MICHIGAN ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING SYSTEM
ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

Reg. No.: 2014-6366
Issue No.: 2009
Case No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: April 3, 2014
County: Wayne (19)

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Christian Gardocki

HEARING DECISION

Following Claimant's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 7 CFR 273.15 to 273.18; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; 45 CFR 99.1 to 99.33; and 45 CFR 205.10. After due notice, an in-person hearing was held on April 3, 2014, from Inkster, Michigan. Participants included the above-named Claimant. [REDACTED] testified and appeared as Claimant's authorized hearing representative. [REDACTED], Claimant's spouse, testified on behalf of Claimant. Participants on behalf of the Department of Human Services (DHS) included [REDACTED], Medical Contact Worker.

ISSUE

The issue is whether DHS properly denied Claimant's application for Medical Assistance (MA) for the reason that Claimant is not a disabled individual.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On [REDACTED] Claimant applied for MA benefits, including retroactive MA benefits from 12/2012.
2. Claimant's only basis for MA benefits was as a disabled individual.
3. On [REDACTED], the Medical Review Team (MRT) determined that Claimant was not a disabled individual (see Exhibits 7-8).

4. On [REDACTED], DHS denied Claimant's application for MA benefits and mailed a Notice of Case Action informing Claimant of the denial.
5. On [REDACTED], Claimant's AHR requested a hearing disputing the denial of MA benefits.
6. On [REDACTED], SHRT determined that Claimant was a disabled individual, effective 12/2013, and that Claimant was not a disabled individual before 12/2013, in part, based on application of Medical-Vocational Rule 201.21.
7. On an unspecified date, DHS processed Claimant's MA eligibility based on a disability effective date of 12/2013.
8. As of the date of the administrative hearing, Claimant was a 50-year-old female with a height of 5'0" and weight of 310 pounds.
9. Claimant has no known relevant history of alcohol or illegal substance abuse.
10. Claimant's highest education year completed was the 12th grade.
11. As of the date of the administrative hearing, Claimant was eligible for Medicaid subject to a deductible.
12. Claimant alleged disability based on impairments and issues including back pain, depression and hip pain.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Medical Assistance (MA) program is established by the Title XIX of the Social Security Act, 42 USC 1396-1396w-5, and is implemented by 42 CFR 400.200 to 1008.59. The Department of Human Services (formerly known as the Family Independence Agency) administers the MA program pursuant to MCL 400.10 and MCL 400.105. Department policies are contained in the Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM) and Department of Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) and Department of Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

Prior to a substantive analysis of Claimant's hearing request, it should be noted that Claimant's AHR noted special arrangements in order to participate in the hearing; specifically, an in-person hearing was requested. Claimant's AHR's request was granted and the hearing was conducted accordingly.

It was not disputed that Claimant was found to be disabled by DHS beginning 12/2013. Thus, the only period of dispute concerns the earliest date in Claimant's retroactive MA request (12/2012) through the month before DHS found Claimant to be disabled (11/2013).

The Medicaid program is comprised of several sub-programs which fall under one of two categories; one category is FIP-related and the second category is SSI-related. BEM 105 (10/2010), p. 1. To receive MA under an SSI-related category, the person must be aged (65 or older), blind, disabled, entitled to Medicare or formerly blind or disabled. Id. Families with dependent children, caretaker relatives of dependent children, persons under age 21 and pregnant, or recently pregnant, women receive MA under FIP-related categories. Id. AMP is an MA program available to persons not eligible for Medicaid through the SSI-related or FIP-related categories though DHS does always offer the program to applicants. It was not disputed that Claimant's only potential category for Medicaid eligibility would be as a disabled individual.

Disability for purposes of MA benefits is established if one of the following circumstances applies:

- by death (for the month of death);
- the applicant receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits;
- SSI benefits were recently terminated due to financial factors;
- the applicant receives Retirement Survivors and Disability Insurance (RSDI) on the basis of being disabled; or
- RSDI eligibility is established following denial of the MA benefit application (under certain circumstances).

BEM 260 (7/2012) pp. 1-2

There was no evidence that any of the above circumstances apply to Claimant. Accordingly, Claimant may not be considered for Medicaid eligibility without undergoing a medical review process which determines whether Claimant is a disabled individual. Id. at 2.

Generally, state agencies such as DHS must use the same definition of SSI disability as found in the federal regulations. 42 CFR 435.540(a). Disability is federally defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity (SGA) by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905. A functionally identical definition of disability is found under DHS regulations. BEM 260 (7/2012), p. 8.

Substantial gainful activity means a person does the following:

- Performs significant duties, and
- Does them for a reasonable length of time, and
- Does a job normally done for pay or profit. Id. at 9.

Significant duties are duties used to do a job or run a business. Id. They must also have a degree of economic value. Id. The ability to run a household or take care of oneself does not, on its own, constitute substantial gainful activity. Id.

The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish a disability through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 413.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a).

Federal regulations describe a sequential five step process that is to be followed in determining whether a person is disabled. 20 CFR 416.920. If there is no finding of disability or lack of disability at each step, the process moves to the next step. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4).

The first step in the process considers a person's current work activity. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(i). A person who is earning more than a certain monthly amount is ordinarily considered to be engaging in SGA. The monthly amount depends on whether a person is statutorily blind or not. "Current" work activity is interpreted to include all time since the date of application. The 2012 monthly income limit considered SGA for non-blind individuals is $1,010.

Claimant credibly denied performing any employment since the date of the MA application; no evidence was submitted to contradict Claimant's testimony. Based on the presented evidence, it is found that Claimant is not performing SGA and has not performed SGA since the date of MA application. Accordingly, the disability analysis may proceed to step two.

The second step in the disability evaluation is to determine whether a severe medically determinable physical or mental impairment exists to meet the 12 month duration requirement. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(ii). The impairments may be combined to meet the severity requirement. If a severe impairment is not found, then a person is deemed not disabled. Id.

The impairments must significantly limit a person's basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(5)(c). "Basic work activities" refers to the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. Id. Examples of basic work activities include:

- physical functions (e.g. walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling)
- capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking, understanding; carrying out, and remembering simple instructions
- use of judgment
- responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and/or
- dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

Generally, federal courts have imposed a de minimus standard upon claimants to establish the existence of a severe impairment. Grogan v. Barnhart, 399 F.3d 1257, 1263 (10th Cir. 2005); Hinkle v. Apfel, 132 F.3d 1349, 1352 (10th Cir. 1997). Higgs v

Bowen, 880 F.2d 860, 862 (6th Cir. 1988). Similarly, Social Security Ruling 85-28 has been interpreted so that a claim may be denied at step two for lack of a severe impairment only when the medical evidence establishes a slight abnormality or combination of slight abnormalities that would have no more than a minimal effect on an individual's ability to work even if the individual's age, education, or work experience were specifically considered. Barrientos v. Secretary of Health and Human Servs., 820 F.2d 1, 2 (1st Cir. 1987). Social Security Ruling 85-28 has been clarified so that the step two severity requirement is intended "to do no more than screen out groundless claims." McDonald v. Secretary of Health and Human Servs., 795 F.2d 1118, 1124 (1st Cir. 1986).

SSA specifically notes that age, education, and work experience are not considered at the second step of the disability analysis. 20 CFR 416.920 (5)(c). In determining whether Claimant's impairments amount to a severe impairment, all other relevant evidence may be considered. The analysis will begin with background information from Claimant's testimony and a summary of the relevant submitted medical documentation.

Claimant testified that she has severe back pain, from no specific incident. Claimant testified that her pain has worsened through the years. Claimant stated that she treats her pain with medication though she stated the medication does not alleviate much pain. Claimant also testified that she sees a physician when it is financially feasible.

Various lab results (Exhibits 19-25; 29-30; 34-41) were presented. The lab results were not accompanied by medical analysis and not deemed to be relevant to a claim of disability.

Various treating physician records (Exhibits 42-45) from 2004 were presented. Claimant's physician noted a possible goiter with apparent symptoms of pressure in neck. An impression of enlarged thyroid lobes bilaterally was noted.

A Consult Note (Exhibit 33) dated [REDACTED] was presented. An impression of a suspected peptic ulcer was noted.

An Operative Report (Exhibit 32) dated [REDACTED] was presented. A diagnosis of GERD was noted. It was noted that Claimant underwent an esophagogastroduodenoscopy. It was noted that no complications occurred.

An x-ray report (Exhibit 28) dated [REDACTED] of Claimant's lumbar spine was presented. It was noted that there was neither a fracture nor subluxation. Mild loss of disc space at L5-S1 was noted.

A radiology report (Exhibit 27) dated [REDACTED] was presented. It was noted that the exam was given in response to a cyst complaint. An impression of a heterogeneous goiter was noted.

An MRI report (Exhibits 26-2) dated 4/30/08 of Claimant's lumbosacral spine was presented. An impression of disc protrusion with mild effacement of the adjacent thecal sac was noted at L5-S1. Early degenerative changes were noted at L4-L5 and L5-S1. No evidence of disc herniation or stenosis was noted.

Hospital records (Exhibits 78-81; 85-90) from an encounter dated [REDACTED] were presented. It was noted that Claimant presented with complaints of a cough, sore throat and fever. Primary diagnoses of acute bronchitis and hypoxia were noted. Other noted diagnoses included: morbid obesity, history of diabetes mellitus and tobacco abuse.

A Medical Examination Report (Exhibits 17-18) dated [REDACTED] from Claimant's treating physician was presented. The physician noted an approximate 9-year history of treating Claimant. Claimant's physician noted diagnoses of lower back and hip pain. An impression was given that Claimant's condition was stable. Claimant's physician noted that Claimant could occasionally lift less than 10 pounds. Claimant's physician noted that Claimant could stand and/or walk less than 2 hours per 8-hour day. It was noted that Claimant did not have a medical need for ambulation assistance devices. It was noted that Claimant could not perform repetitive pushing/pulling but other listed repetitive actions were acceptable. No mental limitations were noted. It was noted that Claimant took Metformin, Zantac and two other medications. It was noted that Claimant can meet household needs.

Handwritten physician notes (Exhibits 48-76) were presented. The notes covered several appointments ranging from [REDACTED] through [REDACTED]. On [REDACTED], it was noted that Claimant's blood work was normal. Complaints of depression were noted. An impression was noted that Claimant was morbidly obese. The documents were not otherwise notable other than showing medication refills and consistent complaints of back pain.

Claimant testified that she has back and hip pain, which prevents her from working. Radiology of Claimant's lumbar verified abnormalities that would reasonably restrict Claimant in standing, bending and lifting. The restrictions were verified to have lasted since at least 12/2012 and to have continued for longer than 12 months.

As it was found that Claimant established significant impairment to basic work activities for a period longer than 12 months, it is found that Claimant established having a severe impairment. Accordingly, the disability analysis may move to step three.

The third step of the sequential analysis requires a determination whether the Claimant's impairment, or combination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(iii). If Claimant's impairments are listed and deemed to meet the 12 month requirement, then the claimant is deemed disabled. If the impairment is unlisted, then the analysis proceeds to the next step.

A listing for spinal disorders (Listing 1.04) was considered based on Claimant's LBP complaints. Radiology verified abnormalities but stenosis and nerve root compromise were specifically noted as absent (see Exhibit 26).

A listing for affective disorder (Listing 12.04) was considered based on a diagnosis of depression. This listing was rejected due to a failure to establish marked restrictions in social functioning, completion of daily activities or concentration. It was also not established that Claimant required a highly supportive living arrangement, suffered repeated episodes of decompensation or that the residual disease process resulted in a marginal adjustment so that even a slight increase in mental demands would cause decompensation.

It is found that Claimant failed to establish meeting a SSA listing. Accordingly, the analysis moves to step four.

The fourth step in analyzing a disability claim requires an assessment of the Claimant's residual functional capacity (RFC) and past relevant employment. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if it is determined that a claimant can perform past relevant work. Id.

Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to learn the position. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(1). Vocational factors of age, education, and work experience, and whether the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). RFC is assessed based on impairment(s), and any related symptoms, such as pain, which may cause physical and mental limitations that affect what can be done in a work setting. RFC is the most that can be done, despite the limitations.

Claimant testified that she may have worked a part-time job several years ago. After checking Claimant's SSA work history. Claimant's spouse testified that Claimant has not worked since 1997. Claimant's spouse's testimony was more reliable and more certain than Claimant's testimony. Without any work history, it can only be found that Claimant cannot return to perform past relevant employment amounting to SGA. Accordingly, the analysis may proceed to step five.

In the fifth step in the process, the individual's RFC in conjunction with his or her age, education, and work experience, are considered to determine whether the individual can engage in any other substantial gainful work which exists in the national economy. SSR 83-10. While a vocational expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983).

To determine the physical demands (i.e. exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are classified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 20 CFR 416.967. The definitions for each are listed below.

Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met.

Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b) Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities. Id. An individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id.

Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id.

Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). An individual capable of heavy work is also capable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id.

Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands are considered nonexertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). Examples of non-exertional limitations include difficulty functioning due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating some physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e. can't tolerate dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i)-(vi) If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendix 2 do not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(2)

The determination of whether disability exists is based upon the principles in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situations in Appendix 2. Id. In using the rules of Appendix 2, an individual's circumstances, as indicated by the findings with respect to RFC, age, education, and work experience, is compared to the pertinent rule(s).

Given Claimant's age, education and employment history a determination of disability is dependent on Claimant's ability to perform sedentary employment. For sedentary employment, periods of standing or walking should generally total no more than about 2 hours of an 8-hour workday. Social Security Rule 83-10.

Claimant's physician restricted Claimant to lifting of less than 10 pounds and determined that Claimant is limited to standing and/or walking less than 2 hours in an 8-hour workday. The restrictions are consistent with an inability to perform sedentary employment.

Though Claimant's physician noted lifting, standing and walking restrictions, sitting restrictions were not noted. Presumably no sitting restrictions were noted because Claimant does not have sitting restrictions. A lack of sitting restrictions is consistent with an ability to perform sedentary employment.

Presented radiology verified lumbar abnormalities. The noted absences of nerve root compromise and stenosis are supportive in finding that Claimant can perform sedentary employment. Descriptions of mild effacement and early degenerative changes are indicative of back pain, but not pain that would preclude the performance of sedentary employment.

It is also problematic for a claim of disability that Claimant has made minimal efforts to minimize her back pain. For example continued tobacco use and morbid obesity were noted problems for Claimant; both are known to increase back discomfort. There were also no attempts at chiropractic care or other coping mechanisms (e.g. stretching, acupuncture, strengthening abdominal muscles...). The evidence was supportive in finding that Claimant can perform sedentary employment.

Overall, the medical evidence was more supportive in finding that Claimant can perform sedentary employment than finding that could not perform sedentary employment. It is found that Claimant can perform sedentary employment.

Claimant also alleged disability, in part due to psychological restrictions. A diagnosis for depression and anti-depressant prescriptions were verified but little other evidence of psychological restrictions were verified. There was not any evidence of previous hospitalizations or ongoing therapy. The evidence was insufficient to find that Claimant is restricted in performing employment due to psychological restrictions.

As noted above, the only period in dispute concerns a time before Claimant turned 50 years old. Thus, the below-cited Medical-Vocational Rule addresses this time period.

Based on Claimant's exertional work level (sedentary), age (younger individual aged 45-49), education (limited but able to communicate in English), employment history (none), Medical-Vocational Rule 201.18 is found to apply. This rule dictates a finding that Claimant is not disabled. Accordingly, it is found that DHS properly found Claimant to be not disabled for purposes of MA benefits for the period of 12/2012-11/2013.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, finds that DHS properly denied Claimant's MA eligibility from 12/2012-11/2013 based on a determination that Claimant is not disabled. The actions taken by DHS are AFFIRMED.
