MICHIGAN ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING SYSTEM
ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

IN THE MATTER OF:

[REDACTED]

MAHS Reg. No.: 15-022423
Issue No.: 4009
Agency Case No.: [REDACTED]
Hearing Date: February 8, 2016
County: Wayne (76)

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: Christian Gardocki

HEARING DECISION

Following Petitioner's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned administrative law judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 7 CFR 273.15 to 273.18; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; 45 CFR 99.1 to 99.33; and 45 CFR 205.10; and Mich Admin Code, R 792.11002. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on February 8, 2016, from Detroit, Michigan. Petitioner appeared and was unrepresented. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) was represented by Renee Jones, medical contact worker.

ISSUE

The issue is whether MDHHS properly denied Petitioner's State Disability Assistance (SDA) eligibility for the reason that Petitioner is not a disabled individual.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The administrative law judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On [REDACTED], Petitioner applied for SDA benefits.
2. Petitioner's only basis for SDA benefits was as a disabled individual.
3. On [REDACTED], the Medical Review Team (MRT) determined that Petitioner was not a disabled individual (see Exhibit 1, pp. 5-8).
4. On [REDACTED], MDHHS denied Petitioner's application for SDA benefits and mailed a Notice of Case Action (exhibit 1, pp. 3-4) informing Petitioner of the denial.

5. On [REDACTED], Petitioner requested a hearing disputing the denial of SDA benefits.
6. As of the date of the administrative hearing, Petitioner was a 53-year-old male.
7. As of the date of the administrative hearing, Petitioner did not have employment earnings amounting to substantial gainful activity.
8. Petitioner's highest education year completed was the 10th grade.
9. Petitioner has a history of unskilled employment, with no known transferrable job skills.
10. Petitioner alleged disability based on neurological restrictions related to a previous stroke.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program which provides financial assistance for disabled persons is established by 2004 PA 344. MDHHS administers the SDA program pursuant to MCL 400.10, et seq., and MAC R 400.3151-400.3180. MDHHS policies for SDA are found in the Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), the Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM) and the Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

SDA provides financial assistance to disabled adults who are not eligible for Family Independence Program (FIP) benefits. BEM 100 (1/2013), p. 4. The goal of the SDA program is to provide financial assistance to meet a disabled person's basic personal and shelter needs. Id. To receive SDA, a person must be disabled, caring for a disabled person, or age 65 or older. BEM 261 (1/2012), p. 1. A person is disabled for SDA purposes if he/she:

- receives other specified disability-related benefits or services, see Other Benefits or Services below, or
- resides in a qualified Special Living Arrangement facility, or
- is certified as unable to work due to mental or physical disability for at least 90 days from the onset of the disability; or
- is diagnosed as having Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS).

Id.

There was no evidence that any of the above circumstances apply to Petitioner. Accordingly, Petitioner may not be considered for SDA eligibility without undergoing a medical review process (see BAM 815) which determines whether Petitioner is a disabled individual. Id., p. 3.

Generally, state agencies such as MDHHS must use the same definition of SSI disability as found in the federal regulations. 42 CFR 435.540(a). Disability is federally defined as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity (SGA) by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. 20 CFR 416.905. SDA differs in that a 90 day period is required to establish disability.

SGA means a person does the following: performs significant duties, does them for a reasonable length of time, and does a job normally done for pay or profit. Id., p. 9. Significant duties are duties used to do a job or run a business. Id. They must also have a degree of economic value. Id. The ability to run a household or take care of oneself does not, on its own, constitute SGA. Id.

The person claiming a physical or mental disability has the burden to establish a disability through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or ability to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments, if a mental disability is alleged. 20 CFR 413.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a).

Federal regulations describe a sequential five step process that is to be followed in determining whether a person is disabled. 20 CFR 416.920. If there is no finding of disability or lack of disability at each step, the process moves to the next step. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4).

The first step in the process considers a person's current work activity. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(i). A person who is earning more than a certain monthly amount is ordinarily considered to be engaging in SGA. The monthly amount depends on whether a person is statutorily blind or not. The 2016 monthly income limit considered SGA for non-blind individuals is $1,130.00.

Petitioner credibly denied performing current employment; no evidence was submitted to contradict Petitioner's testimony. Based on the presented evidence, it is found that Petitioner is not performing SGA. Accordingly, the disability analysis may proceed to the second step.

The second step in the disability evaluation is to determine whether a severe medically determinable physical or mental impairment exists to meet the durational requirement. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(ii). The impairments may be combined to meet the severity requirement. If a severe impairment is not found, then a person is deemed not disabled. Id.

The impairments must significantly limit a person's basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(5)(c). "Basic work activities" refers to the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs. Id. Examples of basic work activities include:

- physical functions (e.g. walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling)
- capacities for seeing, hearing, and speaking, understanding; carrying out, and remembering simple instructions
- use of judgment
- responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and/or
- dealing with changes in a routine work setting.

Generally, federal courts have imposed a de minimus standard upon petitioners to establish the existence of a severe impairment. Grogan v. Barnhart, 399 F.3d 1257, 1263 (10th Cir. 2005); Hinkle v. Apfel, 132 F.3d 1349, 1352 (10th Cir. 1997). Higgs v Bowen, 880 F.2d 860, 862 (6th Cir. 1988). Similarly, Social Security Ruling 85-28 has been interpreted so that a claim may be denied at step two for lack of a severe impairment only when the medical evidence establishes a slight abnormality or combination of slight abnormalities that would have no more than a minimal effect on an individual's ability to work even if the individual's age, education, or work experience were specifically considered. Barrientos v. Secretary of Health and Human Servs., 820 F.2d 1, 2 (1st Cir. 1987). Social Security Ruling 85-28 has been clarified so that the step two severity requirements are intended "to do no more than screen out groundless claims." McDonald v. Secretary of Health and Human Servs., 795 F.2d 1118, 1124 (1st Cir. 1986).

SSA specifically notes that age, education, and work experience are not considered at the second step of the disability analysis. 20 CFR 416.920 (5)(c). In determining whether Petitioner's impairments amount to a severe impairment, all other relevant evidence may be considered. The analysis will begin with a summary of presented medical documentation.

A Medical Examination Report (Exhibit 1, pp. 20-22) dated [REDACTED], was presented. The form was completed by a physical medicine and rehabilitation physician with an approximate 6 month history of treating Petitioner. Petitioner's physician listed a diagnosis of CVA. An impression was given that Petitioner's condition was improving. It was noted that Petitioner can meet household needs. A need for a walking-assistance device was not indicated. Decreased balance, gait abnormality, and weakness were noted in physical examination findings.

Petitioner testified he is disabled, in part, due to vision. Petitioner testified he has an ulcer in his left eye. Zero optical treatment was verified or referenced. A diagnosis was not noted. Petitioner failed to establish a severe impairment related to vision.

Petitioner testified he has a cardiologist whom he last saw 2 months ago. Zero cardiac treatment history was verified. Petitioner failed to establish a severe impairment related to cardiac problems.

Petitioner testified he was hospitalized for 1 month in November 2014 after having a stroke. Petitioner testified that during the hospitalization, a stent was put in his neck and 2 stents were inserted into his heart. Petitioner testified that part of the hospitalization included physical therapy so he could relearn how to walk and talk. Petitioner testified the stroke left him with left-sided numbness. Petitioner testified he sees a neurologist (every 6 months). Petitioner testified his physician recently referred him back to physical therapy.

Petitioner testimony estimated he can walk only 1 block before his hip hurts. Petitioner blamed his limited walking on left-sided numbness which causes his body to have to work harder than it should. Petitioner estimated his standing is restricted to 15-20 minutes, also due to hip pain. Petitioner testified sitting is uncomfortable. Petitioner testified he cannot run at all. Petitioner testified he utilizes a cane.

Petitioner testified he showers himself, but must hold onto something when entering the tub. Petitioner testified he dresses himself, but he takes longer than he did before his stroke. Petitioner testified he can perform simple housework such as washing dishes. Petitioner testified he cannot drive due to bad vision. Petitioner's "significant other" testified Petitioner uses a scooter when they go shopping; she also testified Petitioner has sleeping difficulties due to pain.

Presented evidence was minimal, but a de minimus standard is applicable. Medical documentation sufficiently established Petitioner has some degree of lifting and ambulation restrictions which have persisted since the date of SDA application.

It is found that Petitioner established significant impairment to performing basic work activities for a period longer than 90 days. Accordingly, it is found that Petitioner established having a severe impairment and the disability analysis may proceed to Step 3.

The third step of the sequential analysis requires determining whether the Petitioner's impairment, or combination of impairments, is listed in 20 CFR Part 404, Subpart P, appendix 1. 20 CFR 416.920 (a)(4)(iii). If a petitioner's impairments are listed and deemed to meet the durational requirement, then the petitioner is deemed disabled. If the impairment is unlisted or impairments do not meet listing level requirements, then the analysis proceeds to the next step.

A listing for joint dysfunction (Listing 1.02) was considered based on Petitioner's complaints of knee pain. The listing was rejected due to a failure to establish that Petitioner is unable to ambulate effectively.

A listing for visual acuity (Listing 2.02) was considered based on complaints of poor eyesight. This listing was rejected due to a failure to establish a corrected eyesight of worse than 20/200 in Petitioner's best eye.

It is found that Petitioner failed to establish meeting a SSA listing. Accordingly, the analysis moves to the fourth step.

The fourth step in analyzing a disability claim requires an assessment of the Petitioner's residual functional capacity (RFC) and past relevant employment. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(iv). An individual is not disabled if it is determined that a petitioner can perform past relevant work. Id.

Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was a substantial gainful activity and that lasted long enough for the individual to learn the position. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(1). Vocational factors of age, education, and work experience, and whether the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy is not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3). RFC is assessed based on impairment(s), and any related symptoms, such as pain, which may cause physical and mental limitations that affect what can be done in a work setting. RFC is the most that can be done, despite the limitations.

Petitioner testified he worked from 1997-2014 as a meat cutter. Petitioner testified his employment was all standing. Petitioner testified he was expected to lift 80-90 pound boxes of meat.

Petitioner testified he cannot perform the heavy lifting required of his former employment. Petitioner's testimony was consistent with presented evidence. It is found Petitioner cannot perform his past employment and the analysis may proceed to the final step.

In the fifth step in the process, the individual's RFC in conjunction with his or her age, education, and work experience, are considered to determine whether the individual can engage in any other substantial gainful work which exists in the national economy. SSR 83-10. While a vocational expert is not required, a finding supported by substantial evidence that the individual has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs is needed to meet the burden. O'Banner v Sec of Health and Human Services, 587 F2d 321, 323 (CA 6, 1978). Medical-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix II, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983). To determine the physical demands (i.e. exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, jobs are classified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 20 CFR 416.967.

Sedentary work involves lifting of no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Id. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met.

Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing up to 10 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(b) Even though weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. Id. To be considered capable of performing a full or wide range of light work, an individual must have the ability to do substantially all of these activities. Id. An individual capable of light work is also capable of sedentary work, unless there are additionally limiting factors such as loss of fine dexterity or inability to sit for long periods of time. Id.

Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). An individual capable of performing medium work is also capable of light and sedentary work. Id.

Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). An individual capable of heavy work is also capable of medium, light, and sedentary work. Id.

Finally, very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e). An individual capable of very heavy work is able to perform work under all categories. Id.

Limitations or restrictions which affect the ability to meet the demands of jobs other than strength demands are considered non-exertional. 20 CFR 416.969a(a). Examples of non-exertional limitations include difficulty functioning due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating some physical feature(s) of certain work settings (e.g. can't tolerate dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i)-(vi) If the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendix 2 do not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(2)

The determination of whether disability exists is based upon the principles in the appropriate sections of the regulations, giving consideration to the rules for specific case situations in Appendix 2. Id. In using the rules of Appendix 2, an individual's circumstances, as indicated by the findings with respect to RFC, age, education, and work experience, is compared to the pertinent rule(s).

Given Petitioner's age, education and employment history a determination of disability is dependent on Petitioner's ability to perform light employment. Social Security Rule 83-10 states that the full range of light work requires standing or walking, off and on, for a total of approximately 6 hours of an 8-hour workday.

Physician statements of restrictions were provided. SSR 96-2p states that if a treating source's medical opinion is well-supported and not inconsistent with the other substantial evidence in the case record, it must be given controlling weight (i.e. it must be adopted). Treating source opinions cannot be discounted unless the Administrative Law Judge provides good reasons for discounting the opinion. Rogers v. Commissioner, 486 F. 3d 234 (6th Cir. 2007); Bowen v Commissioner.

On a Medical Examination Report dated [REDACTED], Petitioner's physician stated Petitioner had various limitation(s) expected to last 90 days. The physician opined that Petitioner was restricted to less than 2 hours of standing and/or walking over an 8 hour workday. Petitioner was restricted from lifting/carrying of any weight other than less than 10 pounds. Petitioner's physician opined that Petitioner was restricted from repetitively operating foot/leg controls. In response to a question asking for the stated basis for restrictions, Petitioner's physician noted pain, decreased balance, weakness, and gait abnormality. The restrictions were indicative of an inability to perform light employment.

Petitioner presented no documentation other than the Medical Examination Report. Petitioner alleged impairments related to a stroke, though the corresponding hospital admission documentation was not presented. Nevertheless, Petitioner's physician noted a diagnosis of CVA. The diagnosis tends to confirm Petitioner's testimony.

Petitioner's physician also noted three fairly serious problems. The problems, by themselves, debatably support imposing the provided restrictions. It is less debatable that gait imbalance, weakness, and poor balance would render the performance of light employment to be improbable.

It is notable that Petitioner's physician cited Petitioner's condition was improving. The improving nature of Petitioner's condition may allow Petitioner to work in the future. The improving nature does not make it probable that Petitioner could have performed light employment since the date of SDA application. This consideration is supported by Petitioner's physician's restrictions despite the passage of several months since Petitioner's stroke. It is found Petitioner is limited to performing sedentary employment.

Based on Petitioner's exertional work level (sedentary), age (approaching advanced age), education (less than high school), employment history (semi-skilled with no known transferrable skills), Medical-Vocational Rule 201.10 is found to apply. This rule dictates a finding that Petitioner is disabled. Accordingly, it is found that MDHHS improperly found Petitioner to be not disabled for purposes of SDA benefits.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above findings of fact and conclusions of law finds that MDHHS improperly denied Petitioner's application for SDA benefits. It is ordered that MDHHS perform the following actions within 10 days of the date of mailing of this decision:

- (1) reinstate Petitioner's SDA benefit application dated [REDACTED];
- (2) evaluate Petitioner's eligibility subject to the finding that Petitioner is a disabled individual;
- (3) initiate a supplement for any benefits not issued as a result of the improper application denial; and
- (4) schedule a review of benefits in one year from the date of this administrative decision, if Petitioner is found eligible for future benefits.

The actions taken by MDHHS are REVERSED.
