it through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 416.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a). Similarly, conclusory statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, the federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applicant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The five-step analysis requires the trier of fact to consider an individual's current work activity; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to determine whether an individual can perform past relevant work; and residual functional capacity along with vocational factors (i.e. age, education, and work experience) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at a particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an individual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual functional capacity is the most an individual can do despite the limitations based on all relevant evidence. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity assessment is evaluated at both steps four and five. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). In determining disability, an individual's functional capacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, disability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the individual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 416.912(a). An impairment or combination of impairments is not severe if it does not significantly limit an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a). The individual has the responsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the individual's current work activity. In the record presented, the Claimant is not involved in substantial gainful activity. Therefore, Claimant is not ineligible for disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impairment(s) is considered under Step 2. The Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purposes, the impairment must be severe. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it significantly limits an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 416.921(b). Examples include:

1. Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
4. Use of judgment;
5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

The second step allows for dismissal of a disability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowen, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an administrative convenience to screen out claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qualifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a Claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the Claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, Claimant alleges disability due to hepatitis C, cirrhosis of the liver, gallstones, hiatal hernia, spinal disc injury, arthritis, headaches, trouble hearing chronic pain, depression and anxiety. While many older medical records were also submitted, the focus of this analysis is on the more recent medical evidence.

On August 30, 2012, Claimant attended a consultative internal medicine examination. Impressions included hepatitis C by history, cirrhosis of the liver by history, cholelithiasis, hiatal hernia and low back pain.

On January 3, 2013, Claimant was seen in the Emergency Department for chronic back pain. The x-ray report findings indicated: no evidence of acute displaced fracture, traumatic malalignment, compression deformity or destructive osseous lesion; there was straightening of the normal lumbar lordosis which may relate to muscle spasm; heterogeneous appearance of the T10 vertebral body may relate to overlying stool; moderate to large amount of colonic stool was noted; and bilateral femoroacetabular joint osteoarthritis was noted.

Lab reports from April 2013 showed high ALT, AST, GGTP results.

On May 21, 2013 Claimant's family practice doctor completed a DHS-49 Medical Examination report indicating diagnoses of hepatitis C, cirrhosis of liver, cholelithiasis, tension arthralgia, bilateral hearing loss, GERD and myalgia. In the examination findings, the doctor noted also anxiety. The doctor marked that Claimant had no mental limitations. The doctor indicated Claimant was limited to lifting less than 10 pounds frequently, up to 10 pounds occasionally, standing and/or walking less than 2 hours in an 8 hours work day, and sitting less than 2 hours in an 8 hours work day.

A portion of a September 9, 2013 DHS-49 Medical Examination report from an internal medicine doctor was submitted, but the diagnoses are difficult to read and the page addressing physical limitations is missing.

On December 13, 2013, Claimant attended a consultative internal medicine examination. Impressions included: cirrhosis of the liver probably secondary to hepatitis C with history of heavy alcohol intake in the past, there was ascites with positive fluid wave, there was some tenderness on deep palpitation; history of gallstones and cyst on the liver, there was tenderness in the right upper quadrant on deep palpitation; GERD with hiatal hernia currently on medication; chronic lichen planus with recent herpes zoster virus on penile shaft currently on medication; chronic persistent neck pain status post work related injury in January 2011, range of motion of the cervical spine is decreased; and chronic persistent low back pain with right radiculopathy, range of motion of the lumbar spine is decreased.

As previously noted, Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairment(s). As summarized above, Claimant has presented some medical evidence establishing that he does have some limitations on his ability to perform basic work activities. The medical evidence has established that the Claimant has an impairment, or combination thereof, that has more than a de minimis effect on the Claimant's basic work activities. Further, the impairments have lasted continuously for twelve months; therefore, the Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the sequential analysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or combination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The evidence confirms diagnosis and treatment of hepatitis C, cirrhosis of the liver, cholelithiasis, tension arthralgia, bilateral hearing loss, GERD, myalgia, arthritis, anxiety, chronic persistent neck pain with range of motion of the cervical spine decreased and chronic persistent low back pain with right radiculopathy and range of motion of the lumbar spine decreased.

Listings 1.00 Musculoskeletal System, 2.00 Special Senses and Speech, 5.00 Digestive System, and 12.00 Mental Disorders were considered based on the objective medical evidence. However, the limited recent medical evidence was not sufficient to meet the intent and severity requirements of listing 1.02 or any other listing, or its equivalent. Accordingly, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 3; therefore, the Claimant's eligibility is considered under Step 4. 20 CFR 416.905(a).

Before considering the fourth step in the sequential analysis, a determination of the individual's residual functional capacity ("RFC") is made. 20 CFR 416.945. An individual's RFC is the most he/she can still do on a sustained basis despite the limitations from the impairment(s). Id. The total limiting effects of all the impairments, to include those that are not severe, are considered. 20 CFR 416.945(e).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are classified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 20 CFR 416.967. Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities. Id. An individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). An individual capable of heavy work is also capable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id. Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands (exertional requirements, i.e. sitting, standing, walking, lifting, carrying, pushing, or pulling) are considered nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). In considering whether an individual can perform past relevant work, a comparison of the individual's residual functional capacity with the demands of past relevant work. Id. If an individual can no longer do past relevant work the same residual functional capacity assessment along with an individual's age, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an individual can adjust to other work which exists in the national economy. Id. Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty to function due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating some physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolerate dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i) – (vi). If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendix 2 do not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(2). The determination of whether disability exists is based upon the principles in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situations in Appendix 2. Id.

The evidence confirms diagnosis and treatment of hepatitis C, cirrhosis of the liver, cholelithiasis, tension arthralgia, bilateral hearing loss, GERD, myalgia, arthritis, anxiety, chronic persistent neck pain with range of motion of the cervical spine decreased and chronic persistent low back pain with right radiculopathy and range of motion of the lumbar spine decreased. Claimant's testimony regarding his functional limitations and abilities is only found partially credible based on the objective medical evidence. On the May 21, 2013 DHS-49 Medical Examination report, Claimant's family practice doctor marked that Claimant had no mental limitations but did indicated Claimant was limited to lifting less than 10 pounds frequently, up to 10 pounds occasionally, standing and/or walking less than 2 hours in an 8 hours work day, and sitting less than 2 hours in an 8 hours work day. Further, in the December 13, 2013, consultative internal medicine examination report, the doctor's impressions included: cirrhosis of the liver probably secondary to hepatitis C with history of heavy alcohol intake in the past, there was ascites with positive fluid wave, there was some tenderness on deep palpitation; history of gallstones and cyst on the liver, there was tenderness in the right upper quadrant on deep palpitation; GERD with hiatal hernia currently on medication; chronic lichen planus with recent herpes zoster virus on penile shaft currently on medication; chronic persistent neck pain status post work related injury in January 2011, range of motion of the cervical spine is decreased; and chronic persistent low back pain with right radiculopathy, range of motion of the lumbar spine is decreased. After review of the entire record it is found, at this point, that at best Claimant maintains the residual functional capacity to perform limited sedentary work as defined by 20 CFR 416.967(a). Limitations would include a sit-stand option.

The fourth step in analyzing a disability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual functional capacity ("RFC") and past relevant employment. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if he/she can perform past relevant work. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to learn the position. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(1). Vocational factors of age, education, and work experience, and whether the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3).

Claimant's has history of work as a furnace operator, titanium plating, mold making, and car sales. As described by Claimant, all of these positions involved significant standing and walking and most involved significant lifting. In light of the entire record and Claimant's RFC (see above), it is found that Claimant is not be able to perform his past relevant work. Accordingly, the Claimant cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 4; therefore, the Claimant's eligibility is considered under Step 5. 20 CFR 416.905(a).

In Step 5, an assessment of Claimant's residual functional capacity and age, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). At the time of hearing, Claimant was 57 years old and, thus, considered to be advanced age for MA-P purposes. Claimant attended one year of college and has a history of work as a furnace operator, titanium plating, mold making, and car sales. Any skills from the semi-skilled jobs would not be transferable to other work. Disability is found if an individual is unable to adjust to other work. Id. At this point in the analysis, the burden shifts from the Claimant to the Department to present proof that the Claimant has the residual capacity to substantial gainful employment. 20 CFR 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services, 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). While a vocational expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983).

The evidence confirms diagnosis and treatment of hepatitis C, cirrhosis of the liver, cholelithiasis, tension arthralgia, bilateral hearing loss, GERD, myalgia, arthritis, anxiety, chronic persistent neck pain with range of motion of the cervical spine decreased and chronic persistent low back pain with right radiculopathy and range of motion of the lumbar spine decreased. As noted above, the objective medical evidence supports some of the limitations Claimant described. After review of the entire record it is found, at this point, that at best Claimant maintains the residual functional capacity to perform limited sedentary work as defined by 20 CFR 416.967(a).

After review of the entire record, and in consideration of the Claimant's age, education, work experience, RFC, and using the Medical-Vocational Guidelines [20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix II] as a guide, specifically Rule 201.06, Claimant is found disabled at Step 5.

The SDA program, which provides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. DHS administers the SDA program pursuant to MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180. Department policies are found in BAM, BEM, and RFT. A person is considered disabled for SDA purposes if the person has a physical or mental impairment which meets federal SSI disability standards for at least ninety days. Receipt of SSI or RSDI benefits based on disability or blindness, or the receipt of MA benefits based on disability or blindness (MA-P) automatically qualifies an individual as disabled for purposes of the SDA program.

In this case, the Claimant is also found disabled for purposes SDA benefits as the objective medical evidence also establishes a physical or mental impairment that met the federal SSI disability standard with the shortened duration of 90 days. In light of the foregoing, it is found that Claimant's impairments did preclude work at the above stated level for at least 90 days.

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, if any, finds Claimant disabled for purposes of the MA and SDA benefit programs.
