This matter is now before the undersigned for a final determination.

ISSUE

Whether the Department properly determined that Claimant was not disabled for purposes of the Medical Assistance (MA) and State Disability Assistance (SDA) benefit programs?

FINDINGS OF FACT

5. On April 10, 2014, and July 12, 2014, the State Hearing Review Team (SHRT) found Claimant not disabled.
6. Claimant alleged physical disabling impairments of chronic back and neck trouble, hypertension and low blood sugar.
7. Claimant alleged mental disabling impairments due to narcolepsy, bipolar, panic disorder, and borderline personality disorder.
8. At the time of hearing, Claimant was 51 years old with a [REDACTED], birth date; was 5'8" in height; and weighed 215 pounds.
9. Claimant completed the 10th grade, obtained a GED, and has a work history of temporary employment as a general machine operator.
10. Claimant's impairments have lasted, or are expected to last, continuously for a period of 12 months or longer.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), Department of Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and Department of Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act, 42 USC 1396-1396w-5; 42 USC 1315; the Affordable Care Act of 2010, the collective term for the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, Pub. L. No. 111-148, as amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010, Pub. L. No. 111-152; and 42 CFR 430.10-.25. The Department (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the MA program pursuant to 42 CFR 435, MCL 400.10, and MCL 400.105-.112k.

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program, which provides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. The Department administers the SDA program pursuant to 42 CFR 435, MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180. A person is considered disabled for SDA purposes if the person has a physical or mental impairment which meets federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability standards for at least ninety days. Receipt of SSI benefits based on disability or blindness, or the receipt of MA benefits based on disability or blindness, automatically qualifies an individual as disabled for purposes of the SDA program.

Disability is defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905(a). The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish it through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 416.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a). Similarly, conclusory statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, is insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927.

When determining disability, the federal regulations require several factors to be considered including: (1) the location/duration/frequency/intensity of an applicant's pain; (2) the type/dosage/effectiveness/side effects of any medication the applicant takes to relieve pain; (3) any treatment other than pain medication that the applicant has received to relieve pain; and (4) the effect of the applicant's pain on his or her ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

In order to determine whether or not an individual is disabled, federal regulations require a five-step sequential evaluation process be utilized. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1). The five-step analysis requires the trier of fact to consider an individual's current work activity; the severity of the impairment(s) both in duration and whether it meets or equals a listed impairment in Appendix 1; residual functional capacity to determine whether an individual can perform past relevant work; and residual functional capacity along with vocational factors (i.e. age, education, and work experience) to determine if an individual can adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945.

If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step, a determination or decision is made with no need evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at a particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If an impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment, an individual's residual functional capacity is assessed before moving from step three to step four. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. Residual functional capacity is the most an individual can do despite the limitations based on all relevant evidence. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(1). An individual's residual functional capacity assessment is evaluated at both steps four and five. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). In determining disability, an individual's functional capacity to perform basic work activities is evaluated and if found that the individual has the ability to perform basic work activities without significant limitation, disability will not be found. 20 CFR 416.994(b)(1)(iv). In general, the individual has the responsibility to prove disability. 20 CFR 416.912(a). An impairment or combination of impairments is not severe if it does not significantly limit an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.921(a). The individual has the responsibility to provide evidence of prior work experience; efforts to work; and any other factor showing how the impairment affects the ability to work. 20 CFR 416.912(c)(3)(5)(6).

As outlined above, the first step looks at the individual's current work activity. In the record presented, the Claimant is not involved in substantial gainful activity. Therefore, Claimant is not ineligible for disability benefits under Step 1.

The severity of the Claimant's alleged impairment(s) is considered under Step 2. The Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairments. In order to be considered disabled for MA purposes, the impairment must be severe. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(b). An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it significantly limits an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities regardless of age, education and work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(c). Basic work activities means the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. 20 CFR 416.921(b). Examples include:

1. Physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling;
2. Capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking;
3. Understanding, carrying out, and remembering simple instructions;
4. Use of judgment;
5. Responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and
6. Dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

Id.

The second step allows for dismissal of a disability claim obviously lacking in medical merit. Higgs v Bowen, 880 F2d 860, 862 (CA 6, 1988). The severity requirement may still be employed as an administrative convenience to screen out claims that are totally groundless solely from a medical standpoint. Id. at 863 citing Farris v Sec of Health and Human Services, 773 F2d 85, 90 n.1 (CA 6, 1985). An impairment qualifies as non-severe only if, regardless of a Claimant's age, education, or work experience, the impairment would not affect the Claimant's ability to work. Salmi v Sec of Health and Human Services, 774 F2d 685, 692 (CA 6, 1985).

In the present case, Claimant alleges disability due to chronic back and neck trouble, hypertension, low blood sugar, narcolepsy, bipolar, panic disorder, and borderline personality disorder. While some older medical records were submitted and have been reviewed, the focus of this analysis will be on the more recent medical evidence.

A June 16, 2014 Medication Review note documents Claimant's thought content was logical and delusional. The delusions were paranoid. Claimant reported low energy, increased black outs, and hypersomnia. Medication was to be adjusted as mood was more stable but a medication was causing Claimant to be very sedated. Claimant's diagnosis included bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, and borderline personality disorder. Claimant's Global Assessment of Functioning (GAF) was 45.

A June 2, 2014 Medication Review note documents Claimant's activity was decreased, attention was decreased and delusions were absent. Claimant reported black outs twice per week and hypersomnia. Medications were adjusted. Claimant's diagnosis included bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, and borderline personality disorder. Claimant's GAF was 45.

A May 14, 2014 Medication Review note documents Claimant was more hypomanic with medication changes. It was noted Claimant has a traumatic brain injury. Medications were adjusted. Claimant's diagnosis included bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, and borderline personality disorder. Claimant's GAF was 45.

An April 2, 2014 Medication Review note documents Claimant reported being a little more depressed than last time and having trouble with erectile dysfunction. Medications were adjusted. Claimant's diagnosis included bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, and borderline personality disorder. Claimant's GAF was 45.

A January 8, 2014 Medication Review note documents Claimant was doing much better but changes were made to the timing of his medications. Claimant reported that over the holidays he did not spend much time at his mother's house because there were too many people there. Claimant's diagnosis included bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, and borderline personality disorder. Claimant's GAF was 45.

On October 12, 2013, Claimant attended a consultative physical examination. Claimant's blood pressure was noted to be dangerously elevated at 158/120. Claimant was noted to be sleeping while sitting in a chair in the exam room when the examiner entered. Grip and pincher strength was intact graded at 5/5. Dexterity appeared unimpaired. Claimant demonstrated no difficulty getting on/off the exam table, heel and toe walking, squatting and arising, balancing, or performing tandem walk.

On October 11, 2013, Claimant attended a consultative psychological examination. Axis I diagnoses were schizoaffective disorder bipolar type and panic disorder. Axis II diagnosis was borderline personality disorder with agoraphobia. Claimant's GAF was 48. Claimant's prognosis was poor and current symptom severity was judged to preclude Claimant from employment at this time.

An October 7, 2013 doctor's visit note documents Claimant had a drop attack while running and when he woke up he was sitting and his ankle hurt. Other diagnoses in the current and past medical history included hypertension, unspecified disorder of thyroid, migraine, asthma, syncope, schizoaffective disorder, hypersomnia, obstructive sleep apnea, and hyperlipidemia.

An October 2, 2013 Medication Review note documents Claimant having increased auditory hallucinations, paranoia, anxiety and depression. Medications were adjusted.

Claimant's diagnosis included bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, and borderline personality disorder. Claimant's GAF was 45.

Older records from ongoing treatment providers also indicate mental health conditions that disable Claimant from employment.

As previously noted, Claimant bears the burden to present sufficient objective medical evidence to substantiate the alleged disabling impairment(s). As summarized above, Claimant has presented medical evidence establishing that he does have some limitations on the ability to perform basic work activities. The medical evidence has established that the Claimant has an impairment, or combination thereof, that has more than a de minimis effect on the Claimant's basic work activities. Further, the impairments have lasted continuously for twelve months; therefore, the Claimant is not disqualified from receipt of MA-P benefits under Step 2.

In the third step of the sequential analysis of a disability claim, the trier of fact must determine if the Claimant's impairment, or combination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. The evidence confirms recent diagnosis and treatment of bipolar I disorder, panic disorder with agoraphobia, borderline personality disorder, and hypertension.

Based on the objective medical evidence, considered listings included: 4.00 Cardiovascular System and 12.00 Mental Disorders.

The medical evidence was sufficient to meet the intent and severity requirements of listings 12.04 and/or 12.06. Since October 2013, Claimant's GAF was 45-48 as documented by both the treating provider and the independent examiner. This GAF range indicates serious symptoms and/or serious impairment in social, occupational or school functioning. Claimant's medications have been adjusted at each review. The most recent medication review documented paranoid delusions as well as ongoing black outs and hypersomnia. Accordingly, the Claimant is found disabled, at Step 3.

In this case, the Claimant is also found disabled for purposes SDA benefits as the objective medical evidence also establishes a physical or mental impairment that met the federal SSI disability standard with the shortened duration of 90 days. In light of the foregoing, it is found that Claimant's impairments did preclude work at the above stated level for at least 90 days.

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, if any, finds Claimant disabled for purposes of the MA and SDA benefit programs.
