ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE: John Markey

HEARING DECISION FOR INTENTIONAL PROGRAM VIOLATION

Upon the request for a hearing by the Department of Health and Human Services (Department), this matter is before the undersigned Administrative Law Judge pursuant to MCL 400.9, and in accordance with Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulation (CFR), particularly 7 CFR 273.16. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on October 3, 2018, from Lansing, Michigan. The Department was represented by Thomas Malik, Regulation Agent of the Office of Inspector General (OIG). Respondent appeared and represented herself. During the hearing, 67 pages of documents were offered and admitted as Department's Exhibit A, pp. 1-67.

ISSUES

1. Did Respondent receive an overissuance (OI) of Food Assistance Program (FAP) benefits that the Department is entitled to recoup?
2. Did the Department establish, by clear and convincing evidence, that Respondent committed an Intentional Program Violation (IPV)?
3. Should Respondent be disqualified from receiving FAP benefits?

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Administrative Law Judge, based on the competent, material, and substantial evidence on the whole record, finds as material fact:

1. On October 20, 2016, Respondent began working part-time at [REDACTED]. Exhibit A, pp. 47-48.

2. On [REDACTED], 2016, Respondent submitted to the Department an application for FAP benefits. On the application, Respondent indicated that she did not have any income or a job. Exhibit A, pp. 11-46.
3. Respondent signed the application and thereby certified that the information Respondent provided in the application was true and she understood her responsibility to report any changes to income or job status within 10 days after receiving her first paycheck. Further, Respondent acknowledged that she understood lying to the Department to get benefits or failing to report as required could result in termination of her benefits, disqualification of future benefits, and the initiation of fraud proceedings against her. Exhibit A, pp. 11-46.
4. Respondent consistently worked approximately 20 hours per week at [REDACTED] from her start date on October 24, 2016, until at least April of 2017. Respondent never reported the income or employment to the Department. Exhibit A, pp. 47-49.
5. From November 1, 2016, through May 31, 2017, the Department issued Respondent $2,499 of FAP benefits based on a reported income of zero. Exhibit A, pp. 50-66.
6. On July 3, 2018, the Department's OIG filed a hearing request to establish an IPV.
7. The Department's OIG requested that Respondent be disqualified from receiving FAP benefits for one year for a first alleged IPV.
8. The Department considers the alleged fraud period to be from November 1, 2016, through May 31, 2017. Exhibit A, pp. 1-5.
9. During the alleged fraud period, Respondent was issued $2,499 of FAP benefits, and the Department believes Respondent was only entitled to $1,809 during that time period. Thus, the Department is seeking to establish an overissuance of FAP benefits of $690. Exhibit A, pp. 50-66.
10. Respondent did not have any apparent mental or physical impairment that would limit her understanding or ability to fulfill her reporting requirements.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Department policies are contained in the Department of Health and Human Services Bridges Administrative Manual (BAM), Bridges Eligibility Manual (BEM), Adult Services Manual (ASM), and Reference Tables Manual (RFT).

The Food Assistance Program (FAP) [formerly known as the Food Stamp Program] is established by the Food and Nutrition Act of 2008, as amended, 7 USC 2011 to 2036a and is implemented by the federal regulations contained in 7 CFR 273. The Department (formerly known as the Department of Human Services) administers FAP pursuant to MCL 400.10; the Social Welfare Act, MCL 400.1-.119b; and Mich Admin Code, R 400.3001 to .3015.

Overissuance

An overissuance is the amount of benefits issued to the client group in excess of what it was eligible to receive. BAM 700 (January 1, 2016), p. 1. When a client group receives more benefits than it is entitled to receive, the Department must attempt to recoup the overissuance. BAM 700, p. 1.

In this case, Respondent received more benefits than she was entitled to receive. The Department determined Respondent's eligibility without budgeting her wages from her employment with Big Bear Lodge, which caused Respondent's income to be understated. Respondent's unreported income reduced the amount of FAP benefits that Respondent was eligible to receive. The Department presented sufficient evidence to establish that Respondent was overissued $690 of FAP benefits from November 1, 2016, through May 31, 2017.

Intentional Program Violation

The Department's policy in effect at the time of Respondent's alleged IPV defined an IPV as an overissuance in which the following three conditions exist: (1) the client intentionally failed to report information or intentionally gave incomplete or inaccurate information needed to make a correct benefit determination; (2) the client was clearly and correctly instructed regarding his or her reporting responsibilities; and (3) the client has no apparent physical or mental impairment that limits his or her understanding or ability to fulfill his or her reporting responsibilities. BAM 720 (January 1, 2016) page 1.

An IPV requires that the Department establish by clear and convincing evidence that the client has intentionally withheld or misrepresented information for the purpose of establishing, maintaining, increasing or preventing reduction of program benefits or eligibility. BAM 720, page 1; see also 7 CFR 273.16(e)(6). Clear and convincing evidence is evidence which is so clear, direct, weighty, and convincing that it enables a firm belief as to the truth of the allegations sought to be established. In re Martin, 450 Mich 204, 227; 538 NW2d 399 (1995) (citing In re Jobes, 108 NJ 394 (1987)).

In this case, the Department has met its burden. Respondent was required to report changes in her circumstances to the Department within 10 days of the date of the change. BAM 105 (October 1, 2016), pages 11-12. The Department clearly and correctly instructed Respondent to report changes to the Department within 10 days. Respondent failed to report that she had any income despite continuously working and receiving paychecks from November of 2016 through at least sometime in May of 2017.

Additionally, Respondent was required to completely and truthfully answer all questions in forms and in interviews. BAM 105, page 9. On October 20, 2016, Respondent began working for [REDACTED]. On [REDACTED], 2016, Respondent submitted her FAP application to the Department and certified that nobody in the house had a job or income. Additionally, she wrote "I don't have a job right now." However, at that time, Respondent was working for [REDACTED]. Thus, Respondent not only failed to timely report the change in income, she affirmatively misrepresented her income when filing her initial application for assistance with the Department.

Respondent's failure to report the income change to the Department must be considered an intentional misrepresentation to maintain her FAP benefits since Respondent knew or should have known that she was required to report the change to the Department and that reporting the change to the Department would have caused the Department to recalculate and reduce her FAP benefits. Further bolstering this conclusion is the fact that Respondent affirmatively misrepresented her employment status on the initial application. While Respondent denied intentionally misrepresenting her employment status on the application, her denial is without credibility. Just four days after beginning to work for [REDACTED], Respondent submitted the application and added the comment that "I don't have a job right now." Respondent knew that statement to be untrue at the time it was made. Respondent did not have any apparent physical or mental impairment that would limit her understanding or ability to fulfill her reporting requirement. The Department has proven by clear and convincing evidence that Respondent committed an intentional program violation.

Disqualification

A client who is found to have committed an IPV by a court or hearing decision is disqualified from receiving program benefits. BAM 720, pages 15-16. In general, clients are disqualified for standard disqualification periods of one year for the first IPV, two years for the second IPV, and lifetime for the third IPV. BAM 720, page 16.

In this case, there is no evidence to indicate that Respondent was previously found guilty of an IPV related to her FAP benefits. Thus, this is Respondent's first IPV related to FAP benefits. Therefore, Respondent is subject to a one-year disqualification from receiving FAP benefits.

DECISION AND ORDER

The Administrative Law Judge, based upon the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and for the reasons stated on the record, if any, concludes that:

1. The Department has established by clear and convincing evidence that Respondent committed an IPV with respect to her FAP benefits.
2. The Department has established by clear and convincing evidence that Petitioner received an overissuance of FAP benefits in the amount of $690 that the Department is entitled to recoup and/or collect.

3. Respondent is subject to a one-year disqualification from receiving FAP benefits.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Respondent shall be disqualified from receiving FAP benefits for a period of one year.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Department may initiate recoupment and/or collection procedures for the total overissuance amount of $690 established in this matter less any amounts already recouped or collected.
