HEARING DECISION

Following Petitioner's request for a hearing, this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9 and 400.37; 42 CFR 431.200 to 431.250. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on September 19, 2017, from Lansing, Michigan. The Petitioner was represented by herself. An interpreter was utilized for the hearing of [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. The Department of Health and Human Services was represented by [REDACTED] Assistance Payments Supervisor and [REDACTED] Eligibility Specialist.

ISSUE

Whether the Department properly determined that Petitioner was not disabled for purposes of the State Disability Assistance (SDA) benefit programs?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On March 6, 2017, the Petitioner applied for SDA.
2. On August 1, 2017, the Medical Review Team (MRT) denied the Petitioner's application for SDA is denied per BEM 261 because the nature and severity of the Petitioner's impairment's would not preclude work activity at the above stated level for 90 days and is capable of performing other work under Medical Vocation Grid Rule 203.03 per 20 CFR 416.920(f).
3. On August 3, 2017, the Department Caseworker sent the Petitioner a notice that her application was denied.

4. On August 8, 2017, the Department received a hearing request from the Petitioner, contesting the Department's negative action.
5. The Petitioner is a [REDACTED] year-old woman whose date of birth is [REDACTED]. The Petitioner is 5' 8" tall and weighs 165 pounds. The Petitioner has no formal education. The Petitioner cannot read and write and do basic math. The Petitioner has no pertinent work history.
6. The Petitioner's alleged impairments are back pain, attacked by soldiers where she was hit in the back with guns, and legs get swollen.
7. The Petitioner was seen for an independent medical examination by an independent medical examiner at [REDACTED] on [REDACTED]. She complained about damaged back, legs, and lungs. Gait was stable and within normal limits. She did not use an assistive device for ambulation. The Petitioner experienced mechanical back pain. There was no evidence of nerve root irritation. She avoids certain positions and activities as a result of her pain. Department Exhibit 1, pgs. 171-177.
8. On [REDACTED], the Petitioner underwent an x-ray at [REDACTED] of her lumbar spine with obliques. The radiologist's clinical impression was moderate osteoarthritis of the lumbar spine. There was no fracture or bony destructive lesion. There was multilevel degenerative osteophytic spurring and narrowing of the disc spaces. Department Exhibit 1, pg. 197.
9. On [REDACTED], the Petitioner was seen by her treating physician at [REDACTED]. Her initial visit was on [REDACTED]. She was given the ok to return to work at last office visit, but she has not done so. She feels weak and would like help with food stamps and assistance. She had tenderness and muscle spasm in the lumbar spine where her range of motion was mildly reduced. Her treating physician recommended ice alternating with heat and massage can help reduce pain combined with regular stretching and exercise. Department Exhibit 1, pgs. 203-209.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Department of Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), Department of Human Services Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), and Department of Human Services Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The State Disability Assistance (SDA) program, which provides financial assistance for disabled persons, was established by 2004 PA 344. The Department administers the SDA program pursuant to 42 CFR 435, MCL 400.10 et seq. and Mich Admin Code, Rules 400.3151 – 400.3180. A person is considered disabled for SDA purposes if the person has a physical or mental impairment which meets federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability standards for at least ninety days. Receipt of SSI benefits based on disability or blindness, or the receipt of MA benefits based on disability or blindness, automatically qualifies an individual as disabled for purposes of the SDA program.

The Department conforms to State statute in administering the SDA program.

2000 PA 294, Sec. 604, of the statute states:

Sec. 604. (1) The department shall operate a state disability assistance program. Except as provided in subsection (3), persons eligible for this program shall include needy citizens of the United States or aliens exempted from the supplemental security income citizenship requirement who are at least 18 years of age or emancipated minors meeting 1 or more of the following requirements:

- (a) A recipient of supplemental security income, social security, or medical assistance due to disability or 65 years of age or older.
- (b) A person with a physical or mental impairment which meets federal supplemental security income disability standards, except that the minimum duration of the disability shall be 90 days. Substance abuse alone is not defined as a basis for eligibility.

Pursuant to Federal Rule 42 CFR 435.540, the Department uses the Federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) policy in determining eligibility for disability. Under SSI, disability is defined as:

...the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months.... 20 CFR 416.905.

A set order is used to determine disability. Current work activity, severity of impairments, residual functional capacity, past work, age, or education and work experience are reviewed. If there is a finding that an individual is disabled or not disabled at any point in the review, there will be no further evaluation. 20 CFR 416.920.

Medical evidence may contain medical opinions. Medical opinions are statements from physicians and psychologists or other acceptable medical sources that reflect judgments about the nature and severity of the impairment(s), including symptoms, diagnosis and prognosis, what an individual can do despite impairment(s), and the physical or mental restrictions. 20 CFR 416.927(a)(2).

The Administrative Law Judge is responsible for making the determination or decision about whether the statutory definition of disability is met. The Administrative Law Judge reviews all medical findings and other evidence that support a medical source's statement of disability. 20 CFR 416.927(e).

For mental disorders, severity is assessed in terms of the functional limitations imposed by the impairment. Functional limitations are assessed using the criteria in paragraph (B) of the listings for mental disorders (descriptions of restrictions of activities of daily living, social functioning; concentration, persistence or pace; and ability to tolerate increased mental demands associated with competitive work). 20 CFR, Part 404, Subpart P, Appendix 1, 12.00(C).

The residual functional capacity is what an individual can do despite limitations. All impairments will be considered in addition to ability to meet certain demands of jobs in the national economy. Physical demands, mental demands, sensory requirements and other functions will be evaluated. 20 CFR 416.945(a).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, we classify jobs as sedentary, light, medium and heavy. These terms have the same meaning as they have in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, published by the Department of Labor. 20 CFR 416.967.

Pursuant to 20 CFR 416.920, a five-step sequential evaluation process is used to determine disability. An individual's current work activity, the severity of the impairment, the residual functional capacity, past work, age, education and work experience are evaluated. If an individual is found disabled or not disabled at any point, no further review is made.

The first step is to determine if an individual is working and if that work is "substantial gainful activity" (SGA). If the work is SGA, an individual is not considered disabled regardless of medical condition, age or other vocational factors. 20 CFR 416.920(b).

Secondly, the individual must have a medically determinable impairment that is "severe" or a combination of impairments that is "severe." 20 CFR 404.1520(c). An impairment or combination of impairments is "severe" within the meaning of regulations if it significantly limits an individual's ability to perform basic work activities. An impairment or combination of impairments is "not severe" when medical and other evidence establish only a slight abnormality or a combination of slight abnormalities that would have no more than a minimal effect on an individual's ability to work. 20 CFR 404.1521; Social Security Rulings (SSRs) 85-28, 96-3p, and 96-4p. If the Petitioner does not have a severe medically determinable impairment or combination of impairments, the Petitioner is not disabled. If the Petitioner has a severe impairment or combination of impairments, the analysis proceeds to the third step.

The third step in the process is to assess whether the impairment or combination of impairments meets a Social Security listing. If the impairment or combination of impairments meets or is the medically equivalent of a listed impairment as set forth in Appendix 1 and meets the durational requirements of 20 CFR 404.1509, the individual is considered disabled. If it does not, the analysis proceeds to the next step.

Before considering step four of the sequential evaluation process, the trier must determine the Petitioner's residual functional capacity. 20 CFR 404.1520(e). An individual's residual functional capacity is his ability to do physical and mental work activities on a sustained basis despite limitations from his impairments. In making this finding, the trier must consider all of the Petitioner's impairments, including impairments that are not severe. 20 CFR 404.1520(e) and 404.1545; SSR 96-8p.

The fourth step of the process is whether the Petitioner has the residual functional capacity to perform the requirements of his past relevant work. 20 CFR 404.1520(f). The term past relevant work means work performed (either as the Petitioner actually performed it or as is it generally performed in the national economy) within the last 15 years or 15 years prior to the date that disability must be established. If the Petitioner has the residual functional capacity to do past relevant work, then the Petitioner is not disabled. If the Petitioner is unable to do any past relevant work or does not have any past relevant work, the analysis proceeds to the fifth step.

In the fifth step, an individual's residual functional capacity is considered in determining whether disability exists. An individual's age, education, work experience and skills are used to evaluate whether an individual has the residual functional capacity to perform work despite limitations. 20 CFR 416.920(e).

Here, the Petitioner has satisfied requirements as set forth in steps one and two of the sequential evaluation. However, the Petitioner's impairments do not meet a listing as set forth in Appendix 1, 20 CFR 416.926 for step 3. Therefore, vocational factors will be considered to determine the Petitioner's residual functional capacity to do relevant work and past relevant work.

In the present case, the Petitioner was seen for an independent medical examination by an independent medical examiner at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] on [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. She complained about damaged back, legs, and lungs. Gait was stable and within normal limits. She did not use an assistive device for ambulation. The Petitioner experienced mechanical back pain. There was no evidence of nerve root irritation. She avoids certain positions and activities as a result of her pain. Department Exhibit 1, pgs. 171-177.

On [REDACTED], the Petitioner underwent an x-ray at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] of her lumbar spine with obliques. The radiologist's clinical impression was moderate osteoarthritis of the lumbar spine. There was no fracture or bony destructive lesion. There was multilevel degenerative osteophytic spurring and narrowing of the disc spaces. Department Exhibit 1, pg. 197.

On [REDACTED] the Petitioner was seen by her treating physician at [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. Her initial visit was on [REDACTED]. She was given the ok to return to work at last office visit, but she has not done so. She feels weak and would like help with food stamps and assistance. She had tenderness and muscle spasm in the lumbar spine where her range of motion was mildly reduced. Her treating physician recommended ice alternating with heat and massage can help reduce pain combined with regular stretching and exercise. Department Exhibit 1, pgs. 203-209.

The Administrative Law Judge finds that the Petitioner has limitations with her back. She has moderate osteoarthritis of the lumbar spine. She has no mental impairments.

It is the finding of this Administrative Law Judge, based upon the medical evidence and objective, physical and psychological findings that the Petitioner testified that she does perform most of her daily living activities. The Petitioner does feel that her condition has worsened because of her increase in pain without prescription pain medications. The Petitioner stated that she does not have any mental impairments. The Petitioner does not or has ever used illegal and illicit drugs, drunk alcohol, nor smoked cigarettes. The Petitioner did feel there was any work she could do of seated work.

At Step 4, this Administrative Law Judge finds that the Petitioner has not established that she cannot perform work. She has no pertinent work history. The Petitioner is limited with her back, but she does use an assistive device for ambulation. She has moderate osteoarthritis. Therefore, Petitioner is disqualified from receiving disability at Step 4. Petitioner is capable of performing work. However, the Administrative Law Judge will still proceed through the sequential evaluation process to determine whether or not Petitioner has the residual functional capacity to perform some other less strenuous tasks than in her prior jobs.

The objective medical evidence on the record is insufficient that the Petitioner lacks the residual functional capacity to perform some other less strenuous tasks than in her previous employment or that she is physically unable to do any tasks demanded of her. The Petitioner's testimony as to her limitation indicates her limitations are non-exertional and exertional.

In the final step of the analysis, the trier of fact must determine if the Petitioner's impairment(s) prevent the Petitioner from doing other work. 20 CFR 416.920(f). This determination is based upon the Petitioner's:

1. residual functional capacity defined simply as "what can you still do despite your limitations?" 20 CFR 416.945;
2. age, education, and work experience, 20 CFR 416.963-965; and
3. the kinds of work which exist in significant numbers in the national economy which the Petitioner could perform despite her limitations. 20 CFR 416.966.

The residual functional capacity is what an individual can do despite limitations. All impairments will be considered in addition to ability to meet certain demands of jobs in the national economy. Physical demands, mental demands, sensory requirements and other functions will be evaluated. 20 CFR 416.945(a).

To determine the physical demands (exertional requirements) of work in the national economy, we classify jobs as sedentary, light, medium and heavy. These terms have the same meaning as they have in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, published by the Department of Labor. 20 CFR 416.967.

Sedentary work. Sedentary work involves lifting no more than 10 pounds at a time and occasionally lifting or carrying articles like docket files, ledgers, and small tools. Although a sedentary job is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out job duties. Jobs are sedentary if walking and standing are required occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met. 20 CFR 416.967(a).

Light work. Light work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 pounds. Even though the weight lifted may be very little; a job is in this category when it requires a good deal of walking or standing, or when it involves sitting most of the time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls. 20 CFR 416.967(b).

Medium work. Medium work involves lifting no more than 50 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 25 pounds. If someone can do medium work, we determine that he or she can also do sedentary and light work. 20 CFR 416.967(c).

Heavy work. Heavy work involves lifting no more than 100 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 pounds. If someone can do heavy work, we determine that he or she can also do medium, light, and sedentary work. 20 CFR 416.967(d).

At Step 5, the Petitioner cannot meet the physical requirements of sedentary work, based upon the Petitioner's physical abilities. Under the Medical-Vocational guidelines, an advanced aged individual with no education, and no pertinent work history, who is limited to sedentary work, is considered disabled. 20 CFR 404, Subpart P, Appendix 2, Rule 201.01. Using the Medical-Vocational guidelines as a framework for making this decision and after giving full consideration to the Petitioner's physical impairments, the Administrative Law Judge finds that the Petitioner could not perform sedentary work and that the Petitioner does meet the definition of disabled under the SDA program.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, if any, finds Petitioner disabled for purposes of the SDA benefit program. The Petitioner could not perform sedentary work and that the Petitioner does meet the definition of disabled under the SDA program.

Accordingly, the Department's determination is REVERSED.

The Department is ordered to begin doing the following, in accordance with Department policy and consistent with this hearing decision, within 10 days of the date of mailing of this decision and order to initiate a redetermination of the Petitioner's eligibility for SDA based on her application of March 6, 2017 with a medical review date of December 2018.
