[REDACTED]

Reg. No.: 2014-31444
Issue No.: 2009
Case No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: July 15, 2014
County: Ionia

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Kevin Scully

HEARING DECISION

Following Claimant's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; and 45 CFR 205.10. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on July 15, 2014, from Lansing, Michigan. Participants on behalf of Claimant included [REDACTED]. Participants on behalf of the Department of Human Services (Department) included [REDACTED].

ISSUE

Did the Department of Human Services (Department) properly determine that the Claimant did not meet the disability standard for Medical Assistance (MA-P) based on disability?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On December 27, 2013, the Claimant submitted an application for Medical Assistance (MA) benefits alleging disability.
2. On February 24, 2014, the Medical Review Team (MRT) determined that the Claimant did not meet the disability standard for Medical Assistance (MA-P) because it determined that her impairments do not meet the durational requirement.
3. On March 3, 2014, the Department sent the Claimant notice that it had denied the application for assistance.
4. On March 14, 2014, the Department received the Claimant's hearing request, protesting the denial of disability benefits.

5. On May 16, 2014, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) upheld the Medical Review Team's (MRT) denial of Medical Assistance (MA-P) benefits.
6. The Claimant applied for federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits at the Social Security Administration (SSA).
7. The Social Security Administration (SSA) denied the Claimant's federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) application and the Claimant reported that a SSI appeal is pending.
8. The Claimant is a 49-year-old woman whose birth date is [REDACTED].
9. Claimant is 5' 2" tall and weighs 190 pounds.
10. The Claimant is a high school graduate.
11. The Claimant was not engaged in substantial gainful activity at any time relevant to this matter.
12. The Claimant has past relevant work experience as an inspector where she was required to walk for extended periods of time and lift objects weighing as much as 80 pounds.
13. The Claimant's disability claim is based on asthma, back pain, arthritis, ulcers, a learning disability, and depression.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The regulations governing the hearing and appeal process for applicants and recipients of public assistance in Michigan are found in the Michigan Administrative Code, Rule 400.901 - 400.951. An opportunity for a hearing shall be granted to an applicant who requests a hearing because her claim for assistance has been denied. Mich Admin Code, R 400.903. Clients have the right to contest a Department decision affecting eligibility or benefit levels whenever it is believed that the decision is incorrect. The Department will provide an administrative hearing to review the decision and determine the appropriateness of that decision. Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM) 600 (July 1, 2013), pp 1-44.

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by the Title XIX of the Social Security Act, 42 USC 1396-1396w-5, and is implemented by 42 CFR 400.200 to 1008.59. The Department of Human Services (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10 and MCL 400.105.

Pursuant to Federal Rule 42 CFR 435.540, the Department uses the federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) policy in determining eligibility for disability under the Medical Assistance and State Disability Assistance (SDA) programs. Under SSI, disability is defined as:

...inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905.

When determining disability, the federal regulations require that several considerations be analyzed in sequential order.

STEP 1

Does the client perform Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA)? If yes, the client is not disabled.

At step 1, a determination is made on whether the Claimant is engaging in substantial gainful activity (20 CFR 404.1520(b) and 416.920(b)). Substantial gainful activity (SGA) is defined as work activity that is both substantial and gainful. "Substantial work activity" is work activity that involves doing significant physical or mental activities (20 CFR 404.1572(a) and 416.972(a)). "Gainful work activity" is work that is usually done for pay or profit, whether or not a profit is realized (20 CFR 404.1572(b) and 416.972(b)). Generally, if an individual has earnings from employment or self-employment above a specific level set out in the regulations, it is presumed that she has demonstrated the ability to engage in SGA (20 CFR 404.1574, 404.1575, 416.974, and 416.975). If an individual engages in SGA, she is not disabled regardless of how severe her physical or mental impairments are and regardless of her age, education, and work experience. If the individual is not engaging in SGA, the analysis proceeds to the second step.

The Claimant testified that she has not been employed since 2011 and is not currently engaged in substantial gainful activity, which was not disputed by the Department during the hearing. Therefore this Administrative Law Judge finds that the Claimant is not engaged in substantial gainful activity and is not disqualified from receiving disability at Step 1.

STEP 2

Does the client have a severe impairment that has lasted or is expected to last 12 months or more or result in death? If no, the client is not disabled.

At step two, a determination is made whether the Claimant has a medically determinable impairment that is "severe" or a combination of impairments that is "severe" (20 CFR 404.1520(c) and 416.920(c)). An impairment or combination of impairments is "severe" within the meaning of the regulations if it significantly limits an individual's ability to perform basic work activities. An impairment or combination of impairments is "not severe" when medical and other evidence establish only a slight abnormality or a combination of slight abnormalities that would have no more than a minimal effect on an individual's ability to work (20 CFR 404.1521 and 416.921). If the Claimant does not have a severe medically determinable impairment or combination of impairments, she is not disabled. If the Claimant has a severe impairment or combination of impairments, the analysis proceeds to the third step.

The Claimant has the burden of proof of establishing that she has a severely restrictive physical or mental impairment that has lasted or is expected to last for the duration of at least 12 months, or result in death.

The Claimant is a 49-year-old woman that is 5' 2" tall and weighs 190 pounds. The Claimant alleges disability due to asthma, back pain, arthritis, ulcers, a learning disability, and depression.

The objective medical evidence indicates the following:

On [REDACTED], the Claimant was treated in a hospital emergency room for asthma. The Claimant was discharged on [REDACTED], in improved condition.

On [REDACTED], the Claimant was treated in a hospital emergency room for asthma and was discharged in improved condition.

On [REDACTED], the Claimant was treated in a hospital emergency room for asthma and was discharged in improved condition.

On [REDACTED], the Claimant was treated in a hospital emergency room for asthma and was discharged the following day in improved condition.

On [REDACTED], the Claimant was treated in a hospital emergency room for asthma flair up and was discharged in improved condition.

On [REDACTED], the Claimant was treated in a hospital emergency room for asthma and an alcohol-related fall. The Claimant was treated for asthma and minor abrasions, and then discharged in improved condition.

A consultative physician diagnosed the Claimant with mood disorder and alcohol abuse. The consultative found the Claimant to have moderate symptoms and has moderate difficulty in social and occupational functioning.

A consultative physician determined that the Claimant has a normal range of motion, her dexterity is intact, and she has well preserved grip strength.

The Claimant has a history of arm and hand fractures, and injuries sustained in alcohol related falls.

The Claimant is capable of caring for her personal needs such as showering and dressing herself without assistance.

The evidence on the record indicates that the Claimant's was been diagnosed with asthma by treating physicians, which has resulted in significant impairments to her breathing during periods of asthma flair ups. The Claimant has been diagnosed with mood disorder and alcohol abuse. The Claimant has been found to have moderate symptoms and has moderate difficulty in social and occupational functioning. The Claimant has sought treatment during asthma flare ups and her condition has improved quickly following treatment.

The objective medical evidence of record is not sufficient to establish that Claimant has severe impairments that have lasted or are expected to last 12 months or more and prevent employment at any job for 12 months or more. Therefore, Claimant is found not to be disabled at this step. In order to conduct a thorough evaluation of Claimant's disability assertion, the analysis will continue.

STEP 3

Does the impairment appear on a special listing of impairments or are the client's symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings at least equivalent in severity to the set of medical findings specified for the listed impairment? If no, the analysis continues to Step 4.

At step three, a determination is made whether the Claimant's impairment or combination of impairments is of a severity to meet or medically equal the criteria of an impairment listed in 20 CFR Part 404, Subpart P, Appendix 1 (20 CFR 404.1520(d), 404.1525, 404.1526, 416.920(d), 416.925, and 416.926). If the Claimant's impairment or combination of impairments is of a severity to meet or medically equal the criteria of a listing and meets the duration requirement (20 CFR 404.1509 and 416.909), the Claimant is disabled. If it does not, the analysis proceeds to the next step.

The Claimant's impairment failed to meet the listing for asthma under section 3.03 Asthma because the objective medical evidence does not support a finding that the Claimant meets the criteria under section 3.02A for Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. The evidence on the record does not establish that the Claimant suffers from six or more asthma attacks that occur at least once every 2 months that require physician intervention such as intravenous bronchodilator or antibiotic administration or prolong inhalation bronchodilator therapy and lasting one or more days. The evidence on the record indicates that the Claimant was treated in an emergency room setting on at least six occasions in a 12 month period, but the records does not support a finding that all of these treatments required intensive treatment lasting a day or more.

The Claimant's impairment failed to meet the listing for back pain under section 1.04 Disorders of the spine, because the objective medical evidence does not demonstrate that the Claimant suffers from nerve root compression resulting in loss of motor strength or reflexes, or resulting in a positive straight leg test. The objective medical evidence does not demonstrate that the Claimant has been diagnosed with spinal arachnoiditis. The objective medical evidence does not support a finding that the Claimant's impairment has resulted in an inability to ambulate effectively.

The Claimant's impairment failed to meet the listing for arthritis under section 14.09 Inflammatory Arthritis, because the objective medical evidence does not demonstrate an impairment involving a weight-bearing joint and resulting in an inability to ambulate effectively. The objective evidence does not support a finding that the Claimant lacks the ability to perform fine and gross movements with each upper extremity.

A consultative physician found the Claimant to have a normal range of motion, intact dexterity, and a well preserved grip. A treating physician found the Claimant to be incapable of lifting anything, or standing, grasping, reaching, pushing, pulling, or fine manipulation.

A treating source's medical opinions are given controlling weight as defined in 20 CFR 404.1527(d)(2) and 416.927(d)(2), when it is well supported by medically acceptable clinical and laboratory diagnostic techniques. Social Security Rule 96-2p (SSR – 96-2p).

The reports of a treating physician are generally given greater weight than those of a consultative physician. In this case, the opinions of the treating physician are not supported by any medical records contained in the hearing record. The treating physician indicated that the Claimant was most recently treated on [REDACTED]. The Claimant applied for Medical Assistance (MA) on February 24, 2014. The treating physician refers to injuries for which there is no evidence of treatment contained in the hearing record.

The Claimant's impairment failed to meet the listing for depression under section 12.04 Affective disorders, because the objective medical evidence does not demonstrate that the Claimant suffers from marked restrictions of activities of daily living or social functioning. The objective medical evidence does not demonstrate that the Claimant suffers from repeated episodes of decompensation or is unable to function outside a highly supportive living arrangement. A consultative physician found the Claimant to have moderate symptoms and has moderate difficulty in social and occupational functioning.

The Claimant's impairment failed to meet the listing for a learning disability under section 12.05 Intellectual disability because the objective medical evidence does not contain intelligence quotient (IQ) results that meet or equal the listing.

The evidence does not support a finding that the Claimant's condition meets or equals a listing in the federal regulations for an ulcer.

The medical evidence of the Claimant's condition does not give rise to a finding that she would meet a statutory listing in federal code of regulations 20 CFR Part 404, Subpart P, Appendix 1.

STEP 4

Can the client do the former work that she performed within the last 15 years? If yes, the client is not disabled.

Before considering step four of the sequential evaluation process, a determination is made of the Claimant's residual functional capacity (20 CFR 404.1520(e) and 416.920(c)). An individual's residual functional capacity is her ability to do physical and mental work activities on a sustained basis despite limitations from her impairments. In making this finding, the undersigned must consider all of the Claimant's impairments, including impairments that are not severe (20 CFR 404.1520(e), 404.1545, 416.920(e), and 416.945; SSR 96-8p).

Next, a determination is made on whether the Claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform the requirements of her past relevant work (20 CFR 404.1520(f) and 416.920(f)). The term past relevant work means work performed (either as the Claimant actually performed it or as it is generally performed in the national economy) within the last 15 years or 15 years prior to the date that disability must be established. In addition, the work must have lasted long enough for the Claimant to learn to do the job and have been SGA (20 CFR 404.1560(b), 404.1565, 416.960(b), and 416.965). If the Claimant has the residual functional capacity to do her past relevant work, the Claimant is not disabled. If the Claimant is unable to do any past relevant work or does not have any past relevant work, the analysis proceeds to the fifth and last step.

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, we classify jobs as sedentary, light, medium, and heavy. These terms have the same meaning as they have in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, published by the Department of Labor... 20 CFR 416.967.

Light work. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 pounds. Even though the weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls.... 20 CFR 416.967(b).

To determine the skills required in the national economy of work you are able to do, occupations are classified as unskilled, semi-skilled, and skilled. These terms have the same meaning as defined in. 20 CFR 416.968.

Unskilled work. Unskilled work is work which needs little or no judgment to do simple duties that can be learned on the job in a short period of time. The job may or may not require considerable strength. For example, we consider jobs unskilled if the primary work duties are handling, feeding and offbearing (that is, placing or removing materials from machines which are automatic or operated by others), or machine tending, and a person can usually learn to do the job in 30 days, and little specific vocational preparation and judgment are needed. A person does not gain work skills by doing unskilled jobs. 20 CFR 416.968(a).

The evidence on the record contains the findings of a consultative physician that determined that the Claimant has a normal range of motion, her dexterity is intact, and her grip strength is well preserved. The evidence on the record also contains the finding of a treating physician that the Claimant is incapable of any lifting, standing, grasping, reaching, pushing, pulling, or fine manipulation. While the general rule is that the findings of a treating physician are to be given greater weight than those of a consultative physician, this Administrative Law Judge finds that the medical opinions of the treating physician are not supported by the evidence on the record.

The Claimant has a history of frequent asthma attacks and being treated in hospital emergency rooms. The evidence on the record indicates that the Claimant condition generally improves within hours of treatment to the point that she can be released.

After careful consideration of the entire record, this Administrative Law Judge finds that the Claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform light work as defined in 20 CFR 404.1567 and 416.967.

The Claimant has past relevant work experience as an inspector where she was required to walk and lift objects weighing as much as 80 pounds.

There is no evidence upon which this Administrative Law Judge could base a finding that the Claimant is able to perform work substantially similar to work performed in the past.

STEP 5

At Step 5, the burden of proof shifts to the Department to establish that the Claimant has the Residual Functional Capacity (RFC) for Substantial Gainful Activity.

Does the client have the Residual Functional Capacity (RFC) to perform other work according to the guidelines set forth at 20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix 2, Sections 200.00-204.00? If yes, client is not disabled.

At the last step of the sequential evaluation process (20 CFR 404.1520(g) and 416.920(g)), a determination is made whether the Claimant is able to do any other work considering her residual functional capacity, age, education, and work experience. If the Claimant is able to do other work, she is not disabled. If the Claimant is not able to do other work and meets the duration requirement, she is disabled.

The residual functional capacity is what an individual can do despite limitations. All impairments will be considered in addition to ability to meet certain demands of jobs in the national economy. Physical demands, mental demands, sensory requirements and other functions will be evaluated.... 20 CFR 416.945(a).

The objective medical evidence indicates that the Claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform some other less strenuous tasks than in her prior employment and that she is physically able to do less strenuous tasks if demanded of her. The Claimant's testimony as to her limitations indicates that she should be able to perform light.

Medical vocational guidelines have been developed and can be found in 20 CFR, Subpart P, Appendix 2, Section 200.00. When the facts coincide with a particular guideline, the guideline directs a conclusion as to disability. 20 CFR 416.969.

Claimant is 49-years-old, a younger person, under age 50, with a high school education, and a history of unskilled work. Based on the objective medical evidence of record Claimant has the residual functional capacity to perform light work. Medical Assistance (M.A.) is denied using Vocational Rule 202.20 as a guideline.

The federal regulations include the following guidelines for evaluating age.

We will use each of the age categories that applies to you during the period for which we must determine if you are disabled. We will not apply the age categories mechanically in a borderline situation. If you are within a few days to a few months of reaching an older age category, and using the older age category would result in a determination or decision that you are disabled, we will consider whether to use the older age category after evaluating the overall impact of all the factors of your case. 20 CFR 416.963(b).

If the Claimant is evaluated as a person closely approaching advanced age, 50-54, with a high school education, a history of unskilled work, and the ability to perform light work, then Medical Assistance (M.A.) is denied using Vocational Rule 202.13 as a guideline.

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, if any, finds Claimant  disabled  not disabled for purposes of the Medical Assistance (M.A.) benefits.
