 2009

 Case No.:
 July 16, 2014

 Hearing Date:
 July 16, 2014

 County:
 Macomb (20)

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Christian Gardocki

HEARING DECISION

Following Claimant's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 7 CFR 273.15 to 273.18; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; 45 CFR 99.1 to 99.33; and 45 CFR 205.10. After due notice, an in-person hearing was held on July 16, 2014, from Warren, Michigan. Participants included the above-named Claimant. The second second

ISSUE

The issue is whether DHS properly denied Claimant's application for Medical Assistance (MA) for the reason that Claimant is not a disabled individual.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

- 1. On Marcon, Claimant applied for MA benefits, including retroactive MA benefits from 8/2013.
- 2. Claimant's only basis for MA benefits was as a disabled individual.
- 3. On Mathematical, the Medical Review Team (MRT) determined that Claimant was not a disabled individual (see Exhibits 8-9).

- 4. On Mattern, DHS denied Claimant's application for MA benefits and mailed a Notice of Case Action (Exhibits 4-5; 6-7) informing Claimant of the denial.
- 5. On Claimant's AHR requested a hearing disputing the denial of MA benefits.
- 6. On Determined, SHRT determined that Claimant was not a disabled individual, in part, by reliance on a Disability Determination Explanation and Medical-Vocational Rule 203.22.
- 7. As of the date of the administrative hearing, Claimant was a 52 year old female with a height of 5'4" and weight of 108 pounds.
- 8. Claimant has a relevant history of alcohol abuse.
- 9. Claimant's highest education year completed was the 12th grade.
- 10. As of the date of the administrative hearing, Claimant was an ongoing Healthy Michigan Plan recipient since 4/2014.
- 11. Claimant alleged disability based on impairments and issues including pancreatitis, anxiety, pain related to stents, and Bowen's disease.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by the Title XIX of the Social Security Act, 42 USC 1396-1396w-5, and is implemented by 42 CFR 400.200 to 1008.59. The Department of Human Services (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10 and MCL 400.105. Department policies are contained in the Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM) and Department of Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The Medicaid program is comprised of several sub-programs which fall under one of two categories; one category is FIP-related and the second category is SSI-related. BEM 105 (10/2010), p. 1. To receive MA under an SSI-related category, the person must be aged (65 or older), blind, disabled, entitled to Medicare or formerly blind or disabled. Id. Families with dependent children, caretaker relatives of dependent children, persons under age 21 and pregnant, or recently pregnant, women receive MA under FIP-related categories. Id. AMP is an MA program available to persons not eligible for Medicaid through the SSI-related or FIP-related categories though DHS does always offer the program to applicants. It was not disputed that Claimant's only potential category for Medicaid eligibility would be as a disabled individual.

Disability for purposes of MA benefits is established if one of the following circumstances applies:

- by death (for the month of death);
- the applicant receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits;
- SSI benefits were recently terminated due to financial factors;
- the applicant receives Retirement Survivors and Disability Insurance (RSDI) on the basis of being disabled; or
- RSDI eligibility is established following denial of the MA benefit application (under certain circumstances).
   BEM 260 (7/2012) pp. 1-2

There was no evidence that any of the above circumstances apply to Claimant. Accordingly, Claimant may not be considered for Medicaid eligibility without undergoing a medical review process which determines whether Claimant is a disabled individual. Id., p. 2.

Generally, state agencies such as DHS must use the same definition of SSI disability as found in the federal regulations. 42 CFR 435.540(a). Disability is federally defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity (SGA) by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905. A functionally identical definition of disability is found under DHS regulations. BEM 260 (7/2012), p. 8.

Substantial gainful activity means a person does the following:

- Performs significant duties, and
- Does them for a reasonable length of time, and
- Does a job normally done for pay or profit. Id., p. 9.

Significant duties are duties used to do a job or run a business. Id. They must also have a degree of economic value. Id. The ability to run a household or take care of oneself does not, on its own, constitute substantial gainful activity. Id.

The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish a disability through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CRF 413.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a).

Federal regulations describe a sequential five step process that is to be followed in determining whether a person is disabled. 20 CFR 416.920. If there is no finding of disability or lack of disability at each step, the process moves to the next step. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4).

The first step in the process considers a person's current work activity. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(i). A person who is earning more than a certain monthly amount is ordinarily considered to be engaging in SGA. The monthly amount depends on whether a person is statutorily blind or not. "Current" work activity is interpreted to include all time since the date of application. The 2013 monthly income limit considered SGA for non-blind individuals is $1,040.

Claimant credibly denied performing any employment since the date of the MA application; no evidence was submitted to contradict Claimant's testimony. Based on the presented evidence, it is found that Claimant is not performing SGA and has not performed SGA since the date of MA application. Accordingly, the disability analysis may proceed to step two.

The second step in the disability evaluation is to determine whether a severe medically determinable physical or mental impairment exists to meet the 12 month duration requirement. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(ii). The impairments may be combined to meet the severity requirement. If a severe impairment is not found, then a person is deemed not disabled. Id.

The impairments must significantly limit a person's basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(5)(c). "Basic work activities" refers to the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. Id. Examples of basic work activities include:

- physical functions (e.g. walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling)
- capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking, understanding; carrying out, and remembering simple instructions
- use of judgment
- responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and/or
- dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

Generally, federal courts have imposed a de minimus standard upon claimants to establish the existence of a severe impairment. Grogan v. Barnhart, 399 F.3d 1257, 1263 (10th Cir. 2005); Hinkle v. Apfel, 132 F.3d 1349, 1352 (10th Cir. 1997). Higgs v Bowen, 880 F2d 860, 862 (6th Cir. 1988). Similarly, Social Security Ruling 85-28 has been interpreted so that a claim may be denied at step two for lack of a severe impairment only when the medical evidence establishes a slight abnormality or combination of slight abnormalities that would have no more than a minimal effect on an individual's ability to work even if the individual's age, education, or work experience were specifically considered. Barrientos v. Secretary of Health and Human Servs., 820 F.2d 1, 2 (1st Cir. 1987). Social Security Ruling 85-28 has been clarified so that the step two severity requirement is intended "to do no more than screen out groundless claims." McDonald v. Secretary of Health and Human Servs., 795 F.2d 1118, 1124 (1st Cir. 1986).

SSA specifically notes that age, education, and work experience are not considered at the second step of the disability analysis. 20 CFR 416.920 (5)(c). In determining whether Claimant's impairments amount to a severe impairment, all other relevant evidence may be considered. The analysis will begin with a summary of the relevant submitted medical documentation.

A Medical Examination Report (Exhibits 138-140) dated was presented. The form was authored by an internal medicine physician with an approximate ten year history of treating Claimant. The physician provided diagnoses of anorexia, anxiety, and progressive Bowen's disease. An impression was given that Claimant's condition was deteriorating due to anxiety and Bowen's disease. It was noted that Claimant can meet household needs.

Hospital documents (Exhibits 27-114) from an admission dated were presented. It was noted that Claimant presented with complaints of abdominal pain. It was noted that Claimant lost 29 pounds since getting laid-off from work in 2/2013. It was noted that Claimant drank 4-5 drinks per days since losing her job. It was noted that Claimant's weight loss and abnormal liver enzymes were probably alcohol-related since there was no evidence of any other major issues. It was noted that a CT of Claimant's abdomen revealed multiple pseudocysts. It was noted that imaging was not indicative of necrotizing pancreatitis. Noted diagnoses included the following: acute on chronic pancreatitis, anxiety, Bowen's cancer, HTN, and EtOH use. Discharge instructions noted that Claimant received treatment for Bowen's cancer. In 8/2013, it was noted that Claimant received surgery and was awaiting a second surgery after she had insurance. Claimant conceded that Bowen's disease was not an ongoing impairment. A discharge date was not apparent.

Hospital documents (Exhibits 115-130) from an admission dated were presented. It was noted that Claimant presented with complaints of bilateral leg and foot swelling, ongoing for four-to-five days. It was noted that antibiotics were used to treat pseudocysts. A diagnosis of pancreatitis was noted. It was noted that Claimant tolerated a diet and that Claimant's pain was controlled with medication. It was also noted that Claimant ambulated without difficulty. A discharge date of was noted.

Hospital documents (Exhibits A1-A6) from an admission dated were presented. It was noted that Claimant presented with a complaint of abdominal pain. It was noted that injections were suggested to treat pseudocysts but Claimant could not afford them. It was noted that Claimant's lack of insurance and compliance were concerns; it is uncertain if noncompliance specifically referred to medication noncompliance. A discharge diagnosis of acute abdominal pain was noted.

A Medical Examination Report (Exhibits 10-11) dated was presented. The form was authored by an internal medicine physician with an approximate one year history of treating Claimant. The physician provided diagnoses of chronic pancreatitis and cirrhosis. It was noted that Claimant has upper right quadrant epigastric tenderness. The following was also noted: normal gait, no neurological deficits, normal mood, and no memory loss. An impression was given that Claimant's condition was stable. It was noted that Claimant can meet household needs.

An adult mental status report (Exhibits 161-163) dated was presented. The report was completed by a consultative licensed psychologist. A previous psychiatric hospitalization from "a while back" was noted. Noted observations of Claimant included the following: alert, well-oriented, intermittent tearfulness, mildly labile emotional reaction, impaired formal judgment, and spontaneous and well organized mental activity. Claimant's memory was noted as low average. Axis I diagnoses of recurrent severe major depressive disorder and alcohol use were noted. A guarded prognosis was noted.

Claimant alleged disability, primarily based on pain and restrictions associated with pancreatitis. Presented documents verified that Claimant had three hospitalizations over a period from 8/2013-10/2013, each related to pancreatitis. One of the hospitalizations lasted 24 days. Claimant's history of pancreatitis is consistent with impairments related to pancreatitis. The evidence tended to indicate that ongoing alcohol consumption was not the cause of continuing pain and impairments. Based on the presented evidence, it was established that Claimant has lingering problems related to pancreatitis.

Claimant also alleged impairments related to anxiety. There was a reference that Claimant undergoes psychiatric treatment (see Exhibit 163), however, treatment records were not presented. A diagnosis of severe recurrent depression was verified. Severe depression is consistent with some degree of anxiety and/or functioning problems.

The presented evidence sufficiently verified that Claimant has exertional and nonexertional restrictions since at least 8/2013. The evidence also tended to indicate that Claimant's impairments have lasted longer than 12 months. It is found that Claimant has a severe impairment and the analysis may proceed to step three.

The third step of the sequential analysis requires a determination whether the Claimant's impairment, or combination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(iii). If Claimant's impairments are listed and deemed to meet the 12 month requirement, then the claimant is deemed disabled. If the impairment is unlisted, then the analysis proceeds to the next step.

A listing for affective disorder (Listing 12.04) was considered based on diagnoses of depression. This listing was rejected due to a failure to establish marked restrictions in social functioning, completion of daily activities or concentration. It was also not established that Claimant required a highly supportive living arrangement, suffered repeated episodes of decompensation or that the residual disease process resulted in a marginal adjustment so that even a slight increase in mental demands would cause decompensation.

A listing for weight loss disorder (Listing 5.08) was considered based on Claimant's weight loss from pancreatitis. The listing was rejected because it was not established that Claimant's BMI was less than 17.50 on occasions at least two months part, but within six months.

It is found that Claimant failed to establish meeting a SSA listing. Accordingly, the analysis moves to step four.

The fourth step in analyzing a disability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual functional capacity (RFC) and past relevant employment. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if it is determined that a claimant can perform past relevant work. Id.

Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to learn the position. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(1). Vocational factors of age, education, and work experience, and whether the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). RFC is assessed based on impairment(s), and any related symptoms, such as pain, which may cause physical and mental limitations that affect what can be done in a work setting. RFC is the most that can be done, despite the limitations.

Claimant testified that she spent most of her previous 15 years employed managing a watch repair shop. Claimant testified that her duties involved customer service, answering telephones, and performing watch repairs. Claimant testified that she would have difficulty repairing watches because of shaky arms and hands. Presented evidence was suggestive of anxiety, but not shaky hands or arms that would preclude the performance of Claimant's former employment. For purposes of this decision, Claimant's testimony will be accepted as persuasive.

Claimant testified that she performed part-time employment in bartending. Claimant testified that her bartending employment was always part-time. The evidence was suggestive that Claimant's employment did not amount to SGA.

Based on the presented evidence, it is found that Claimant cannot perform past relevant employment. Accordingly, the analysis may proceed to step five.

In the fifth step in the process, the individual's RFC in conjunction with his or her age, education, and work experience, are considered to determine whether the individual can engage in any other substantial gainful work which exists in the national economy. SSR 83-10. While a vocational expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983).

To determine the physical demands (i.e. exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are classified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 20 CFR 416.967. The definitions for each are listed below.

Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met.

Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b) Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities. Id. An individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id.

Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id.

Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). An individual capable of heavy work is also capable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id.

Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands are considered nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). Examples of non-exertional limitations include difficulty functioning due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating some physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolerate dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching. handling. stooping. climbing, crawling. or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i)-(vi) If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendix 2 do not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(2)

The determination of whether disability exists is based upon the principles in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situations in Appendix 2. Id. In using the rules of Appendix 2, an individual's circumstances, as indicated by the findings with respect to RFC, age, education, and work experience, is compared to the pertinent rule(s).

Given Claimant's age, education and employment history a determination of disability is dependent on Claimant's ability to perform light employment. Social Security Rule 83-10 states that the full range of light work requires standing or walking, off and on, for a total of approximately 6 hours of an 8-hour workday.

Specific walking and lifting restrictions were not provided by medical sources. Claimant testified that she tries to walk a half mile and can lift up to 20 pounds. Claimant testified that she does not require use of a cane or walker for ambulation. Claimant's testimony was generally consistent with an ability to perform light employment.

Evidence of hospitalizations since 10/2013 was not presented. The lack of recent hospitalizations tended to establish that Claimant's health was stabilized. This finding is consistent with Claimant's weight which also appears to have stabilized at 108 pounds. The evidence was insufficient to infer restrictions that would prevent the performance of light employment.

Claimant's psychiatric restrictions were also not apparent. A global assessment functioning level was not provided. Noted conclusions from a consultative examination that Claimant has an unspecified degree of impaired judgment and some memory difficulty are not sufficient to justify finding that Claimant's employment opportunities are notably impaired. It is found that Claimant can perform light employment.

Based on Claimant's exertional work level (light), age (approaching advanced age), education (high school), employment history (unskilled), Medical-Vocational Rule 202.13 is found to apply. This rule dictates a finding that Claimant is not disabled. Accordingly, it is found that DHS properly found Claimant to be not disabled for purposes of MA benefits.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, finds that DHS properly denied Claimant's MA benefit application dated based based on a determination that Claimant is not disabled. The actions taken by DHS are AFFIRMED.

NOTICE OF APPEAL: The claimant may appeal the Decision and Order to Circuit Court within 30 days of the receipt of the Decision and Order or, if a timely Request for Rehearing or Reconsideration was made, within 30 days of the receipt date of the Decision and Order of Reconsideration or Rehearing Decision.

Michigan Administrative Hearing System (MAHS) may order a rehearing or reconsideration on either its own motion or at the request of a party within 30 days of the mailing date of this Decision and Order. MAHS will not order a rehearing or reconsideration on the Department's motion where the final decision cannot be implemented within 90 days of the filing of the original request (60 days for FAP cases).

A Request for Rehearing or Reconsideration may be granted when one of the following exists:

- Newly discovered evidence that existed at the time of the original hearing that could affect the outcome of the original hearing decision;
- Misapplication of manual policy or law in the hearing decision which led to a wrong conclusion;
- Typographical, mathematical or other obvious error in the hearing decision that affects the rights of the client;
- Failure of the ALJ to address in the hearing decision relevant issues raised in the hearing request.

The Department, AHR or the claimant must specify all reasons for the request. MAHS will not review any response to a request for rehearing/reconsideration. A request must be received in MAHS within 30 days of the date the hearing decision is mailed.

The written request must be faxed to (517) 335-6088 and be labeled as follows:

Attention: MAHS Rehearing/Reconsideration Request

If submitted by mail, the written request must be addressed as follows:
