CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), Department of Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and Department of Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT). Prior to August 1, 2008, Department policies were contained in the Department of Human

The Department's OIG requests IPV hearings for the following cases:

- FAP trafficking OIs that are not forwarded to the prosecutor.
- Prosecution of welfare fraud or FAP trafficking is declined by the prosecutor for a reason other than lack of evidence, and

- the total OI amount for the FIP, SDA, CDC, MA and FAP programs is $1000 or more, or
- the total OI amount is less than $1000, and
 - the group has a previous IPV, or
 - the alleged IPV involves FAP trafficking, or
 - the alleged fraud involves concurrent receipt of assistance (see BEM 222), or
 - the alleged fraud is committed by a state/government employee.

BAM 720 (May 1, 2014), p. 12-13.

Intentional Program Violation

Suspected IPV means an OI exists for which all three of the following conditions exist:

- The client intentionally failed to report information or intentionally gave incomplete or inaccurate information needed to make a correct benefit determination, and
- The client was clearly and correctly instructed regarding his or her reporting responsibilities, and
- The client has no apparent physical or mental impairment that limits his or her understanding or ability to fulfill reporting responsibilities.

BAM 700 (May 1, 2015), p. 7; BAM 720, p. 1.

An IPV is also suspected for a client who is alleged to have trafficked FAP benefits. BAM 720, p. 1.

An IPV requires that the Department establish by clear and convincing evidence that the client has intentionally withheld or misrepresented information for the purpose of establishing, maintaining, increasing or preventing reduction of program benefits or eligibility. BAM 720, p. 1 (emphasis in original); see also 7 CFR 273(e)(6). Clear and convincing evidence is evidence sufficient to result in a clear and firm belief that the proposition is true. See M Civ JI 8.01.

Disqualification

A court or hearing decision that finds a client committed IPV disqualifies that client from receiving program benefits. BAM 720, p. 15-16. A disqualified recipient remains a member of an active group as long as he lives with them, and other eligible group members may continue to receive benefits. BAM 720, p. 16.

Clients who commit an IPV are disqualified for a standard disqualification period except when a court orders a different period, or except when the OI relates to MA. BAM 720, p. 13. Refusal to repay will not cause denial of current or future MA if the client is otherwise eligible. BAM 710 (July 1, 2013), p. 2. Clients are disqualified for periods of one year for the first IPV, two years for the second IPV, lifetime disqualification for the third IPV, and ten years for a FAP concurrent receipt of benefits. BAM 720, p. 16.

Overissuance

When a client group receives more benefits than they are entitled to receive, the Department must attempt to recoup the OI. BAM 700, p. 1.

The Department has the burden of establishing by clear and convincing evidence that the Respondent committed an Intentional Program Violation (IPV). The clear and convincing evidence standard, which is the most demanding standard applied in civil cases, is established where there is evidence so clear, direct and weighty and convincing that a conclusion can be drawn without hesitancy of the truth of the precise facts in issue. Smith v Anonymous Joint Enterprise, 487 Mich 102; 793 NW2d 533 (2010), reh den 488 Mich 860; 793 NW2d 559 (2010).

Clear and convincing proof is that which produces in the mind of the trier of fact a firm belief or conviction as to the truth of the precise facts in issue. Evidence may be uncontroverted and yet not be clear and convincing. Conversely, evidence may be clear and convincing even if contradicted. Id.

Parents and their children under 22 years of age who live together must be in the same group regardless of whether the child(ren) have their own spouse or child who lives with the group. Department of Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) 212 (February 1, 2014), p 1.

In this case, the Respondent acknowledged the responsibility to report any changes to the size and composition of her benefit group, as well as all income received by group members. On November 23, 2009, the Respondent, a person under 22-years of age, applied for Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits and reported that her mother, a mandatory group member, was a member of her household. On November 4, 2010, the Respondent submitted an application for Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits and reported that her mother was not in her home. On March 29, 2011, the Respondent submitted an application for Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits and reported that her mother was a member of her household. On July 26, 2011, the Respondent submitted an application for Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits and reported that her mother was not in her home.

On April 11, 2012, the Respondent's mother informed the Department that she was living with her daughter, and that she was living with her daughter when they signed a lease on November 14, 2009. The Respondent's mother informed the Department that she was living with her daughter along with her husband as of October of 2011. The Respondent's mother informed the Department that she was living with her daughter on April 11, 2012, although the Respondent was in the process of moving out.

The Respondent does not dispute the income received by her mother, but argues that the mother was not a member of her household except for during periods where the Respondent reported her mother's presence on applications for assistance.

Testimony and other evidence must be weighed and considered according to its reasonableness. Gardiner v Courtright, 165 Mich 54, 62; 130 NW 322 (1911); Dep't of Community Health v Risch, 274 Mich App 365, 372; 733 NW2d 403 (2007). Moreover, the weight and credibility of this evidence is generally for the fact-finder to determine. Dep't of Community Health, 274 Mich App at 372; People v Terry, 224 Mich App 447, 452; 569 NW2d 641 (1997). In evaluating the credibility and weight to be given the testimony of a witness, the fact-finder may consider the demeanor of the witness, the reasonableness of the witness's testimony, and the interest, if any, the witness may have in the outcome of the matter. People v Wade, 303 Mich 303 (1942), cert den, 318 US 783 (1943).

This Administrative Law Judge finds that the Respondent failed to establish that she reported her mother joining or leaving the benefit group except on applications for assistance. The Respondent was a Food Assistance Program (FAP) recipient from June 1, 2010, through March 31, 2012, and she would have been eligible for a lesser amount of Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits if she had reported her mother's income to the Department during the periods of alleged fraud. The Respondent was clearly aware of her responsibility to report changes to the size and composition of her benefit group, and how this would affect the amount of benefits she would receive. This Administrative Law Judge finds that the Respondent failed to report her mother's presence in her household for the purposes of preventing the Department from considering her mother's income, which resulted in the Respondent receiving Food Assistance Program (FAP) that she would not have been eligible to receive otherwise.
