HEARING DECISION

Following Petitioner's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250; and 45 CFR 205.10. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on March 2, 2016, from Detroit, Michigan. Petitioner appeared and represented herself. The Department of Health and Human Services (Department) was represented by [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Hearing Facilitator.

During the hearing, it was noted that Petitioner's record did not contain any medical records other than a December 16, 2015 letter from Petitioner's psychiatrist. The hearing packet presented by the Department as its Exhibit A also failed to include the medical/social eligibility determination by the Disability Determination Services (DDS)/Medical Review Team (MRT) finding that Petitioner was not disabled. The Hearing Facilitator testified that multiple unsuccessful attempts were made prior to the hearing to obtain the medical packet from DDS/ MRT. Petitioner waived the time period for the issuance of this decision, and the Department was ordered to obtain the following records: prior MRT certification approving Petitioner for State Disability Assistance (SDA) benefits and the reason for case closure; medical documents relied upon by MRT in its December 1, 2015 disability determination; hospital records (for St. John Macomb admission of February 2015; [REDACTED] admission of December 2014; and MRI and x-ray reports from [REDACTED] [REDACTED]); and the DHS-49D, psychiatric/psychological evaluation, and DHS-49E, mental residual functional capacity assessment, completed and signed by Petitioner's psychiatrist at [REDACTED]. The Department was advised on the record that it would be ordered to provide the documents within 30 days. An interim order was issued requiring that the requested documents be submitted by April 1, 2016. The documents were NOT received by the April 1, 2016 due date. The record closed on April 1, 2016, and the matter is now before the undersigned for a final determination based on the evidence presented.

ISSUE

Did the Department properly determine that Petitioner was not disabled for purposes of the State Disability Assistance (SDA) benefit program?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On August 21, 2015, Petitioner submitted an application seeking cash assistance on the basis of a disability.
2. On December 1, 2015, the DDS/MRT found Petitioner not disabled for purposes of the SDA program (Exhibit A, pp. 8).
3. On January 5, 2016, the Department sent Petitioner a Notice of Case Action denying the application based on MRT's finding of no disability (Exhibit A, pp. 4-7).
4. On January 13, 2016, the Department received Petitioner's timely written request for hearing (Exhibit A, pp. 1-2).
5. Petitioner alleged disabling impairment due to chronic pain and fatigue; hepatitis C; depression, anxiety; bipolar disorder; obsessive compulsive disorder (OCD); post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD); and cognitive limitations.
6. On the date of the hearing, Petitioner was [REDACTED] years old with a [REDACTED] birth date; she is [REDACTED] in height and weighs about [REDACTED] pounds.
7. Petitioner is a high school graduate.
8. Petitioner has an employment history of work as senior bedside companion.
9. At the time of application, Petitioner was not employed.
10. Petitioner does not have a pending disability claim with the Social Security Administration.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Department of Health and Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), Department of Health and Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and Department of Health and Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program, which provides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. The Department administers the SDA program pursuant to 42 CFR 435, MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180.

As a preliminary matter, it is noted that the SOLQ printed on January 28, 2016 showed that Petitioner had applied for benefits with the Social Security Administration on January 6, 2016, with a disability onset date of December 30, 2015 (Exhibit C). At the hearing, Petitioner testified that she had previously applied for Supplemental Security Income (SSI), had been denied by SSA, and had elected not to appeal her SSA denial but to reapply for SSA benefits. As a condition of SDA eligibility, an SDA applicant must apply for SSI as a potential resource. BEM 270 (July 2015), p. 3. It appears that Petitioner had an application on file at the time of her SDA application and at the time of hearing. Because the Department denied Petitioner's SDA application due to DDS/MRT's finding that she was not disabled, the issue on appeal is limited to whether the Department properly denied the application on this basis.

A disabled person is eligible for SDA. BEM 261 (July 2015), p. 1. An individual automatically qualifies as disabled for purposes of the SDA program if the individual receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Medical Assistance (MA-P) benefits based on disability or blindness. BEM 261, p. 2. Otherwise, to be considered disabled for SDA purposes, a person must have a physical or mental impairment for at least ninety days which meets federal SSI disability standards, meaning the person is unable to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment. BEM 261, pp. 1-2; 20 CFR 416.901; 20 CFR 416.905(a).

Determining whether an individual is disabled for SSI purposes requires the application of a five step evaluation of whether the individual (1) is engaged in substantial gainful activity (SGA); (2) has an impairment that is severe; (3) has an impairment and duration that meet or equal a listed impairment in Appendix 1 Subpart P of 20 CFR 404; (4) has the residual functional capacity to perform past relevant work; and (5) has the residual functional capacity and vocational factors (based on age, education and work experience) to adjust to other work. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(1) and (4); 20 CFR 416.945. If an individual is found disabled, or not disabled, at any step in this process, a determination or decision is made with no need to evaluate subsequent steps. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4). If a determination cannot be made that an individual is disabled, or not disabled, at a particular step, the next step is required. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4).

In general, the individual has the responsibility to establish a disability through the use of competent medical evidence from qualified medical sources such as his or her medical history, clinical/laboratory findings, diagnosis/prescribed treatment, prognosis for recovery and/or medical assessment of ability to do work-related activities or, if a mental disability is alleged, to reason and make appropriate mental adjustments. 20 CFR 416.912(a); 20 CFR 416.913. An individual's subjective pain complaints are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.908; 20 CFR 416.929(a). Similarly, conclusory statements by a physician or mental health professional that an individual is disabled or blind, absent supporting medical evidence, are insufficient to establish disability. 20 CFR 416.927(d).

Step One

The first step in determining whether an individual is disabled requires consideration of the individual's current work activity. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(i). If an individual is working and the work is SGA, then the individual must be considered not disabled, regardless of medical condition, age, education, or work experience. 20 CFR 416.920(b); 20 CFR 416.971. SGA means work that involves doing significant and productive physical or mental duties and that is done, or intended to be done, for pay or profit. 20 CFR 416.972.

In this case, Petitioner has not engaged in SGA activity during the period for which assistance might be available. Therefore, Petitioner is not ineligible under Step 1 and the analysis continues to Step 2.

Step Two

Under Step 2, the severity and duration of an individual's alleged impairment is considered. If the individual does not have a severe medically determinable physical or mental impairment (or a combination of impairments) that meets the duration requirement, the individual is not disabled. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii). The duration requirement for SDA means that the impairment is expected to result in death or has lasted, or is expected to last, for a continuous period of at least 90 days. 20 CFR 416.922; BEM 261, p. 2.

An impairment, or combination of impairments, is severe if it significantly limits an individual's physical or mental ability to do basic work activities. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(ii); 20 CFR 416.920(c). Basic work activities mean the abilities and aptitudes necessary to do most jobs, such as (i) physical functions such as walking, standing, sitting, lifting, pushing, pulling, reaching, carrying, or handling; (ii) the capacity to see, hear, and speak; (iii) the ability to understand, carry out, and remember simple instructions; (iv) use of judgment; (v) responding appropriately to supervision, co-workers and usual work situations; and (vi) dealing with changes in a routine work setting. 20 CFR 416.921(b). A claim may be denied at Step 2 only if the evidence shows that the individual's impairments, when considered in combination, do not have more than a minimal effect on the person's physical or mental ability to perform basic work activities. Social Security Ruling (SSR) 85-28.

In the present case, Petitioner alleges disabling impairment due to chronic pain and fatigue; hepatitis C; depression, anxiety; bipolar disorder; OCD; PTSD; and cognitive limitations. The only medical evidence presented in this case was a December 16, 2015 letter from Petitioner's psychiatrist addressed to the Social Security Administration. In the letter, the doctor stated that Petitioner was currently participating in mental health services at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED] where she attended doctor's appointments monthly and therapy and care coordination sessions one to four times monthly. It was noted that Petitioner had been diagnosed with bipolar disorder and PTSD and was prescribed Buspirone, 15 mg; Saphris, 5mg and Trazodone, 50 mg. The doctor opined that Petitioner's current medications interfered with her mental stability and prevented her from being employable.

As noted above, the Department was ordered to provide additional medical evidence, including the medical evidence relied upon by DDS/MRT in making its decision, and failed to do so.

In consideration of the de minimis standard necessary to establish a severe impairment under Step 2, the foregoing medical evidence is sufficient to establish that Petitioner suffers from severe impairments that have lasted or are expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 90 days. Therefore, Petitioner has satisfied the requirements under Step 2, and the analysis will proceed to Step 3.

Step Three

Step 3 of the sequential analysis of a disability claim requires a determination if the individual's impairment, or combination of impairments, is listed in Appendix 1 of Subpart P of 20 CFR, Part 404. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(iii). If an individual's impairment, or combination of impairments, is of a severity to meet or medically equal the criteria of a listing and meets the duration requirement (20 CFR 416.909), the individual is disabled. If not, the analysis proceeds to the next step.

Based on the only medical evidence presented in this case, listings 12.04 (affective disorders), 12.06 (anxiety-related disorders), were considered. The medical evidence presented does not show that Petitioner's impairments meet or equal the required level of severity of any of the listings in Appendix 1 to be considered as disabling without further consideration. Therefore, Petitioner is not disabled under Step 3 and the analysis continues to Step 4.

Residual Functional Capacity

If an individual's impairment does not meet or equal a listed impairment under Step 3, before proceeding to Steps 4 and 5, the individual's residual functional capacity (RFC) is assessed. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4); 20 CFR 416.945. RFC is the most an individual can do, based on all relevant evidence, despite the limitations from the impairment(s), including those that are not severe, and takes into consideration an individual's ability to meet the physical, mental, sensory and other requirements of work. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(1), (4); 20 CFR 416.945(e).

RFC is assessed based on all relevant medical and other evidence such as statements provided by medical sources, whether or not they are addressed on formal medical examinations, and descriptions and observations of the limitations from impairment(s) provided by the individual or other persons. 20 CFR 416.945(a)(3). The applicant's pain must be assessed to determine the extent of his or her functional limitation(s) in light of the objective medical evidence presented. 20 CFR 416.929(c)(2).

Limitations can be exertional, nonexertional, or a combination of both. 20 CFR 416.969a. If individual's impairments and related symptoms, such as pain, affect only the ability to meet the strength demands of jobs (i.e., sitting, standing, walking, lifting, carrying, pushing, and pulling), the individual is considered to have only exertional limitations. 20 CFR 416.969a(b). The exertional requirements, or physical demands, of work in the national economy are classified as sedentary, light, medium, heavy, and very heavy. 20 CFR 416.967; 20 CFR 416.969a(a). Sedentary work involves lifting no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools and occasionally walking and standing. 20 CFR 416.967(a). Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 pounds. Even though the weight lifted may be very little, a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. 20 CFR 416.967(b). Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(c). Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. 20 CFR 416.967(d). Very heavy work involves lifting objects weighing more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing 50 pounds or more. 20 CFR 416.967(e).

If an individual has limitations or restrictions that affect the ability to meet demands of jobs other than strength, or exertional, demands, the individual is considered to have only nonexertional limitations or restrictions. 20 CFR 416.969a(a) and (c). Examples of non-exertional limitations or restrictions include difficulty functioning due to nervousness, anxiousness, or depression; difficulty maintaining attention or concentration; difficulty understanding or remembering detailed instructions; difficulty in seeing or hearing; difficulty tolerating some physical feature(s) of certain work settings (i.e., unable to tolerate dust or fumes); or difficulty performing the manipulative or postural functions of some work such as reaching, handling, stooping, climbing, crawling, or crouching. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(1)(i) – (vi). For mental disorders, functional limitation(s) is assessed based upon the extent to which the impairment(s) interferes with an individual's ability to function independently, appropriately, effectively, and on a sustained basis. Id.; 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(2). Chronic mental disorders, structured settings, medication, and other treatment and the effect on the overall degree of functionality are considered. 20 CFR 416.920a(c)(1).

In this case, Petitioner alleges both exertional and nonexertional limitations due to her medical condition. However, the only medical evidence presented concerned her nonexertional limitations due to her mental condition. According to Petitioner's psychiatrist, Petitioner was compliant with her psychiatric treatment, which was ongoing, but her mental diagnosis and her medication affected her mental stability. The psychiatrist opined that Petitioner was not employable. In the absence of any other medical evidence to controvert Petitioner's psychiatrist's opinion, made by a treating source, the opinion is given controlling weight. SSR 96-2p. Based on this opinion, Petitioner has marked limitations due to her mental condition.

Petitioner's RFC is considered at both Steps 4 and 5. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4), (f) and (g).

Step Four

Step 4 in analyzing a disability claim requires an assessment of Petitioner's RFC and past relevant employment. 20 CFR 416.920(a)(4)(iv). Past relevant work is work that has been performed within the past 15 years that was SGA and that lasted long enough for the individual to learn the position. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(1). An individual who has the RFC to meet the physical and mental demands of work done in the past is not disabled. Id.; 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3); 20 CFR 416.920. Vocational factors of age, education, and work experience, and whether the past relevant employment exists in significant numbers in the national economy are not considered. 20 CFR 416.960(b)(3).

Petitioner's work history in the 15 years prior to the application consists of work as a senior bedside companion. Based on Petitioner's explanation that the job required little standing or lifting of any weight, this prior employment is properly categorized as sedentary. Although there was no evidence supporting any exertional limitations to Petitioner's ability to engage in her prior work, based on the RFC analysis above, Petitioner has marked limitations in her mental capacity to perform basic work activities. Based on limitations due to her mental RFC, it is found that Petitioner is unable to perform past relevant work. Accordingly, Petitioner cannot be found disabled, or not disabled, at Step 4 and the assessment continues to Step 5.

Step 5

In Step 5, an assessment of Petitioner's RFC and age, education, and work experience is considered to determine whether an adjustment to other work can be made. 20 CFR 416.920(4)(v). If the individual can adjust to other work, then there is no disability. Disability is found if an individual is unable to adjust to other work.

At this point in the analysis, the burden shifts from Petitioner to the Department to present proof that Petitioner has the RFC to obtain and maintain substantial gainful employment. 20 CFR 416.960(2); Richardson v Sec of Health and Human Services, 735 F2d 962, 964 (CA 6, 1984). When the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the exertional aspects of work-related activities, Medical-Vocational guidelines found at 20 CFR Subpart P, Appendix 2, may be used to satisfy the burden of proving that the individual can perform specific jobs in the national economy. Heckler v Campbell, 461 US 458, 467 (1983); Kirk v Secretary, 667 F2d 524, 529 (CA 6, 1981) cert den 461 US 957 (1983). However, if the impairment(s) and related symptoms, such as pain, only affect the ability to perform the non-exertional aspects of work-related activities, the rules in Appendix 2 do not direct factual conclusions of disabled or not disabled. 20 CFR 416.969a(c)(2). When a person has a combination of exertional and nonexertional limitations or restrictions, the rules pertaining to the strength limitations provide a framework to guide the disability determination unless there is a rule that directs a conclusion that the individual is disabled based upon strength limitations. 20 CFR 416.969a(d).

In this case, at application and at the time of hearing, Petitioner was ■ years old and, thus, considered to be a younger individual (■■■■■■■■■■) for purposes of Appendix 2. She is a high school graduate with a history of unskilled work experience. Petitioner is not disabled based on any exertional limitations under the Medical-Vocational Guidelines. However, as discussed above, Petitioner has marked limitations on her mental ability to perform work activities. The Department has failed to counter with evidence of significant numbers of jobs in the national economy which Petitioner could perform despite these limitations. Therefore, the Department has failed to establish that, based on her RFC and age, education, and work experience, Petitioner can adjust to other work. Therefore, Petitioner is disabled at Step 5.

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, if any, finds Petitioner disabled for purposes of the SDA benefit program.

DECISION AND ORDER

Accordingly, the Department's determination is REVERSED.

THE DEPARTMENT IS ORDERED TO BEGIN DOING THE FOLLOWING, IN ACCORDANCE WITH DEPARTMENT POLICY AND CONSISTENT WITH THIS HEARING DECISION, WITHIN 10 DAYS OF THE DATE OF MAILING OF THIS DECISION AND ORDER:

1. Reregister and process Petitioner's August 21, 2015 SDA application to determine if all the other non-medical criteria are satisfied and notify Petitioner of its determination;
2. Supplement Petitioner for lost benefits, if any, that Petitioner was entitled to receive if otherwise eligible and qualified;
3. Review Petitioner's continued eligibility in October 2016.
